!Disclaimer!

This wimpy kid book is not like any other where I try to survive middle school. But I rather try to survive a secret group that almost led to the end of the world. This book is filled with violent scenes and gruesome deaths and is not for readers up to 13+.

Based on some of the moments I had in a Resort in Paracas, Peru.

Chapter 1

Negotiations

I felt bored being with my family, along side with wanting to know more about this "Spear of Power." I left and went up to meet with Tigress.

Turns out she was also wondering about the spear too and decided to come with me too. And surprisingly Rodrick wanted to tag along with us, even though he didn't really care about this whole spear thing. Turns out that he got a girl-friend and surprisingly is Heather Hills.

I couldn't believe it. The last time I tried to hit on her, she was a lifeguard ready to enter college and she barely even thought I EXISTED!

I was surprised that Rodrick got a date with her. Anyways, I did my research and there's this guy named Guresuke who would give us some license rights to explore some of the islands to find the first part of the spear. We had to meet in a club, so I had to put on a fancy outfit, luckily my parents had decided to bring that jacket that I brought once to school which then ended

With my mom barging in the class, taking the jacket and forcing me to use her coat, and she asks why I don't have GIRLFRIENDS.

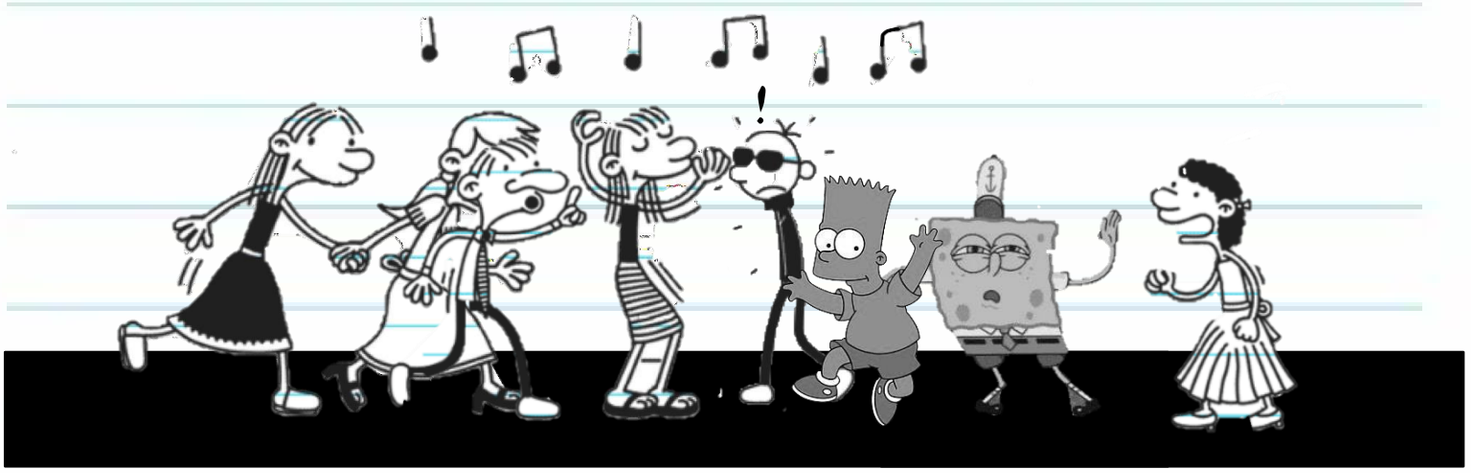
Anyways, my parents accept me using it before the flight so after a quick stop to my room, I was in full style.

I returned to the gang just to find out that Po has joined us.

I first wondered why both Tigress and Po weren't talking but then I remembered the night before the submarine ambush... As I said, both Tigress and Po had Some trust issues with each other.

I don't know over what, but time was running out for us, so we got in the club, and it was SO cool entering, there were so many crossover characters as well as many of the tourists. And with my new outfit I felt like I was part of a cool MAFIA GANG!

I had to focus on what I needed to say the correct words for I was asking a permit from someone who isn't even a HUMAN! Anyways I was amazed to see all the other crossover characters from anime characters like Naruto to 90's characters like Spongebob and Bart Simpson.



When I got upstairs, Rodrick was already there but Guresuke was not there yet. As Metalla Chiwawa finished their song, everyone cheered and then Karissa then came in. I was surprised because she was VERY LOCAL but instead of singing her average pop songs, she sung the famous song "Anything goes" from The Temple of Doom, but in a pop style and even in Chinese and English:

时代变了我们经常让时光倒流自从清教徒登上普利茅斯岩时受到冲击 如果今天 他们试图阻止的任何冲击 不是登上普利茅斯岩 而是普利茅斯岩会落在他们身上在古代，
一瞥长袜被视为令人震惊的事情但现在，

什么都行今天的世界已经疯了好今天是坏的黑今天是白的白天是黑夜而今天大多数男人今天女人珍视的只是愚蠢的舞男虽然我不是一个伟大的浪漫主义者但我知道我一定会回答当你求婚时什么都行
Times have changed
And we've often rewound the clock
Since the Puritans got a shock
When they landed on Plymouth Rock
If today
Any shock they should try to stem

But now, God knows

ROMANCER I KNOW THAT I'M BOUND TO

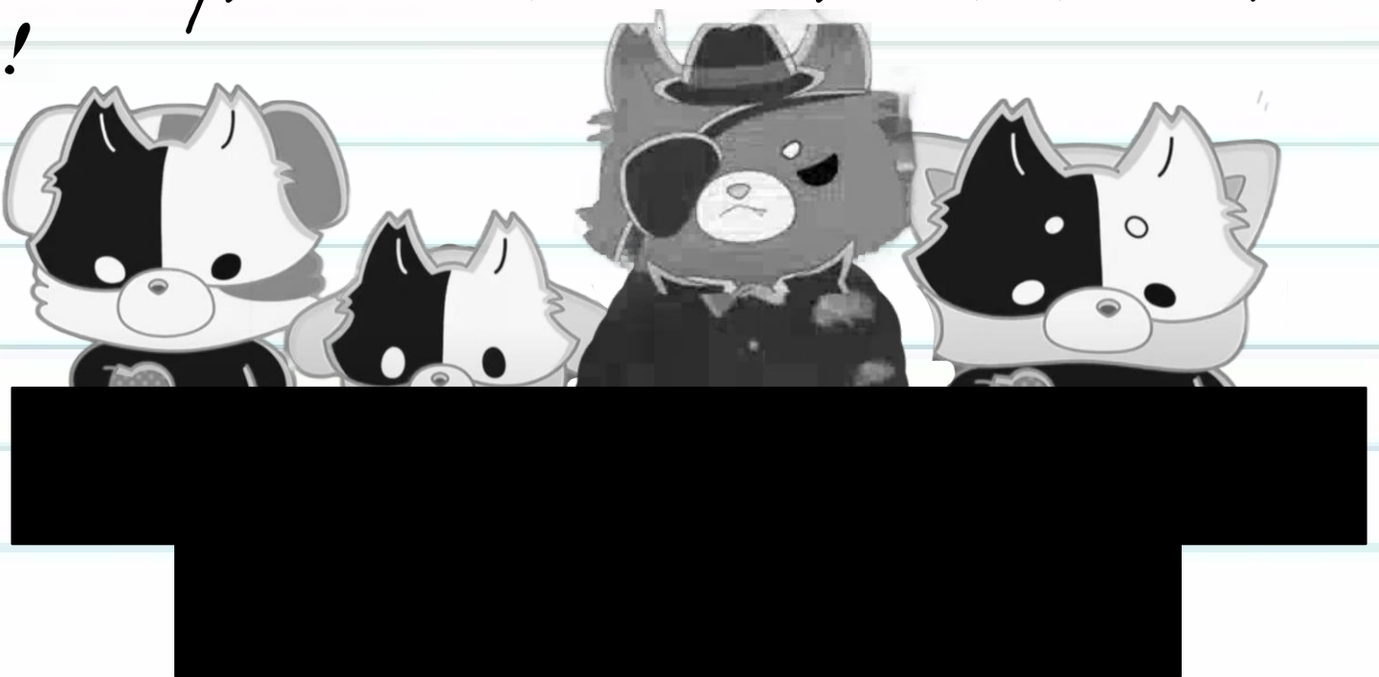
ANYTHING GOES!

Usually, I'm not a big fan of Karissa and don't listen to her music, but this song is a MASSIVE difference. Well Finally, Guresuke has arrived, but he had BACK-UP!



Now it was time for negotiations, I first gave him my old 3DS console, then some games for it. I then gave him most of my money I worked from back in Mc. Donald's for over 3 years ($23,000 if I wanted to keep something for myself). Then I gave him my only edition of Twisted Wizard 1 for PS2.

He chucked and then he gave me my prize, the license permit to enter the forbidden areas. I was happy, we all cheered, and I drank my soda. Then Guresuke, laughed and said, "How sad you'll never enjoy that permit." "Why?" Said both me and Rodrick. "Because you drank poison, and I won't give you the antidote." I began to gag...

HOLY CRAP. I was about to DIE! I also felt so hot, so I threw my leather jacket at Guresuke and decided to make a run for it!

It wasn't long enough until I had to get into combat mode, at least I had my pals to fight with me.

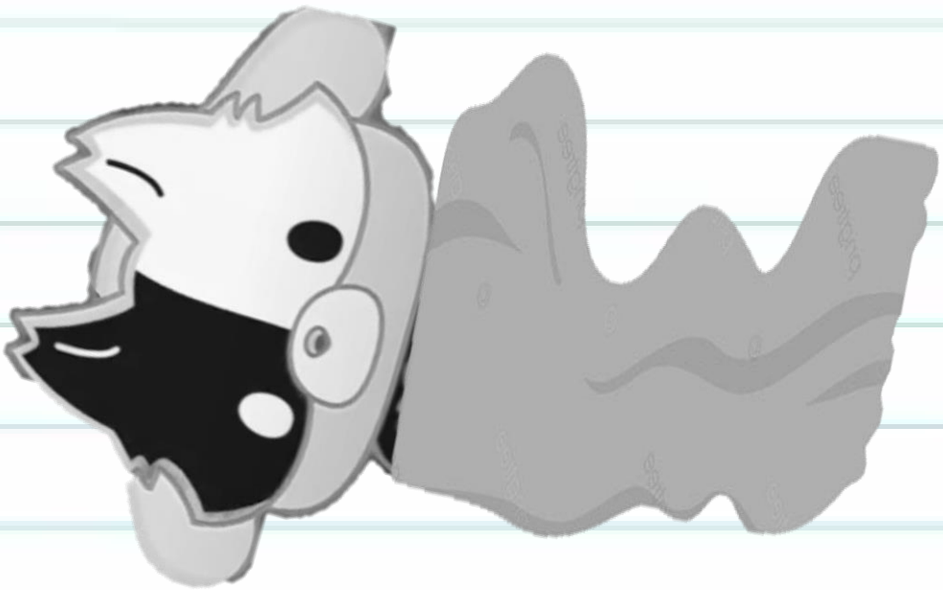
Well... The much excitement made me forget that I was poisoned. So, I needed to get that antidote, but first I had to fight these goons, but they're too CUTE to kill so I guess I just had fight them without killing.

Turns out that there were some Teeniepings including Noraping with his little brother and Bebeping here before this attack and they have left without their stuff. So, I just picked it up and went on to fight the goons of Guresuke.

First, I went to the chubbiest, I shoved him the bottle and it turns out that he was the softest in feelings, so I guess he forgot why he was there and began acting like a baby, drinking from "his" bottle and he went to a nice sleep, but was not dead.

I charged at the second one, he came in with a bat like a police officer would use.

I ducked the swing, and I charged at him covering him up with the blanket, at the next second, he fell and began sleeping, sucking his thumb.



The same went for final one, I shoved the pacifier on him, and he fell, but then stood up and began acting like a baby which was cute for a while, but then I heard a CRASH!

Turns out the re-enforcements had arrived, and they weren't kawaii animals anymore, they were humans and had machine guns!

I got out my pistol and shot at two, but I didn't really hurt them! Then one of the bodyguards started running up the stairs and I had to go into melee mode. He attempted to whack me with his gun, but I dodged the attack, but he came back up and we were stuck. For a second, I thought I was about to thrown down the the edge, but lucky for me, Po came in and punched him down and he fell right on top of a griller, lucky for him it was off, but I don't think he survived it.

I was feeling weaker by the minute, so I ran towards Guresuke and stole the antidote and drunk it.

Immediately I felt a whole lot better, but Guresuke was furious, he picked up the machine gun from the fallen guard and yelled, "THIS IS FOR INFANTILZING MY GUARDS!!!" and he began shooting. Heather Hills gave out a shriek and we all ran behind the gong that was now disconnected from the wires, so we had to run.

We were getting close to the window, and heather screamed, "I DON'T WANNA DIE!!!!" and then Rodrick said, "Since when was this The Temple of Doom?!?!?"

But it was too late for the Gong crashed into the window and we all fell...

Chapter 2

The Great Escape

We all fell, but we landed in a LIMO? Turns out that I ordered a limo for if we successfully convinced him. But now we had to use it as our getaway car.

"Seatbelts everyone!" Peeped the voice, and Heather said in confusion, "Is a KID driving this limo?"

Sorta said the voice and he opened the driver window and revealed it was PORORO THE LITTLE PENGUIN!!!!

We all stared in shock, but then we all heard a gun shot and saw three motorcycles and an SUV driving forwarding us. He told us to hold tight and he began driving.

His driving was very dangerous, there were so many swerves and turns.

I got out my pistol and broke the glass to aim at the motorcyclists. But they too were swerving around and then I saw what was on the motorcycles, STRAPPED MACHINE GUNS!

The guns began shooting and I ducked, I peeked out and pointed the first cyclist, and shot the barrel, and the entire motorcycle EXPLODED! Right in the middle of a bunch of people relaxing.

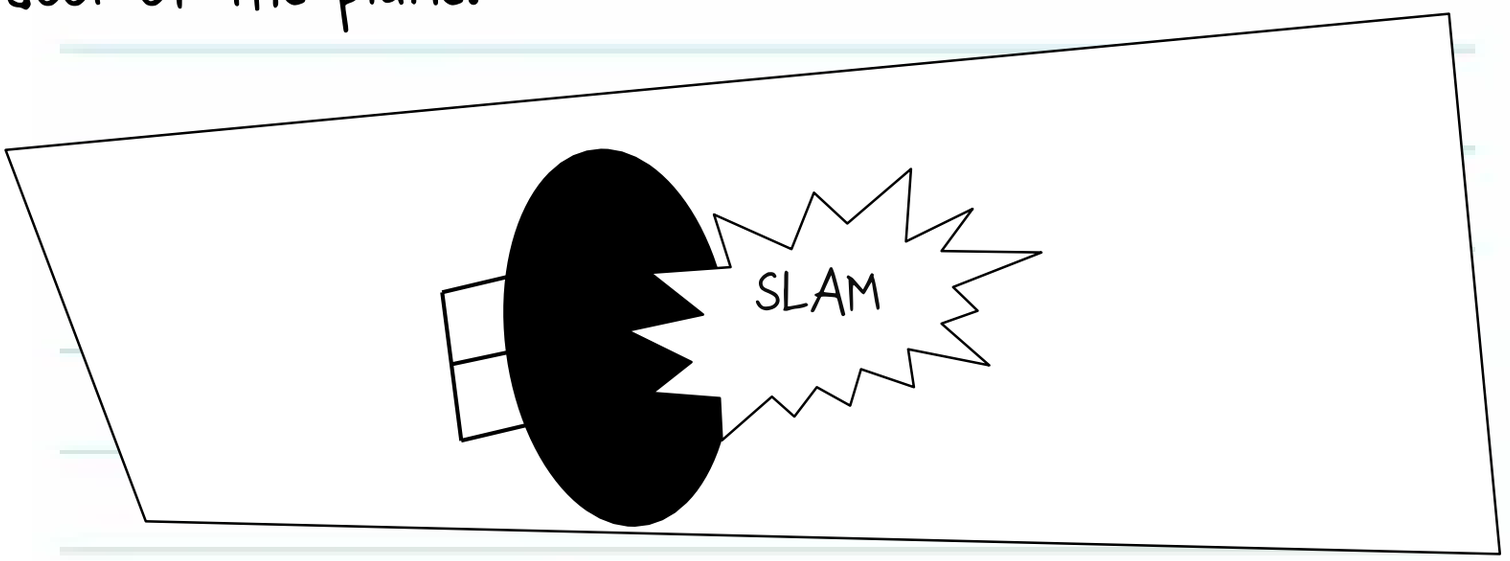
We cheered but not for long for there still two more motorcycles charging right at us. By then I figured out why Pororo's driving skills are so poor other than being an unexperienced driver, he was doing it to CONFUSE the cyclists and eventually make them trip. Which is what happened to the second one. The rider swerved and crashed right into the pool!

We had already passed through the relaxation zone and the party zone. Now, we were on the road to the airport, but there was still one motorcycle and an SUV chasing us. I attempted on aiming on the motorcycle but then there was a harsh stop on the limo and Pororo's said in a gleeful voice, "He's our final stop!"

"Who are you, The South Korean penguin version of Short Round?" Rodrick said in a distrustful way. Almost as an insult.

But there was no time for arguments, so we ran as fast as possible to a plane that was there. Guresuke got out of the SUV and stared at me with anger as if he's ready to attack me.

"Nice try Guresuke!" I said comedically and shut the door of the plane.



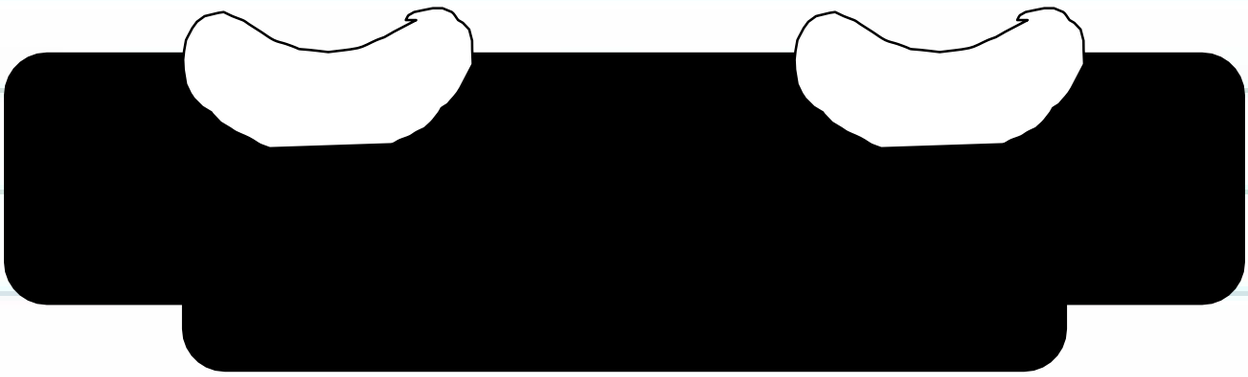
When I was inside, I could hear the Guresuke and some of his bodyguards laugh but I just simply forgot about it and just like that, the plane flew, and we were off the ground.

After the takeoff, I felt tired and not in the mood to talk after our failed attempt, so I told everyone

To let me sleep and wait until the plane lands.

A few hours later, while we were all sleeping, the pilots who were part of Guresuke's team LEFT the cockpit, placed their parachutes and jumped out of the plane.

Heather Hills woke up and wanted to ask the pilots if they're going to land just to find out that there were NO PILOTS!



She screamed and told me to come, I looked at the empty seats and then Heather blurted out, "I know this is going to sound so dumb, but can you fly a plane?"

"NO, can you?" I said comedically.

"Ugh, I can't stand these dad movies references... We need to get out of here." She said desperately.

I ran back into the main cabin and woke everyone up, telling them about the quick dilemma and as I knew, everyone got into a panic.

I had to think quick; we were getting near an unknown island. Then I saw something that I think would be a substitute to a parachute, two inflatable rafts.

I opened the box, but it was tigress who inflated the rafts. I then opened the door of the plane. And we all hanged on our rafts and jumped out of the plane.

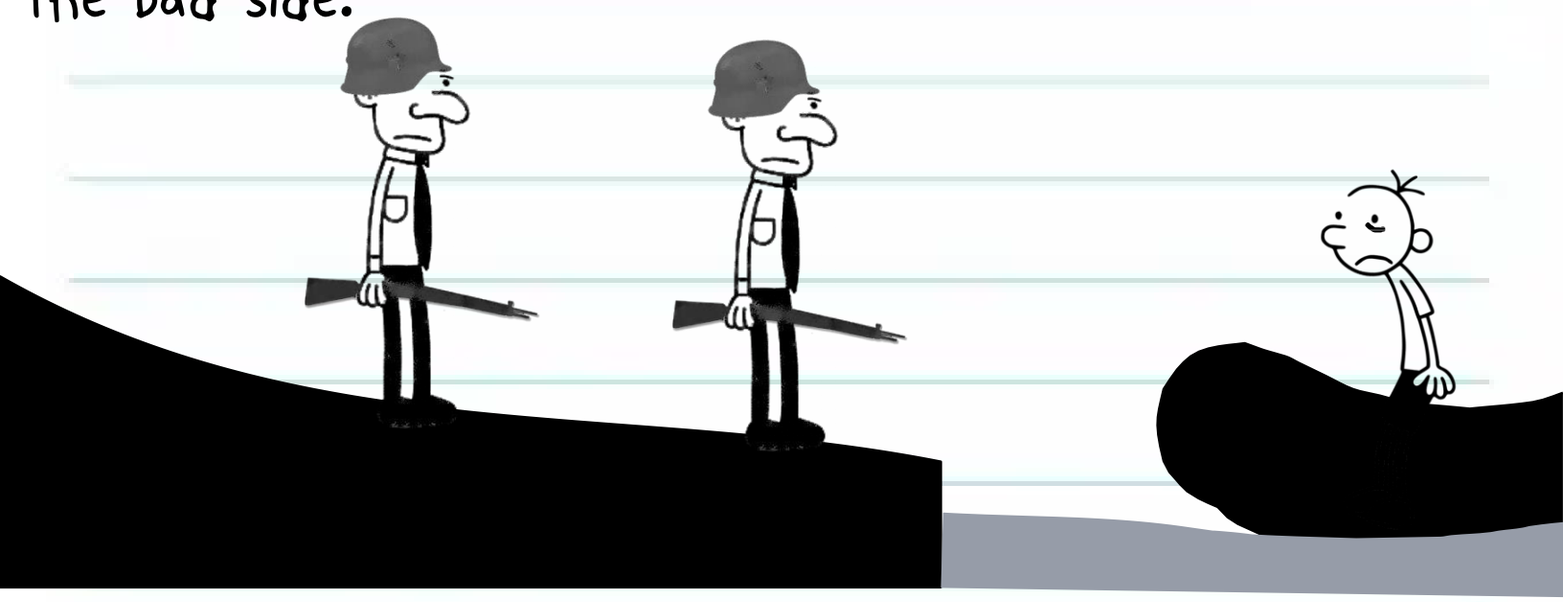
The rafts landed in the island's river, and we saw how the plane crashed into the island itself, sending a massive flame flying into the sky.

The rest was crazy, it was almost like Pororo's driving skills, terrible. There were so many turns and swerves and even jumps, for there were many small waterfalls.

For a while everything was calm, but then there was another waterfall, and this time it was a DEEP one!

We fell so harshly, we almost DIED there, but we somehow survived and after that craziness, the waters became still, and we were just simply floating.

For a while, I slept, until someone touched my raft which was shared with Po, and Tigress. Rodrick, Pororo, and Heather had the other raft. Turns out that the person who touched my raft was a soldier, a soldier from the bad side.



From that moment, I knew we were in big problems...

Chapter 3

"Reunion"

The soldier began to yell at us, and then a group of more soldiers came in, the first soldier said that we are "under arrest."

We were in shock but because we didn't want to get executed point zero, we surrendered, and we all followed the solders.

The walk was long but after a while, we finally got to our destination which was a grassy circular area that was flat, it was filled with more of the soldiers, but I also saw more familiar faces.

The Kid was there obviously, the same with Kuromi and Flippy, and then the one that was surprising for me was Death the Wolf, who was fully rebuilt ever since our last meet.

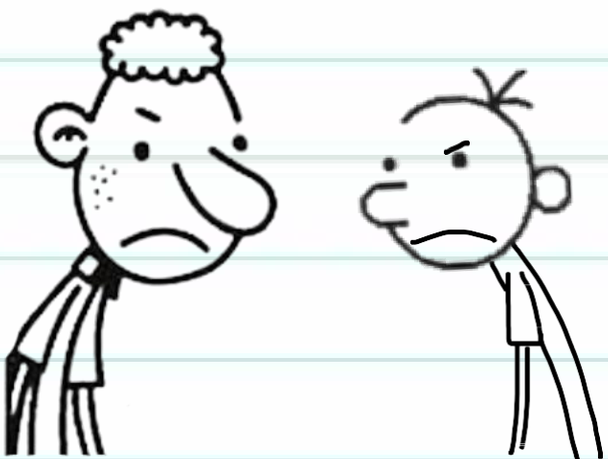
Guresuke and his goons were there too. "Great, more wolves." I said grimly. Death then walked towards me and growled at me and showed me his sickle.

"Don't scare him. He just came from a crazy ride!" The Kid said chuckling, and then he slowly walked to me

And then he began to speak again, "We meet again, but this time you won't deceive me..." I glanced at him with no feelings.

"You may have met my father." He continued. "I never saw your father!" I responded in anger. Then his father walked up to me grabbed by the arm. "Do you now recognize him..." The kid continued.

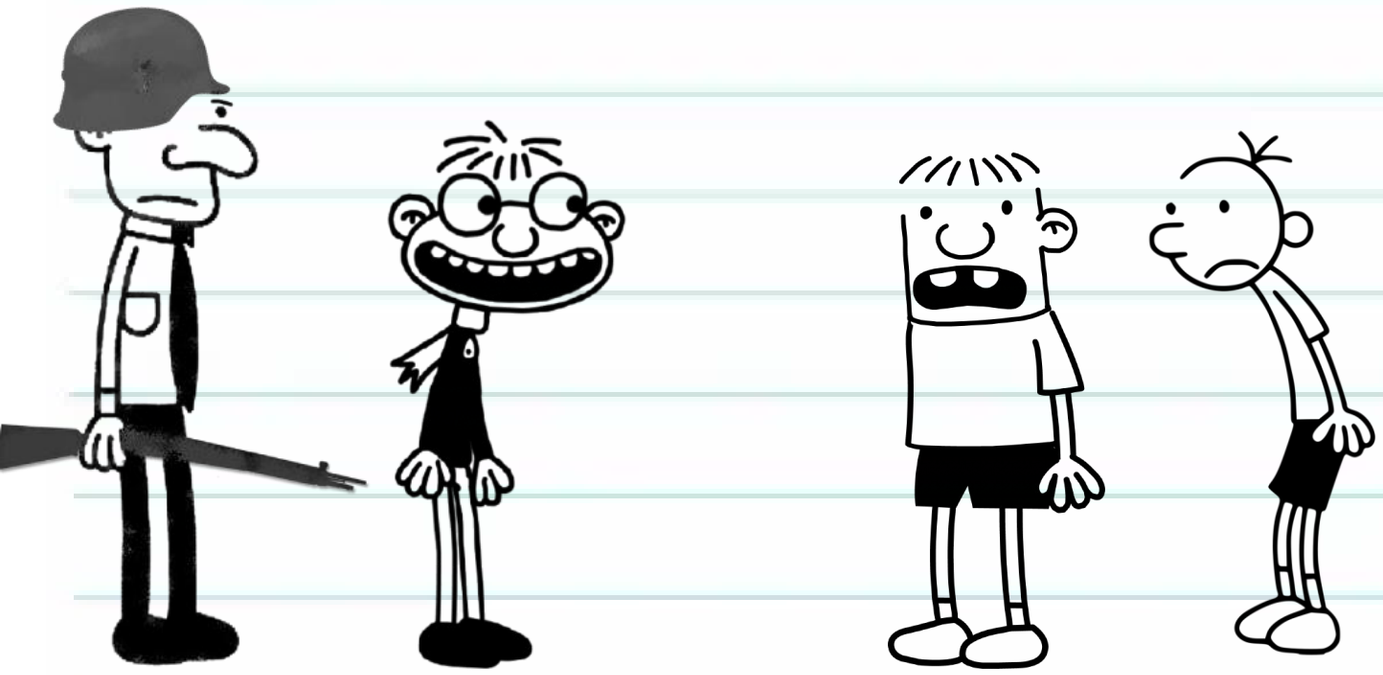
"Oh yes, he was THAT guy, the one that attempt to kill me." I continued grimly. "So, what do you want with me that kidnapping us was so necessary?"



"I know I can't find this spear myself, so I thought you can your team can find it for me, and with that, I could let you free, if you don't DIE in the way of finding the Spear."

"I also brought some 'extra friends' so that they can follow you." Then two soldiers brought ROWLEY JEFFERSON to the spot.

"Hi..." He said in a voice showing his confusion and his worries. Then they also brought in FREGELY too.



Then, one guard yelled, "LET THE CAT OUT OF THE BAG!" And then they brought in a bag and cut it and Puss in Boots came out of the bag.

"Ok, now you have a bigger team, NOW GO FIND ME THAT SPEAR OR ELSE." He yelled

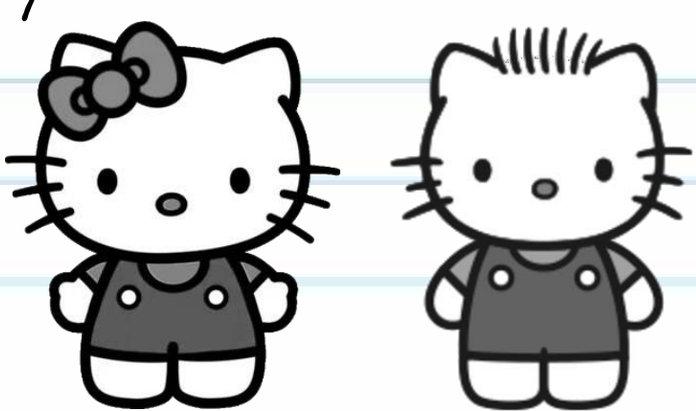
"Ok, ok, ok we're going..." And we all went. Heather and Pororo asked at the same time, "Why are you doing what that evil kid is forcing you to get that Spear?"

"Because we're getting it, and then run as fast as possible from this island, and look for the other two parts, for the Spear was broken into three, the top part, the lower part and the skull of Moses, which was the main transmitter of all the divine wrath that caused

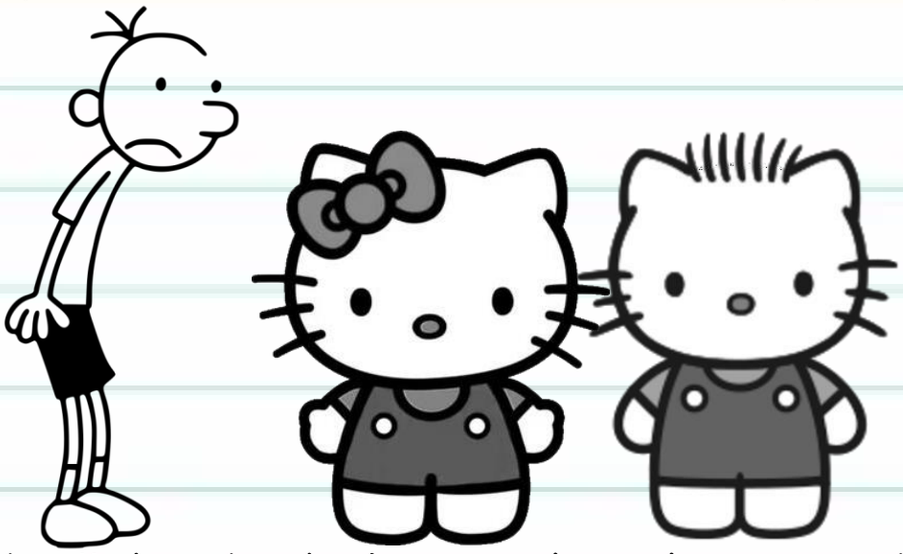
The mass genocide of all those civilization..." But I remembered that Pororo was a little kid, so I just simply shut myself up.

The walk was hard with the fierce humidity and the jungle weather and the rocks laying hidden in the ground. But after a while I saw from a distance, I saw a weird building, then I found out, we finally got a distant look from our destination, The Forbidden Palace!

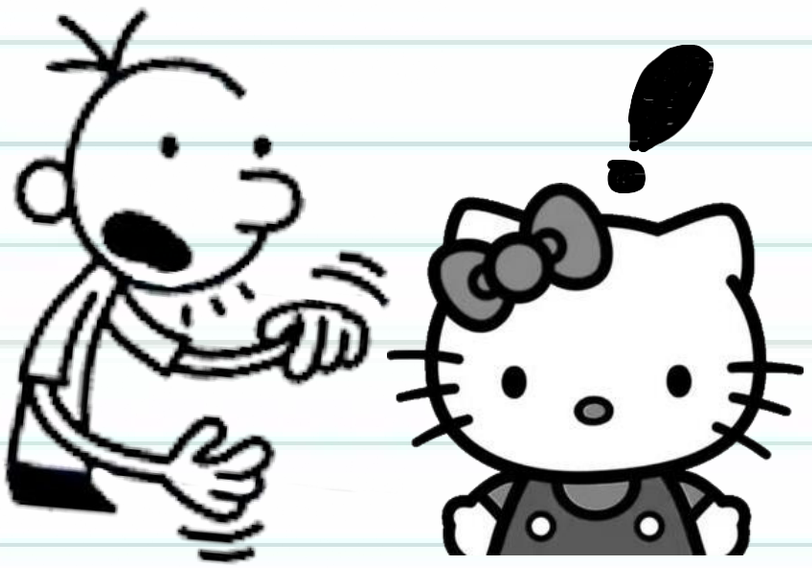
After seeing the palace from afar, we walked a bit, just to be "jump scared" by the most unusual characters... (Well from this point on, I just got used to it) Hello Kitty and Dear Daniel!



Before I could say anything, the two kitties broke out saying in an embarrassed and shocked way, "Hey there..." Then Hello Kitty said, "You may be wondering why we are here, well... It all started when My Melody somehow disappeared... After Kuromi's disappearance..."



"Wait!" I said, "You don't know what happened to Kuromi! She became evil and she's joined some weird army that led us here... but I didn't know anything about My Melody though."



Hello Kitty went into a deep silence when hearing the truth, then Dear Daniel said, "Well, we know My Melody likes the outdoors and this is an outdoorsy place, so I guess she'll be here. But I think that someone kidnapped her, and she may be here!"

"So, two Sanrio characters, three DreamWorks characters, one South Korean penguin, and the four of us humans..." Fregely listed out. "How nice, I actually had fantasies like this." He continued. "Can you please shut up!" I replied. "Guys, I think we are at the right place..." Rowley Chimed up.

And looking up, we have finally arrived at the Forbidden Palace.

Chapter 4

The Forbidden Palace

Astonished by the structure of the building, we wondered how we were gonna enter the place. But lucky for us, Pororo just simply pushed one of the large doors that we all thought were locked

The entrance was dark and was filled with small debris and dust, as we continued walking through the halls, Dear Daniel grabbed a long piece of wood and gave it to me. "Thanks." I said and I also found a flint laying in there. After scrapping it a bit, the stick went into flames, and we had ourselves a torch.

I advised everyone to stay close to me. Then I continued to walk the empty halls with their walls filled with what used to be bright colors but faded over the decades and murals of scenes of ancient history also to be lost and forgotten. It was all like this until we reached the main dining hall.

We were all surprised to see that the main table still being intact with its cloth and accessories still there, even though it was also been decomposing for all of these years that passed. Everything looked normal except for a weird small monument that its base was a small rectangle with a small but a bit tall square on top of the rectangle, and carved out of the square was a half circle...

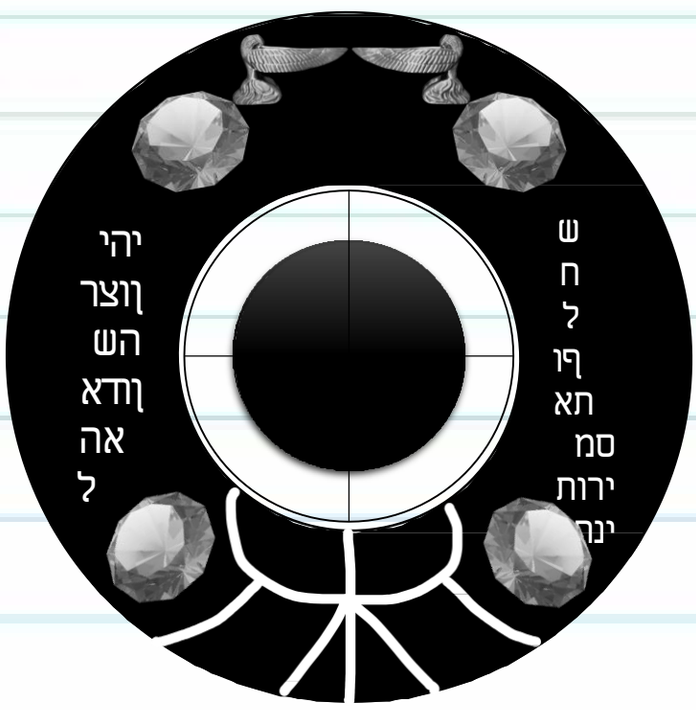
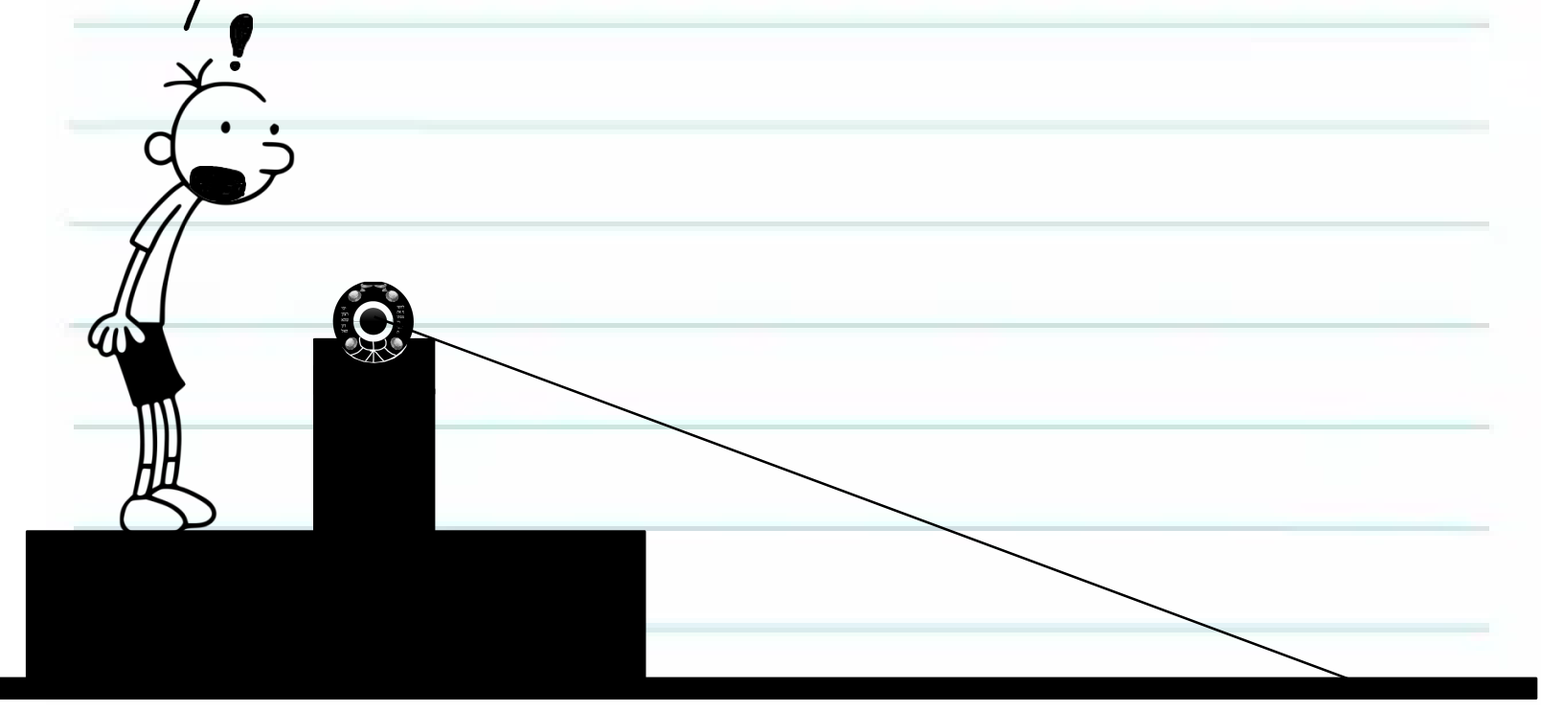
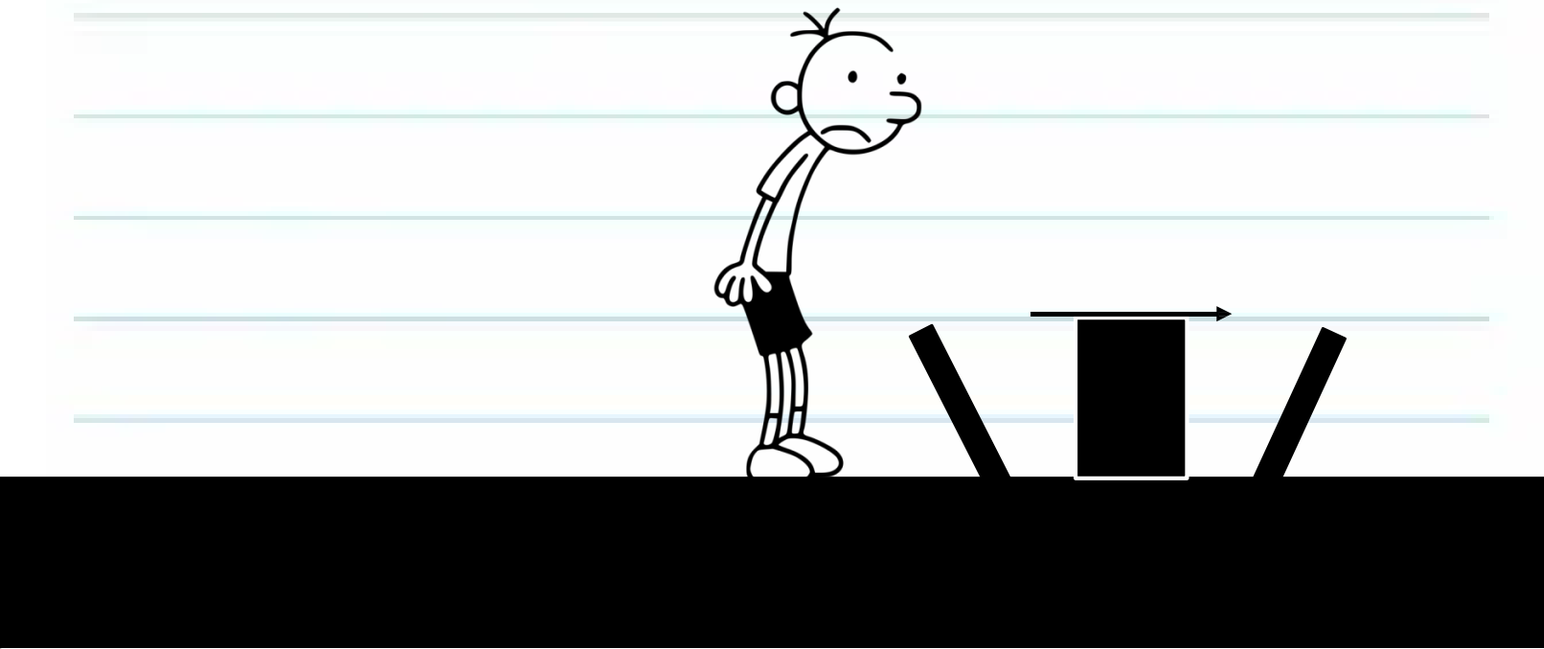
Observing the weird monument, I took out the artifact that I recently converted it into a necklace, but didn't do so much change to the medallion itself.



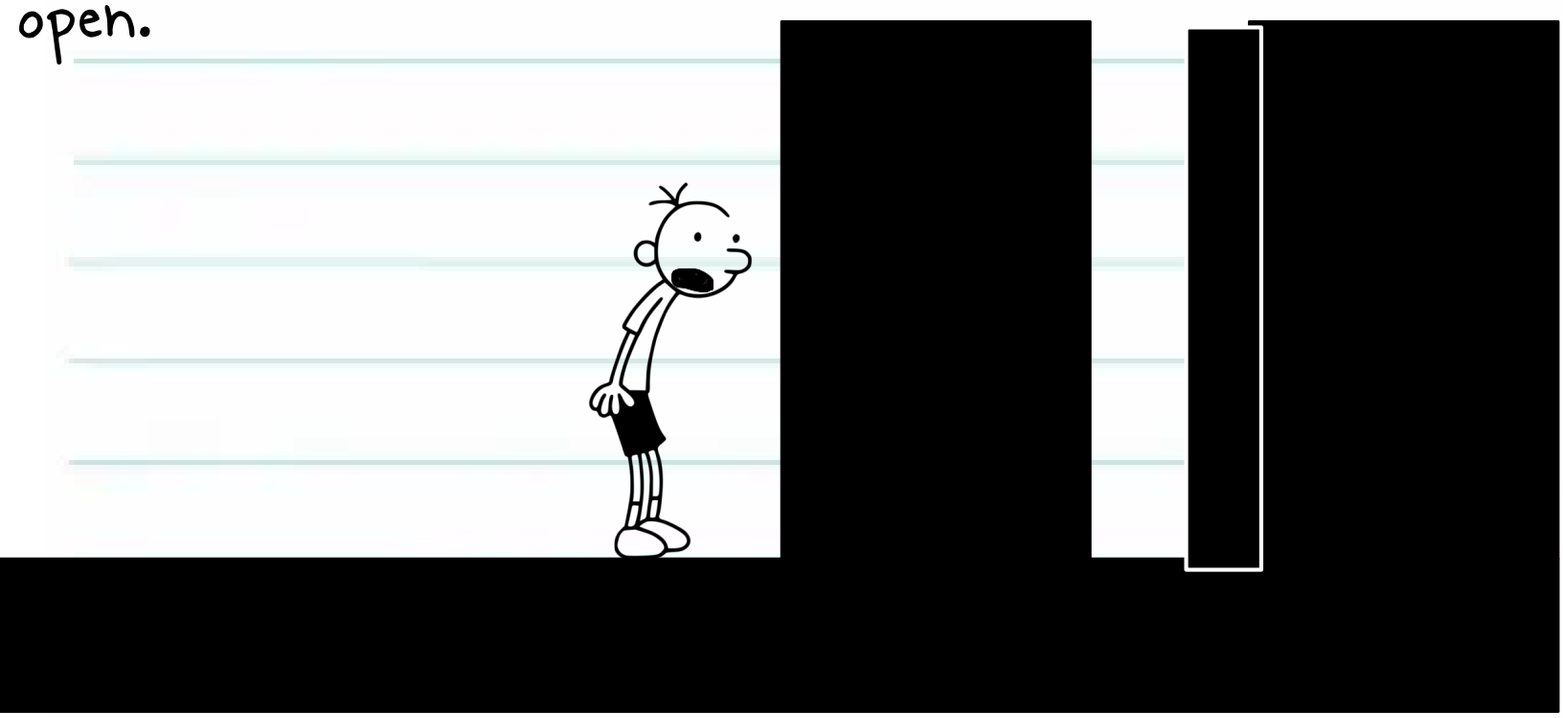
I calculated the size of the holder and the medallion and then I locked it in the holder. Rodrick asked, "so now what?" I looked out from a distant window and said, "Wait for it..." The room illuminated from the sunlight and then I saw a quick beam of light absorbed by the diamond glass in the middle of the medallion and the ray shone to the floor...



I was disappointed the medallion didn't do much, but then the floor began to open and then THE SPEAR OF POWER arose from the floor!!!!



Everyone looked in astonishment as I picked up the spear. "Well, lets now look for My Melody!" I said in a sorta sarcastic Indiana Jones way. But I did want find where she was, it could explain at bit on why Kuromi became evil. But before we did anything, a wall began to open.



Interest trickled into my brain. And I told them I was gonna enter the secret room and I guess everyone decided to follow me. The room was dark with only a few lit torches, I grabbed on and had my flint with me in case it died out.

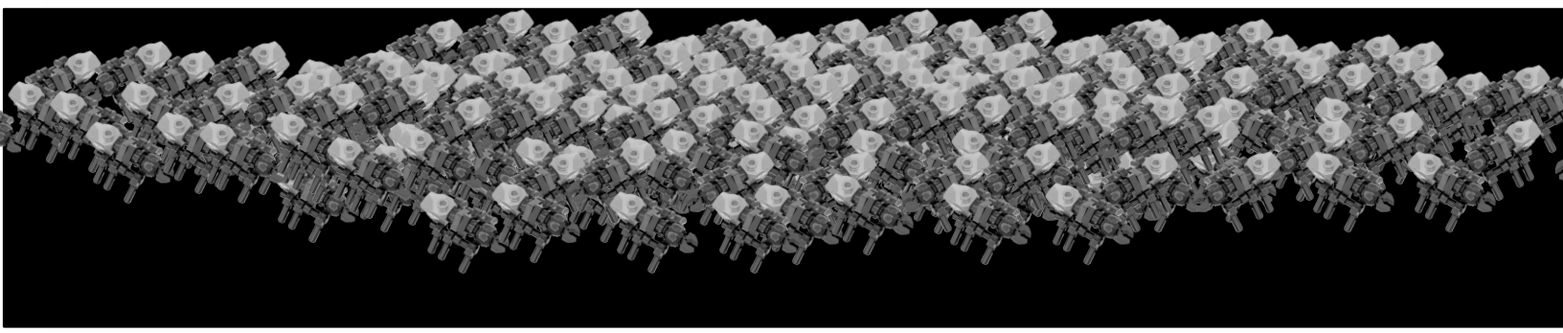
The halls reduced to raw stone and the walls narrowed as we were walking. Then I stepped on something that brought me back the memory of stepping on that seashell a few years ago.

I looked down and I just SCREAMED in horror finding out that it was a SKULL!!!

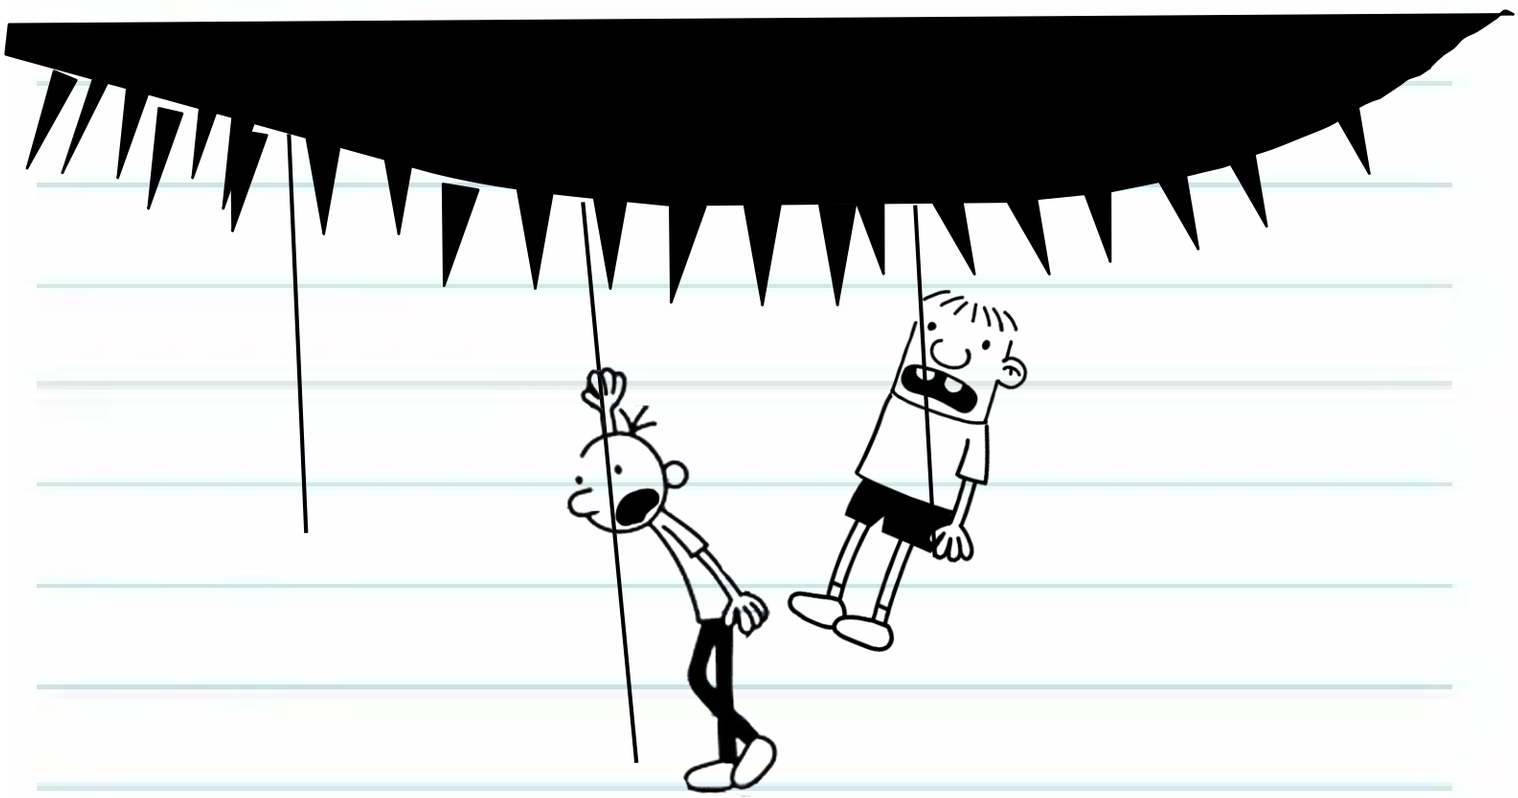
I didn't know what was happening here, and we all began to run, and we somehow broke our "fellowship." Me, Rodrick, Rowley and Pororo ran to this weird room, and Heather, Kitty and Daniel, Fregely Po, Tigress and Puss in boots went to another Room.

I looked around this room and I shuddered as there were more skeletons, this time there were with clothes, some were men, some were women, and some were children...

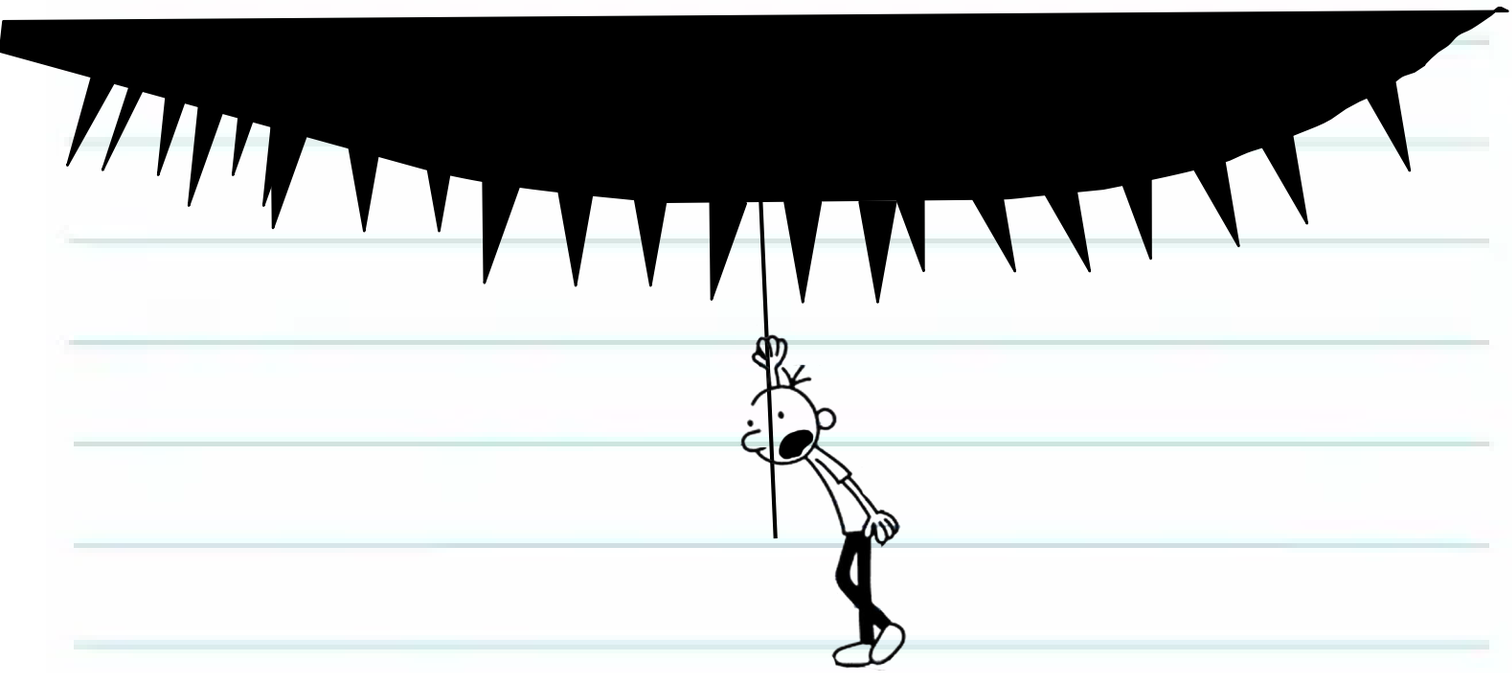
The other room wasn't better either. Heather got a torch and looked down and Shrieked, well everyone shrieked as there were thousands of centipedes and other weird bug mutants.



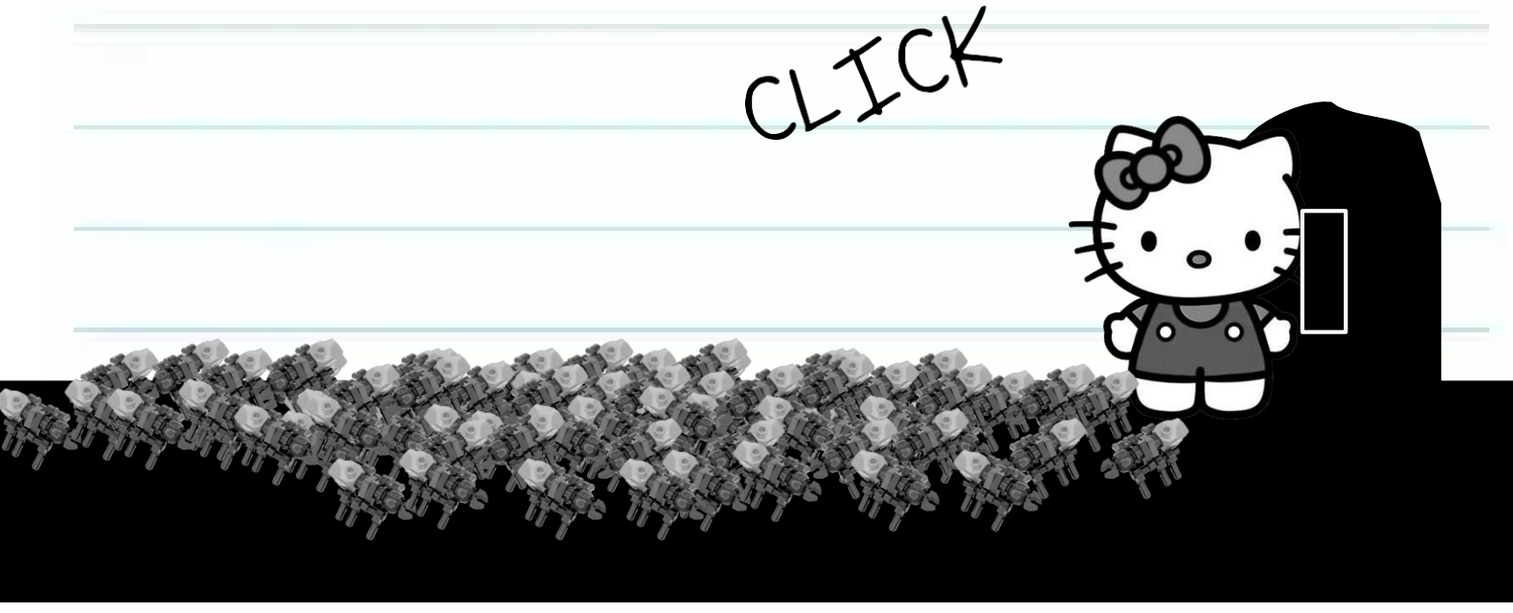
Meanwhile, I looked around in our room and told everyone to not TOUCH anything, but Pororo decided to stand rest on a wall and that made a mechanism go on and the next thing that happens is that the entire floor disappears, a few ropes drop down, and the roof was covered with SPIKES!



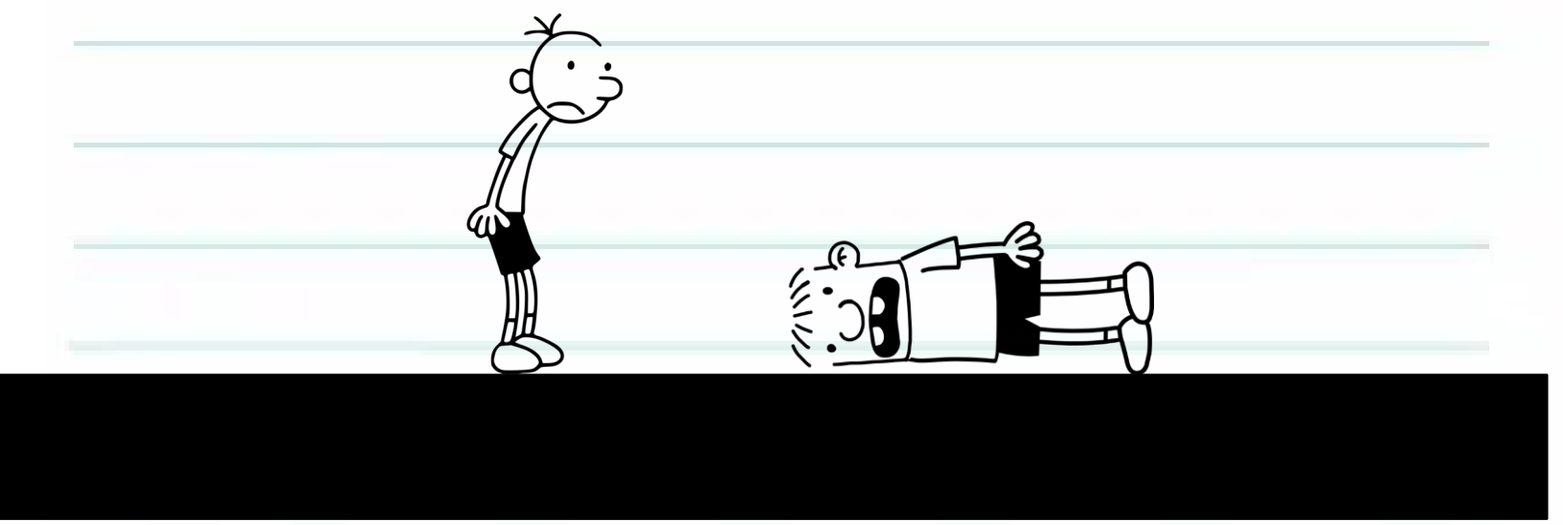
I could hear the voices of the other team in the other room, and I yelled, "WE NEED HELP, CAN YOU FIND ANY KIND OF LEVER!?!?!?!" "WHY!" yelled Fregely. "BECAUSE I THINK PORORO STARTED A MECHANISM DEADILER THAN THAT DEATH TRAP IN THE TEMPLE OF DOOM!!!!!!"



With that, Hello Kitty saw a weird shape in the middle of the wall, she walked up, disgusted by the bugs and pulled the lever.



And in that moment, everything returned to normal in our room, the spikes disappeared, the floor with its gruesome amount skeletons returned and we were safe for the time.



Then two other doors opened, the first one came the wave of our other team which looked very shook up (Except for Po and Tigress for they did crazier things than what we all did) and another door opened, but this time we didn't know where it would lead us so stupidly, we simply entered. Lucky for us, this time there were no more narrow halls or dead people and traps. But it was a giant cave with natural rocky spikes hanging in the top.

The area was dark but at the same time a mixture between lava red and bloody red, there were 8 statues of oxen with four arms with each of the hands holding first, a dagger, then a decapitated head (it was also part of the statue not real), a chalice with real blood inside in it, and lastly, a flame with was also part of the statue.

I shuddered as I walked past them, then there was a little hole in the cave and beside it was a ramp that led some where, I was lucky that we didn't went went down that ramp for it kept a terrifying secret hidden.

Chapter 5

The sacrifice of Jamar Law

We were grateful that we didn't went down that ramp for we just witnessed the most DISTURBING thing to ever happen!

We went to the little hole that was more like a window without glass to an entirely new place! It was an entire secret TEMPLE inside of it. There were hundreds of people on one side of the temple kneeling and worshiping a very large and scarier version of the Ox statue that we saw before.

The statue was on the other side from the temple, where there were 6 guards clad in black and scarlet robes, they also had black turbans and were holding long iron spears.

It looked liked that a ceremony was about to begin, looking at the place of the temple and watching the movie I'm practically LIVING in; this is not going to be one friendly ceremony.

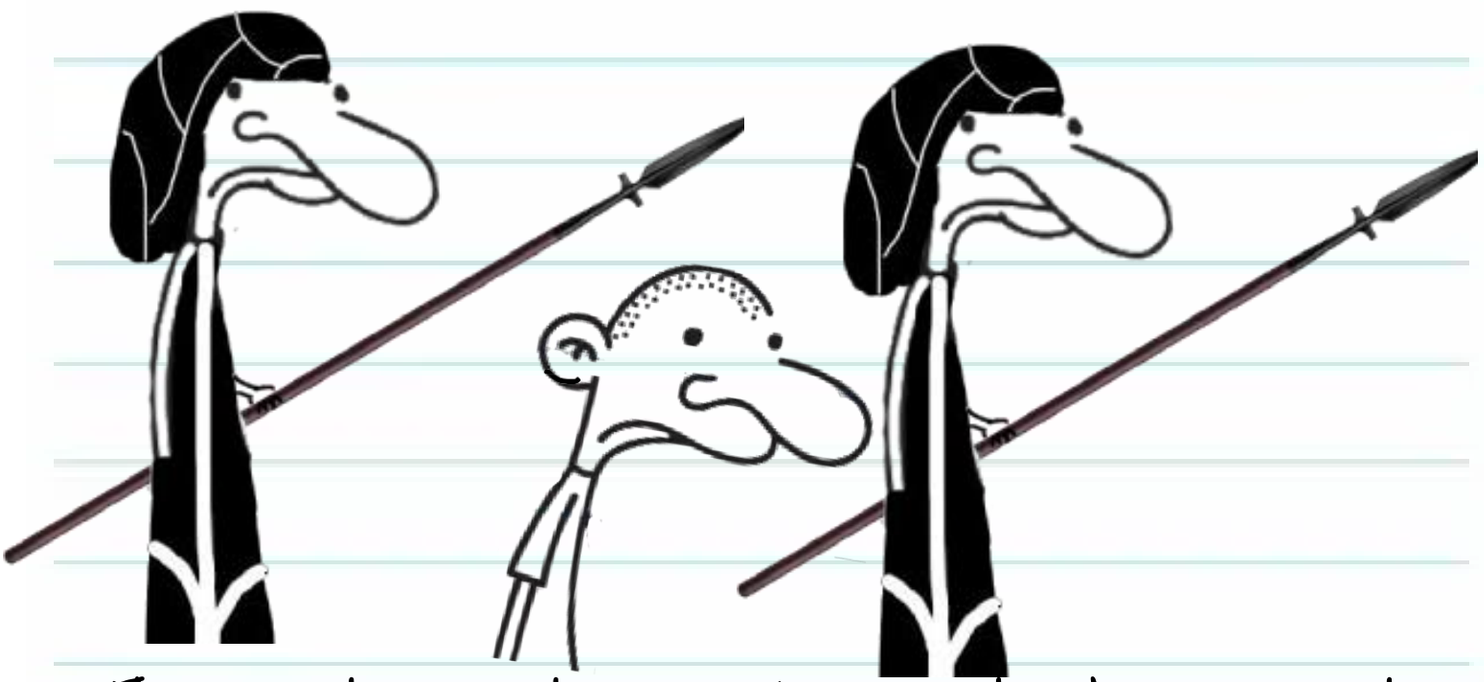
First came in the two thuggee acolytes walking with some kind of fluids.

They were obviously dark red; the acolytes then began to pour the fluids onto the big Bashimira statue, on themselves.

But for some reason, they just simply left. I don't know why they were important; but this is some weird cult so yeah.

But even that wasn't enough.

There were 4 wooden poles, each one having an organ stuck on it (I didn't even want to write that detail in the first place). Behind the disgusting poles, was a cage. Now this the craziest part, two of the guards pulled JAMAR LAW out of a door in the left of the altar side of the temple!



The guards placed Jamar Law inside the cage and locked it, then came their high priest, he was purple and dragon like but was small as around the size of Pororo. He wore a black cloak which is why I didn't see so much of him, but Jamar Law did, The high priest ordered the guards to bring in a very long wooden pipe like stick, then he began reciting some prayer of sort that went like this:

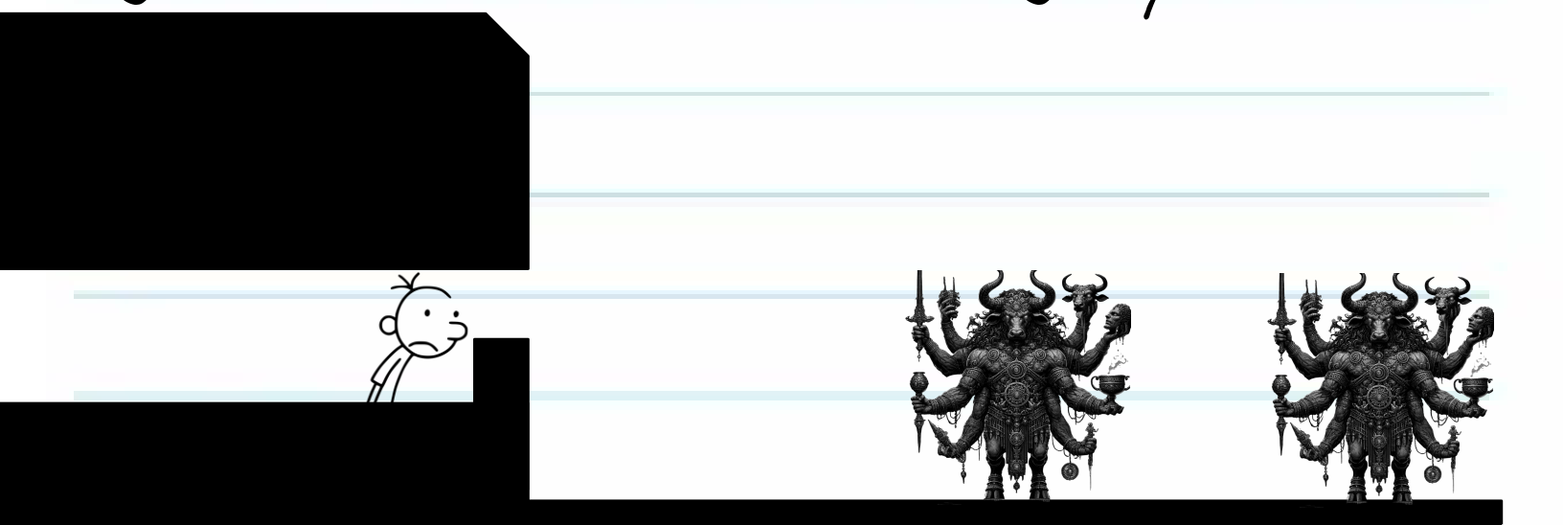
"O Bashirmia, mtima uwu ukhale wotumiza ULEMERERO wanu!!!"

Translated:

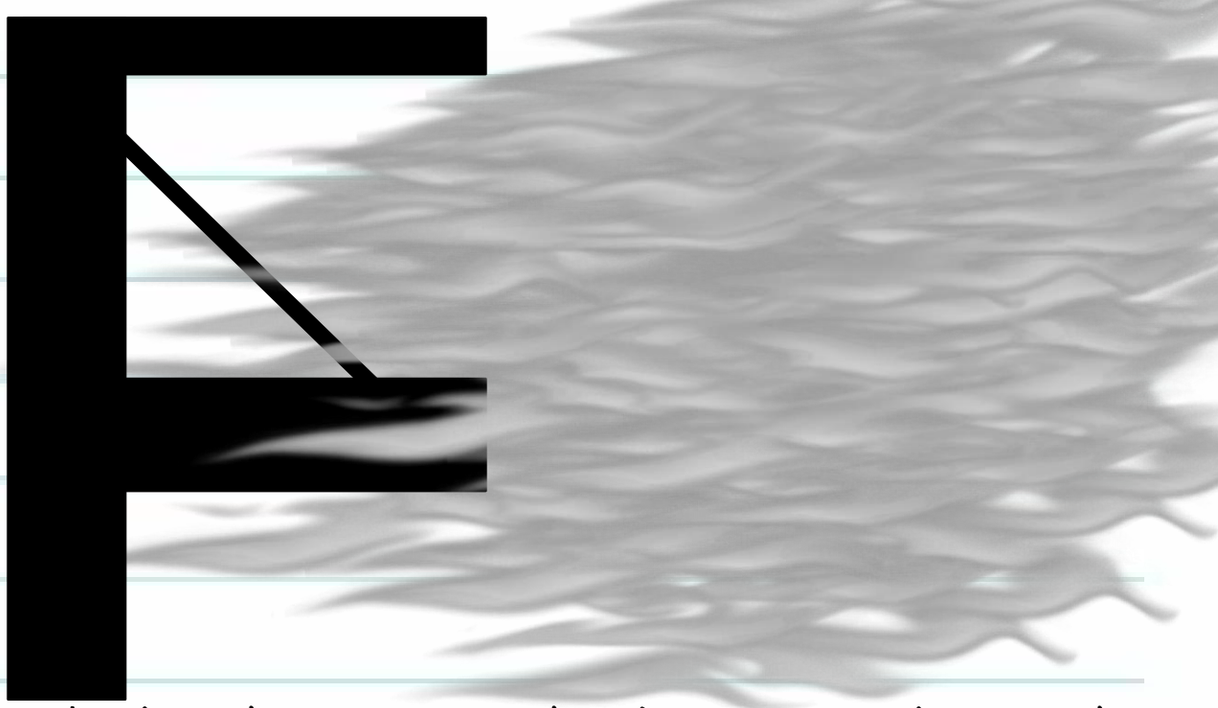
"Oh Bashirmia, let this heart be the transmitter of your GLORY!!!!"

Then the guards pierced the long stick right into Jamar Law's HEART!

"Uhh, Rowley, do you have your phone?" I said deadpan. "Why?" said Rowley, "Just place some show of yours that you watch on YouTube..." I continued. Ok said Rowley, he then proceeded to open the app and then placed one of the episodes of... OH GOD... My Litty Pony. Damn I forgot that he was still a brony. "I guess human sacrifice it is" I said grimly.



The high priest then placed a small bowl under the ending part of the wooden tube and then he raised his hand. And the chanting began, the drums banged, and the cage rose. I was never really friends with Law but damn, I felt a range of guilt, pity and horror seeing how poorly Jamar was being killed. The cage rose until it came face to face with Bashirmia seconds later, the mouth began spewing out Fire, and lots of fire. Jamar's body was totally obliterated and his screams where the last thing I ever heard of him.



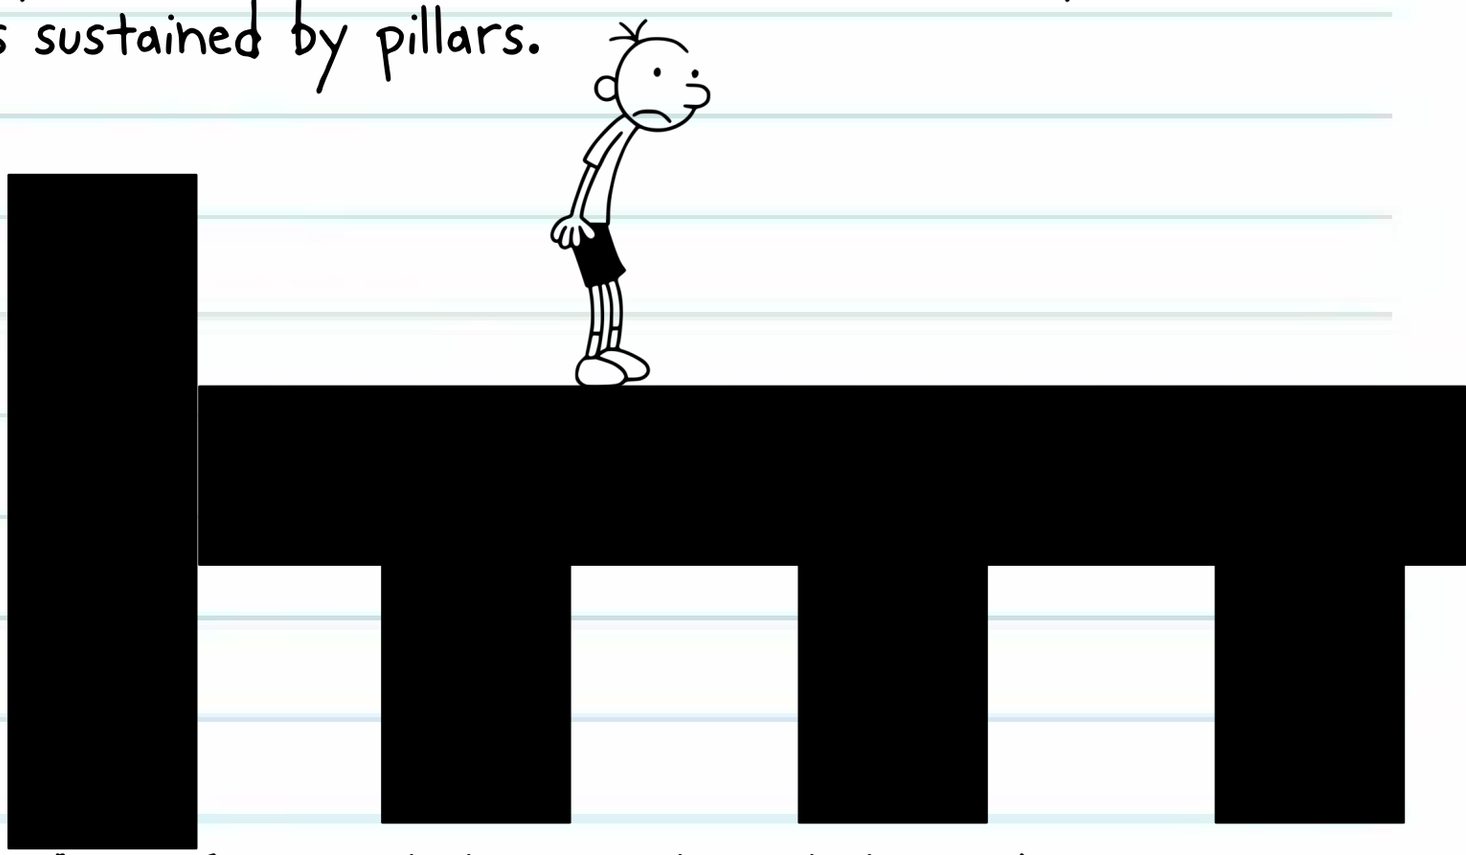
Then I looked in horror at the bottom and saw the liquid remains of his heart. At this point, Heather Hills had already fainted and Pororo and Puss in Boot (that just sounded so weird...) tried to relieve her.

Anyways, the fire stopped and the cage, which Jamar law wasn't in anymore, lowered and lowered. And the high priest took the bowl and drunk the remains of Jamar's Heart...

I almost vomited but I just ate it back in. Everyone in the other side of the temple cheered.

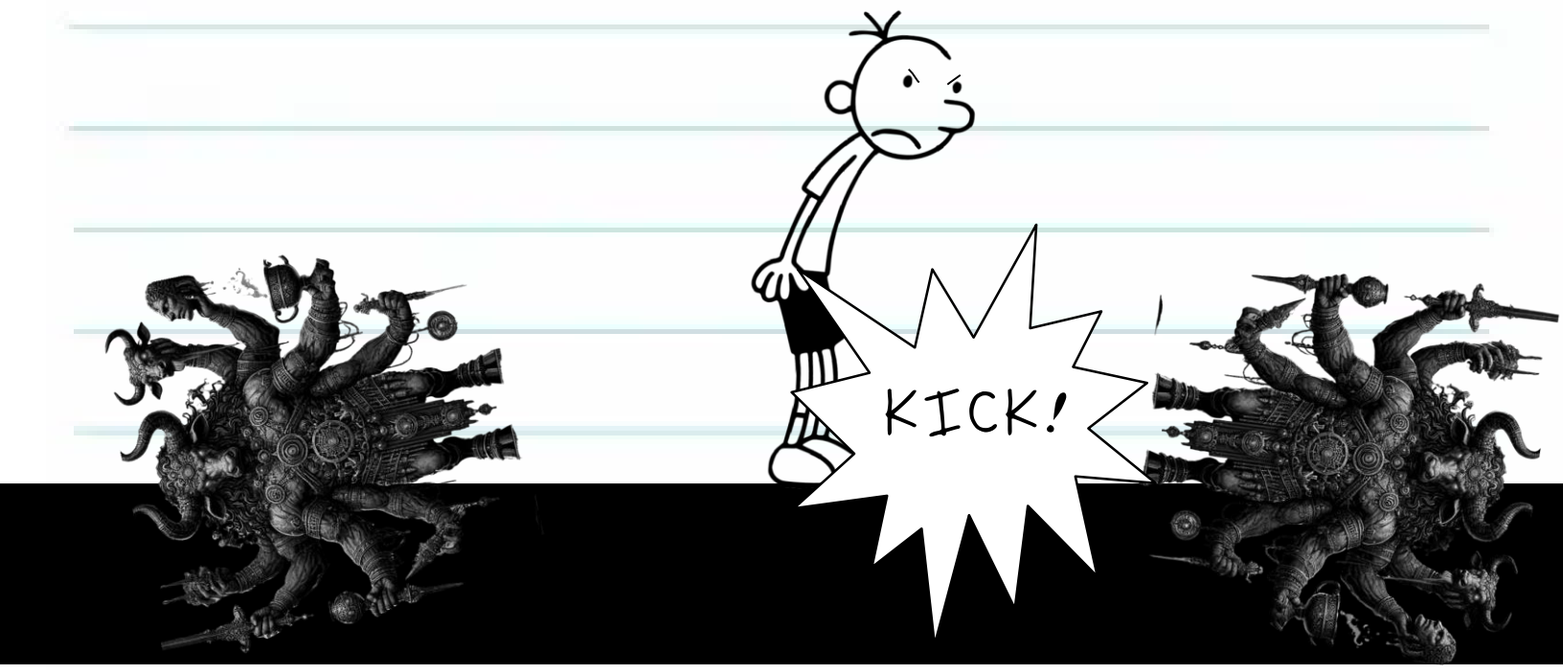
As the ceremony came to an end, one of the most peculiar figures came in, it was my other friend CHIRAG GUPTA!!! His eyes were glowing yellow as he walked up to the high priest to wash his hands and then they left.

The temple cleared out in an instant, so I told everyone to figure out how to get out of here as I jumped out of the cave, I landed on a platform that was sustained by pillars.



Then I jumped down and landed on the main part...

I'm not a person who disrespects people with other religions and/or cultures... But man, these guys are total jerk faces with their illegal sacrifices so the only way that I could stop all this nonsense was by vandalizing it. So, it was a moment of me kicking the organ poles down the fire chambers, wrecking miniature statues and so on, but I also did it with haste... For I didn't want to die how Jamar did.



I finished "vandalizing" then, I heard whipping sounds. And then another whipping sound was made, this time I was determined to know what was that sound was. So, I entered this entrance that would lead me to ANOTHER discovery!

Meanwhile, Heather woke up and spoke to Rodrick saying she had a nightmare, then she wondered where was Pororo. But before she could continue, many THUGGEES jump scared everyone and began kidnapping everyone one by one. Rowley along with Po and Tigress however, escaped...

Chapter 6

Children in Chains

As I walked through yet again another dark and narrow tunnel, and it was only dimly lit by some torches with their flames dying. The sounds of the whips were growing, and a feeling of regret was building.

Then I heard a sound of tripping. Scared, I turned around, drawing my pistol... Turns out it was only Pororo, who according to him was scared being in that cave and seeing the temple, even in standstill mode. I took that as a reasonable answer to why he wanted to accompany me, even it could lead to our DEATHS!

The tunnel for some reason widened. So, I guess that would've make it easier for us, but no, the reason why the tunnel was widened was because the floor was filled with SPIDERS and MORE of them were crawling out of the walls of the tunnels and it was corroding the dirt parts of the wall, making it wider.

I shivered for I never like spiders, ever since that time I opened the spider egg sac when I was seven. I began to think on how to pass through it, then Pororo pointed out that the spiders aren't getting near the areas where torches are. So, after some quick thinking, I took a torch and flung it in the middle of the spiders. In just in a second, the spiders began clearing out a small pathway. We carefully walked, trying not to touch a spider.

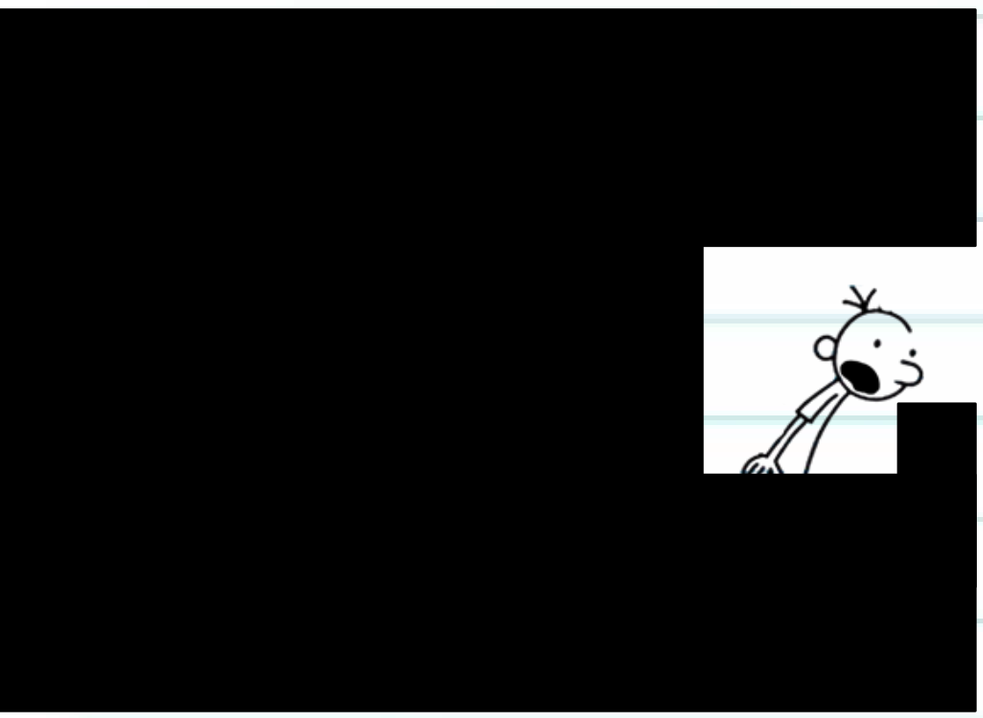
Even though it took 3 minutes, to me it felt like 3 HOURS! Anyways, we continued walking the tunnel which of course narrowed. Then we finally got to a window like hole, like the last one from the temple. I peered out and I almost fainted from HORROR.



These guys also had an entire SLAVE CHILDREN organization, there were probably hundreds, both real children and crossovers. They were doing the same things that happened the The Temple of Doom. I... I... I don't even want to draw the scene, it's too heartbreaking, the kids were forced to mine out the rocks to make space for an extension for the temple. Kids had to push carts to dispose the rocks onto the rock crushers. And the kids also had to throw their jewelry onto a gargantuan pot filled with magma, the pots would then be tipped and formed new statues. While looking at the horrific scene, I saw MY MELODY! Panting in the side of one of the caverns. I was shocked from the actions done that I got hot headed and threw a STONE at one of the slave drivers.

That just made him MAD and then he yelled something point at me and Pororo. We tried to escape but there were already 8 guards showing out their sword and I knew we were DONE for.

Chapter 7

A meet with the high priest

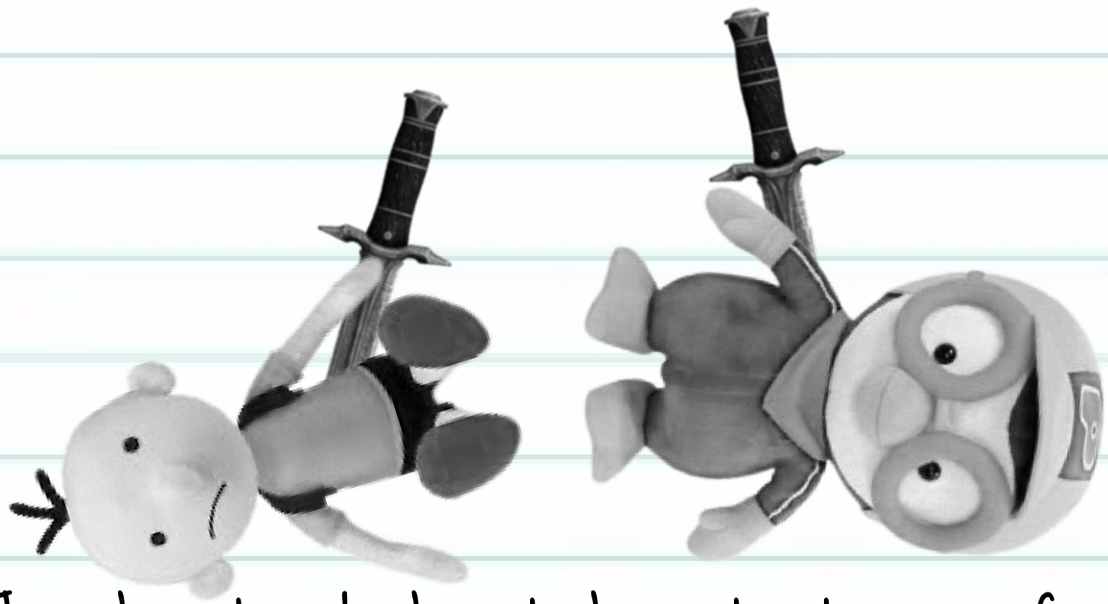
We were brought into this weird passageway that led us to this room, it was all filled with candles. The guards then formed a straight line, four on one side and four on the other side.

Then came in the High Priest and Chirag Gupta, I tried to tell Chirag that it was me, but he didn't care and walked past me. Then the High Priest walked to me and began speaking. He "greeted" me and accused me of destroying the temple.

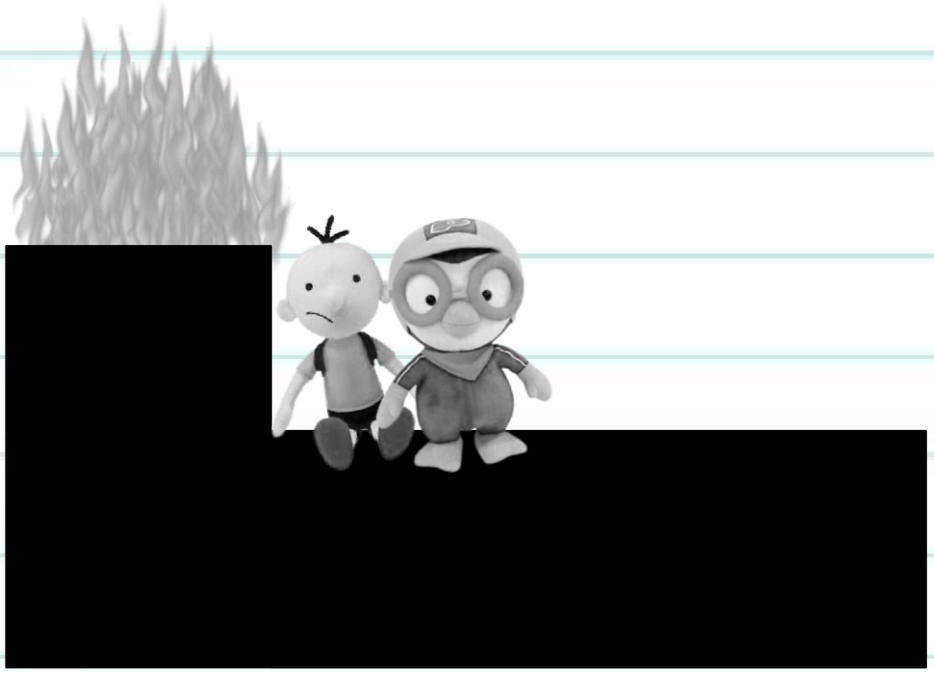
"What is even your name?" I asked gruffly. "I don't really have a name, but I'm also known as 'The Dark Wizard'." He responded. "So, what's all this freak show for, a scary metal statue?" I asked jokingly. "Shut up you insolent fool! Don't commit blasphemy towards Bashirmia!" Yelled The Dark Wizard. Then Chirag got two plushies, one resembling me and one resembling Pororo.

"You may know what this is, and now as punishment you both will have to endure the pains of stabbing, and fire."

Chirag got out a dagger and began stabbing the two plushies. We both screamed out of pain, even if the blades weren't touching us.



Then he placed the plushies closely to a fire pit for small sacrifices, and we both yelped out of pain again, for the flames were unbearable, it was like as if we were in the fire itself.



But it wasn't over, well for me though, "The Dark Wizard" brought in a decaying head filled of what he called, the blood of the damned, which is the blood of the "Martyrs" saying that when someone dies in favor of us, we use their blood to convert people into one of US!

The person immediately goes to HELL or a hell like place if not Christian. Then he began forcing me to chug it down. Pororo began squeaking, "DON'T DRINK IT DON'T DON'T." But the guards began dragging him out to the mine section.

I sputtered and gasped as the guards threw me into a stone "bed" where I spent the entire time twitching and turning, until. I woke up, laughing hysterically. I was fully consumed by the blood of the damned and became one of THEM....

Chapter 8

Pororo, Rowley and... Pikachu???

Pororo was placed in the mines and was forced to chisel the rocks away. He was shedding tears for both the physical pains from the recent torture and the emotional pains of being abused by the Thuggee slave drivers. What felt like 15 minutes was 15 HOURS for him. Then he heard a sound he thought wouldn't be here. "Pika..." "Pika...," Said the voice.

Pororo, curious peaked over just to find Pikachu!!! They both stared in awkwardness for it was again two crossover characters with no interconnection in theme seeing each other. For some reason, Pororo could understand what Pikachu was saying. From amidst the Pika sounds, he could understand that his master, Ash, was seriously injured from so much work (he was working for almost 5 days nonstop) and that he needed to get out to call for help.

Pororo nodded in agreement but then heard a harsh voice saying to continue working, Pikachu hid in a small cave that was formed in the caverns. The guard then looked up and gave a terrified yell. His legs were then covered with molten metal burning in his skin, Pororo immediately placed dirt and successfully placed out the fire of the wet metal. Pororo then saw something peculiar, his eyes weren't glowing yellow anymore and he was telling him to escape. Then two guards came in and took him. Pororo began "mining" but more like breaking his chains so that he can escape, when he successfully broke it, he told Pikachu to come, and they both DASHED OUT as fast as possible.

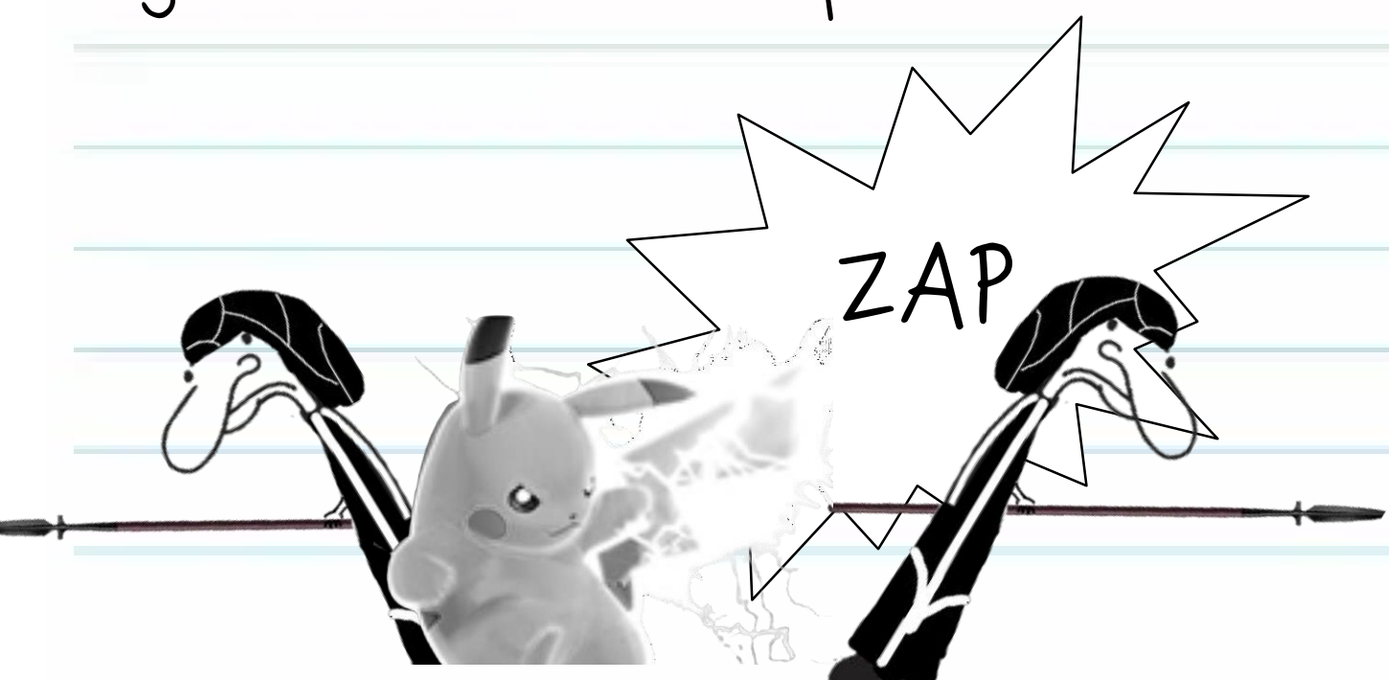
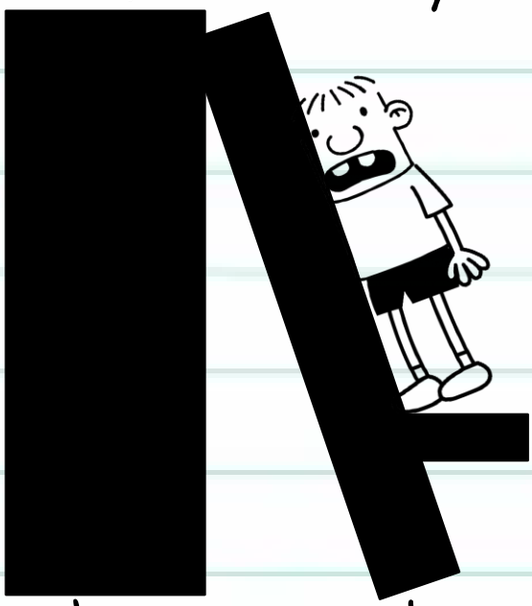
ZIP!

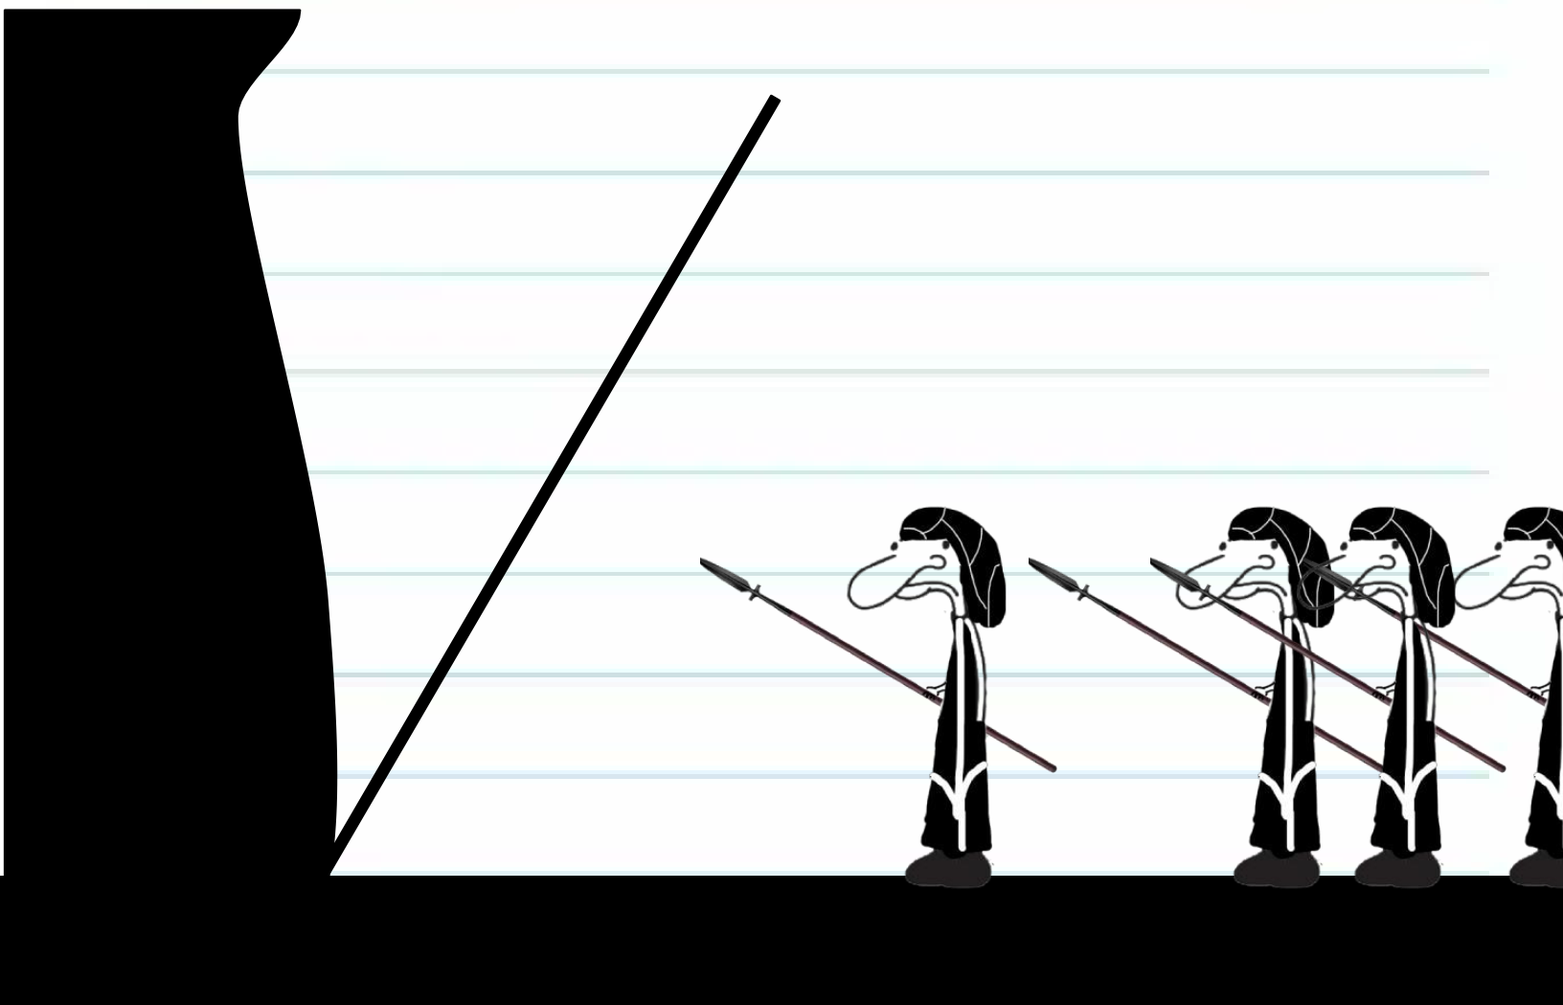
Many of the guards were chasing them some with guns and began shooting them. But they missed. Pikachu then did his famous attack. Stunning many of the guards. Giving Pororo a chance to escape.



Then Pororo met with Rowley who was also enslaved, after his unsuccessful attempt to flee. Pororo then broke Rowley's chains and then the trio got on a ladder. Many of the kids began looking up smiling as they now had a sliver of hope that they too can escape.



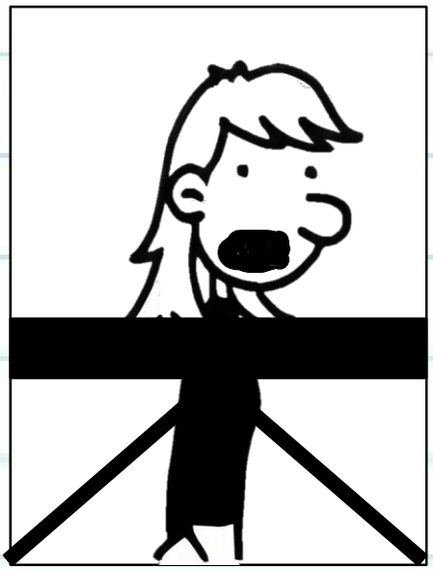
The thuggees tried to climb it, but it was already too late for them for Rowley tipped over the ladder and the trio jumped onto a cave.



The trio then ran as fast as possible and returned to the main temple, were surprisingly, Greg was standing beside the thuggees chanting, as they placed Heather in the CAGE, in the background, the thuggees were tightly grasping Fregely, Puss, Po, Tigress, Rodrick, Kitty and Daniel. Pororo ran up to Greg and said to wake up, but he just gave a slap at him, Pororo then ran and grabbed a torch, burning some of the thuggees but then he came to Greg and said that he was his best friend. Pororo then "burnt" Greg, finally waking up from his dark slumber. Rowley and Pikachu cheered, and getting ready for a fight.

Chapter 9

Saving Heather



As I "woke" up, I grabbed Pororo by the neck. Two thuggees loomed over me, but I yelled, "HEY! He's mine to kill..." And I shoved him to a side and said in a whisper, "I'm ok, no need to worry!" Pororo looked in confusion but then I threw him to the side and punched one the thuggees and the same went for Pororo.

The thuggees who were holding our friends began running towards US! One had a long SPEAR! I hesitated to confront him, so I grabbed the spearhead and then I somehow lifted the spear, and he was levitated and then I threw him into the fiery cavern that separated the sides of the temple, and he was no more. Three thuggees were approaching me but lucky for me, Pikachu did his famous bolt attack, stunning the three thuggees. I went on to the lever to pull Heather down, which right by this moment, she fainted from all the heat of Bashirmia. But another thuggee began pulling me away from the lever, I struggled to get out of the hands of that thuggee, and I saw how he drew his dagger but before he could stab me. Dear Daniel shoved him and began to pin him down, but it looked like he was struggling.

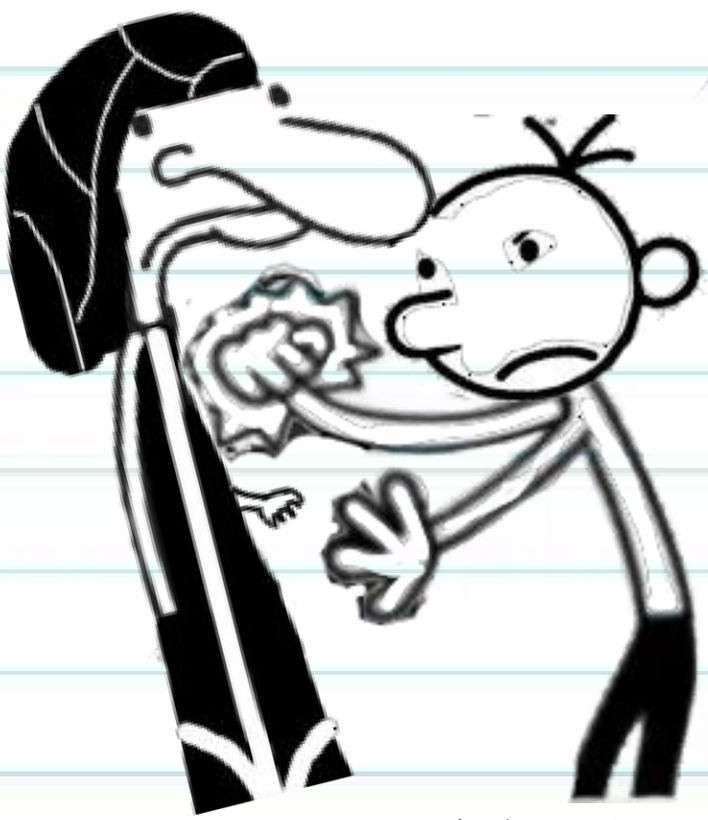
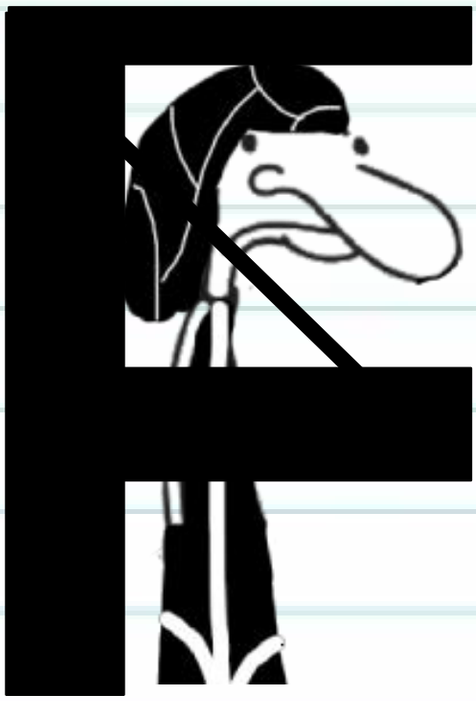
Eventually, the Thuggee came back on his feet but was met with my fist.

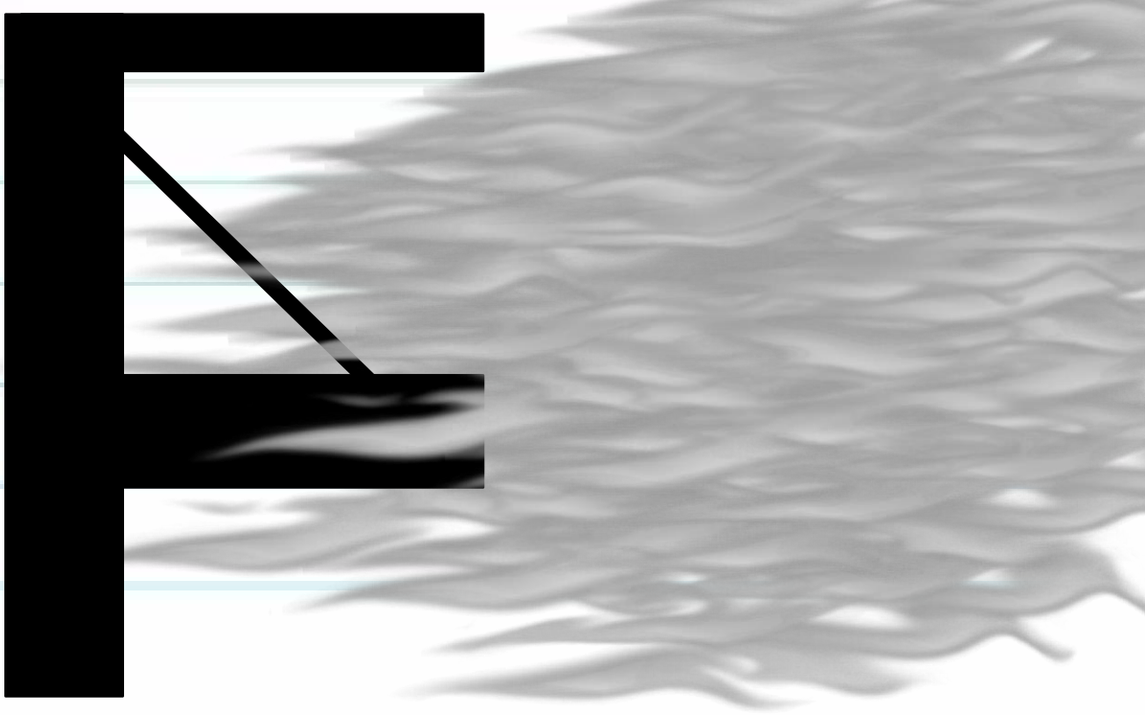


Dear Daniel, now accompanied by Hello Kitty came and began helping me pull the lever. It was slow but then the rest of my team came and pulled the lever.

As soon as Rodrick came in, the cage began to move faster. But then a Thuggee came in with a POISONOUS SWORD. He came charging at us, but Rodrick came in, trying to prevent the Thuggee from KILLING us. By this time, Heather and the cage was back on ground. Rodrick then began pushing the Thuggee into the cage and locked him in.



We couldn't hold the lever anymore, so the cage went back up and Bashirmia released his flame, and the Thuggee was burnt and reduced to atoms.



As the cage lowered with no body, Heather began to wake up. Rodrick hold them, and Heather said weakly but with a firm voice, "thank you for saving me..." After that she got back onto her feet, and he unexpectedly PUNCHED one of the thuggees.

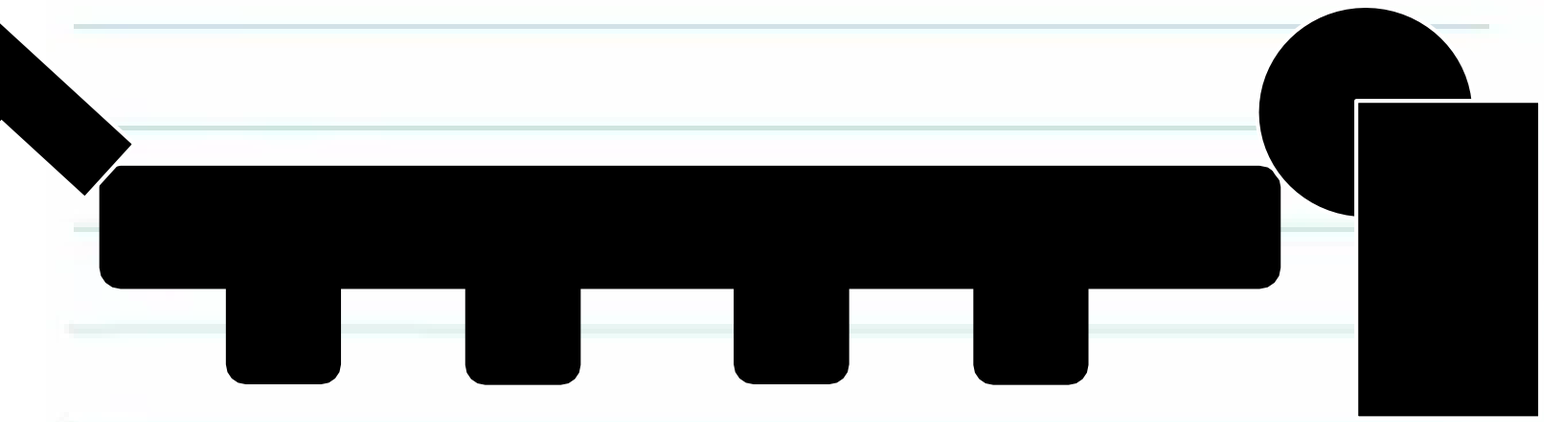
I then ran up to both "The Dark Wizard" and Chirag, but as soon as I tried to get to them, they both escaped by a secret escape door.

I felt very ANGRY for not getting there on time. But I knew I'd meet them soon or later. I called everyone up to tell them that our "adventure" is taking another turn and that we are not going to continue searching for the Spear of Power... For now.

Puss then asked why not... I then replied, "Cuz we are going to save some children! I know where My Melody is! LETS GOOOO!!!!"

Chapter 10

The Children Liberated

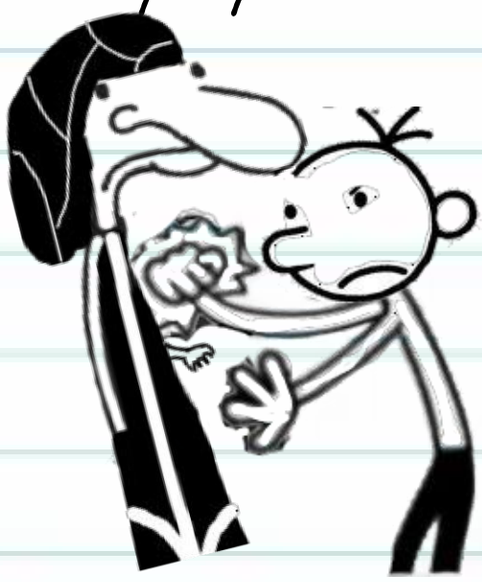


We all walked through the narrow passageway, and I didn't even care about the spiders because we were going to do something BRAVE, and fear of spiders is for WIMPS which I am not anymore. This is truly the END OF THE WIMP!

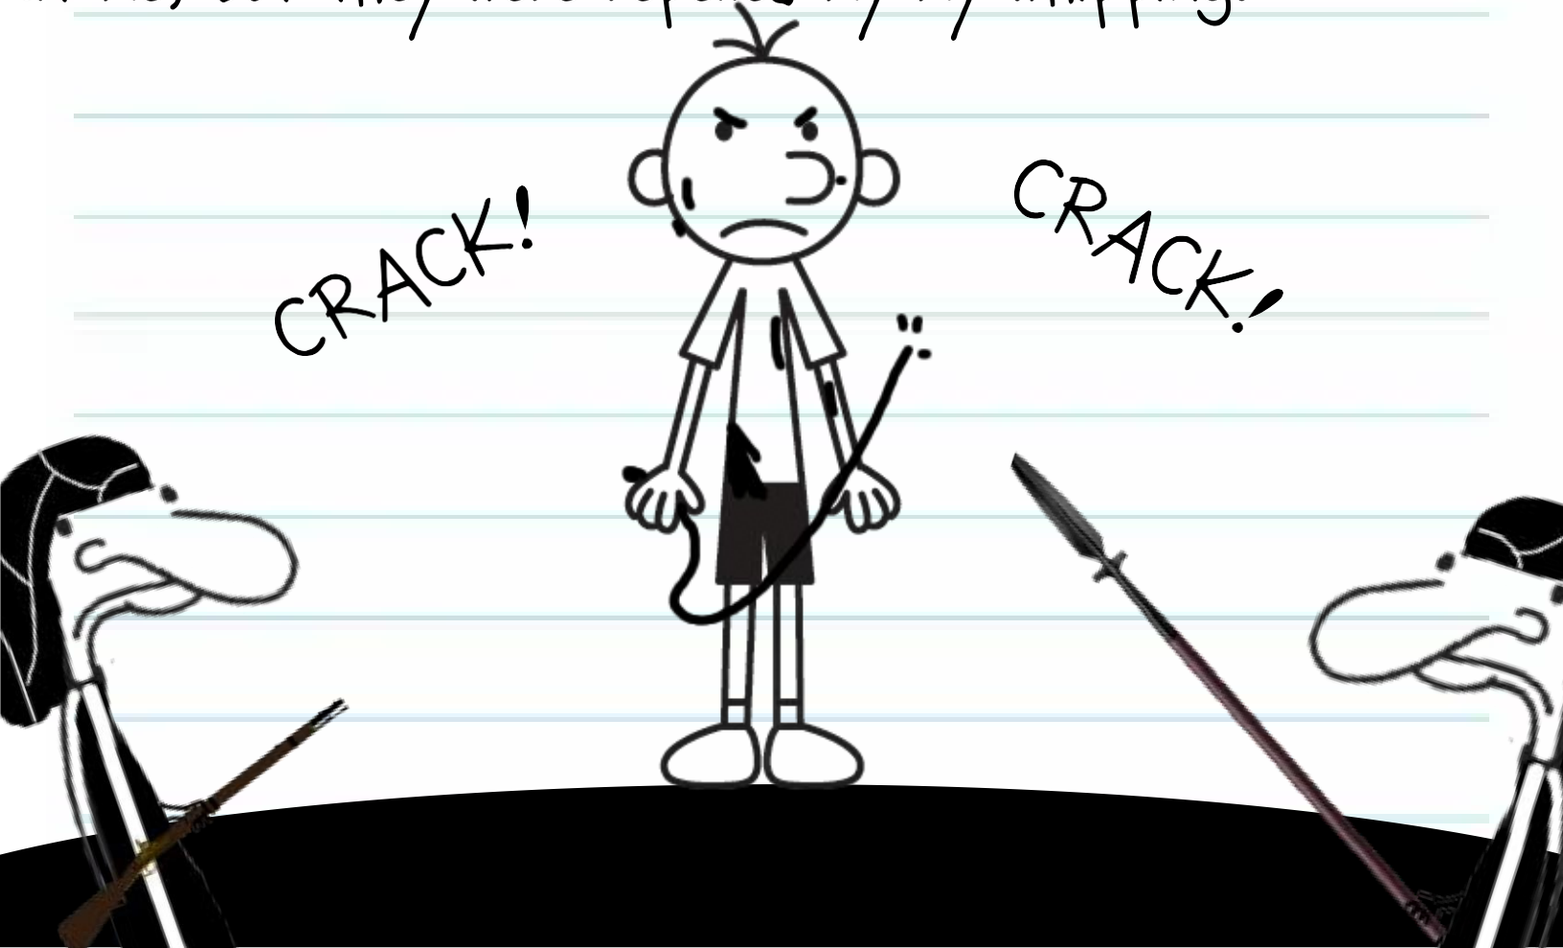
We finally got the window like hole and peered out for a while. Kitty saw her best friend My Melody amidst the scene from last time. We secretly crept out the "window and hid behind some of the rocks." I then planned to figure out how to defeat these thuggees and save all the kids here and defeat this "Dark Wizard" which by thinking on his name gave me a chuckle, because he didn't do anything "wizardy" except with the heart drinking and the plushie torture, but I think that was all from Bashirmia instead of him.

I told everyone my plan and my deception of the Dark Wizard's name and a neural liberation of Chirag's poisoned state. Everyone looked on board and as soon as we finished, we all came out as brave as never before!

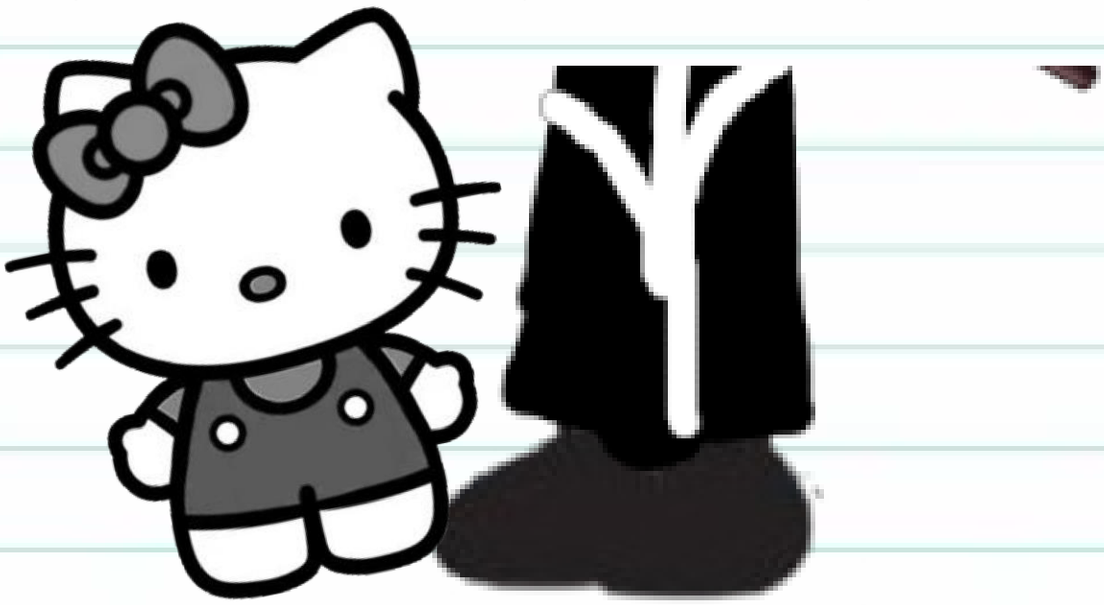
A thuggee saw me, remembering the last time he saw me, he came in charging for the name of the slave driver that was hit in the head (he was still alive) but once again, he was stunned by my fist



I saw that he had a whip, a very long one, so I guess I can take it either as a souvenir for this hellish temple or a tool that would help me. Either way I took it and boy did I look like INDIANA JONES as I stared at the three thuggees who were charging right at me, but they were repelled my my whipping.

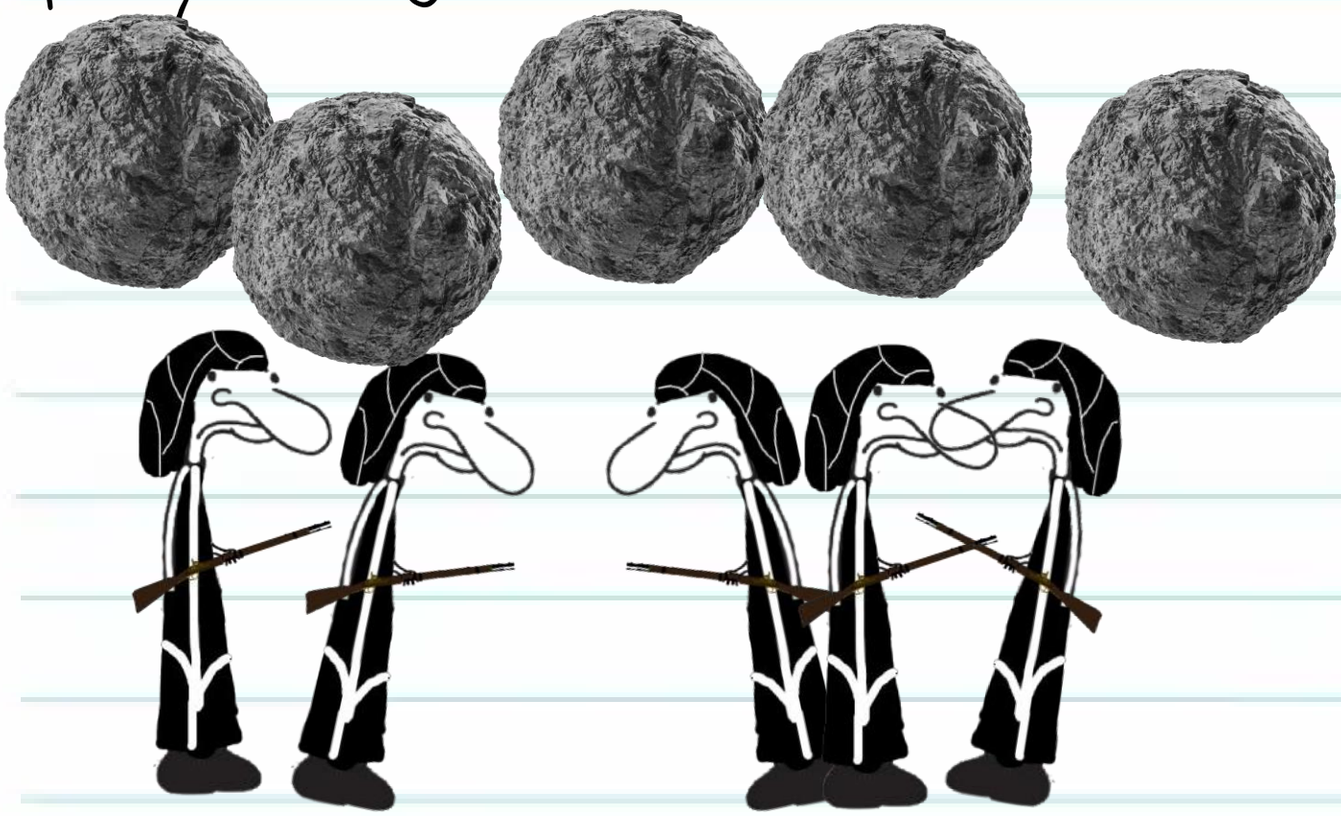


After a few whips, Heather along with Hello Kitty came in and Heather Hills said, in a fury, "How DARE YOU RUIN MY VACATION!" And punched the Thuggee in the chest, Kitty then came in and stomped on his foot, saying, "How dare you enslave my best friend!"

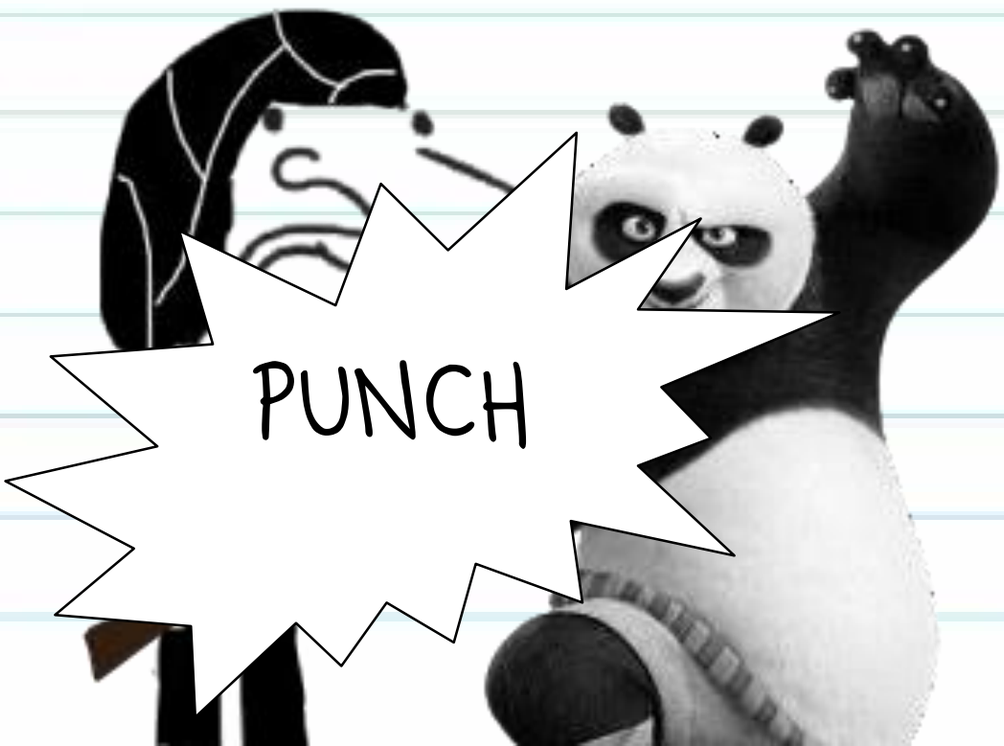


After that, all the children went BEZERK! They began running and trampling on all the thuggees, even with their sharper whips penetrating their skin, they continued to trample on them to DEATH!

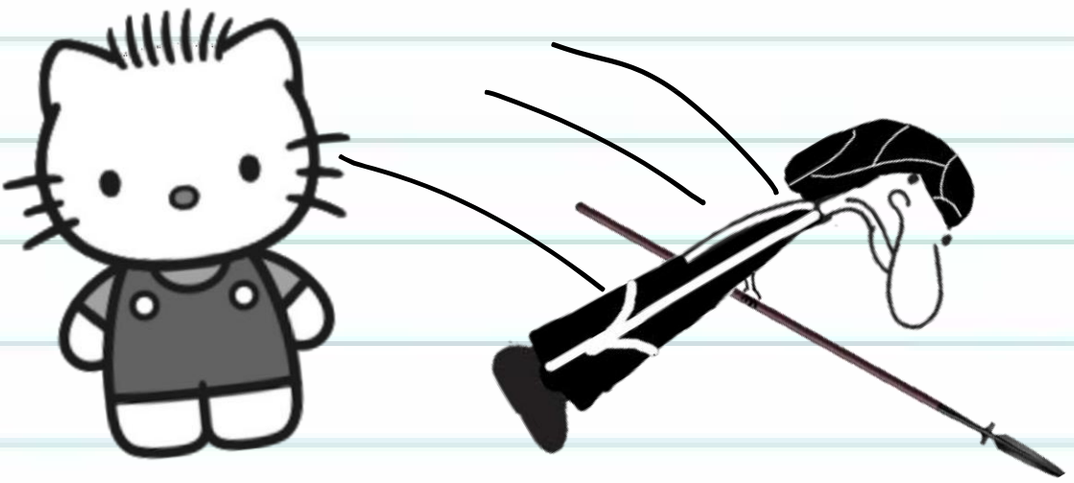
Five thuggees with muskets came in for re-enforce the other thuggees who were struggling to retain the kids from escaping, but it wasn't necessary for a bunch of kids released an avalanche of stones and medium sized boulders, completely crushing them all.



I then saw that ash was being brought by some of the kids which I found out by Pororo when he, along with Pikachu was cheering out for his save. But then a big Thuggee came in, but lucky for me, Po punched him.



By now, all the children, both real and crossover had escaped, thank god and we were about to find both Chirag and the "Dark Wizard" but as soon as we were about to leave, My Melody came in running and began hugging her best friend, Hello Kitty. It was cute seeing back together, but then another Thuggee came in rushing but then Dear Daniel pulled out his foot and whistled, the Thuggee then tripped and looked like he too far from being alive.



With that, Hello Kitty and Dear Daniel ran up to each other, and began hugging each other, I could hear very faintly because they were whispering, "thank you for protecting me." And then, they gave two kisses, one from Dear Daniel on Kitty's nose and Kitty gave one on the nose on Daniel too. It was pretty cute, and it also astonished me that even affectionate love can be transmitted even with out wanting to have... Sex... or flirting. Maybe that's where I went wrong with Holly Hills! I knew I should've gone slow with her, start out with friendly hellos and little kisses on non-sexual-erecting areas of the body! Well, anyways, we were now about to leave but then, the LEAD Thuggee, the one that I threw a rock at. And he looked mad and when I mean mad, I MEAN mad. He walked up to me and crossed his arms, giving a menacing look to me

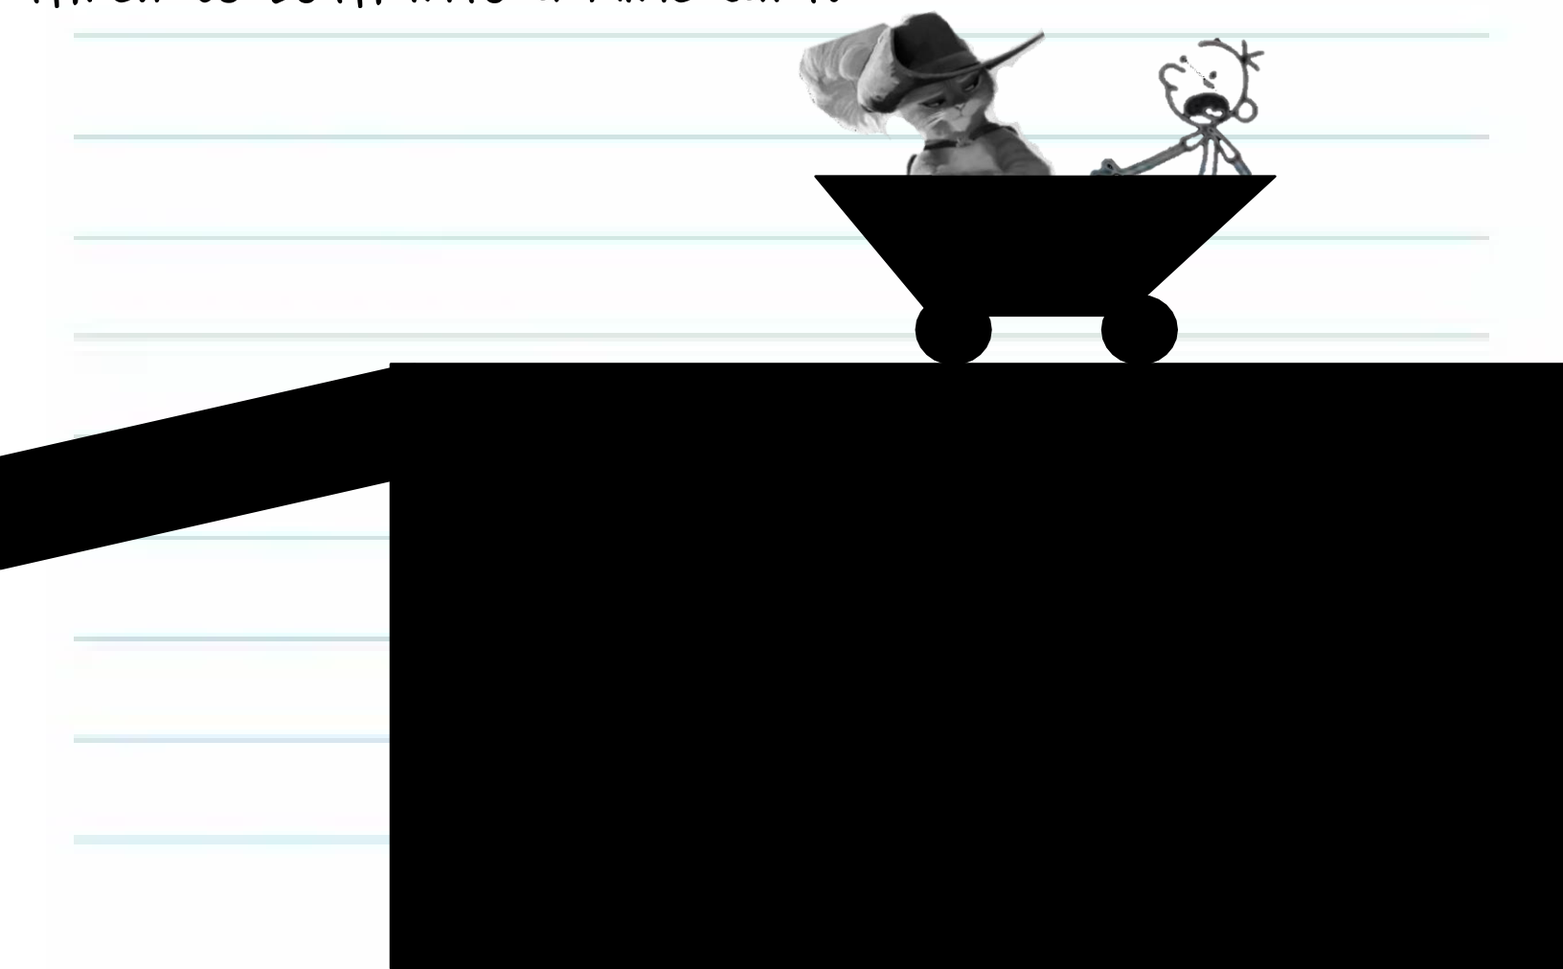
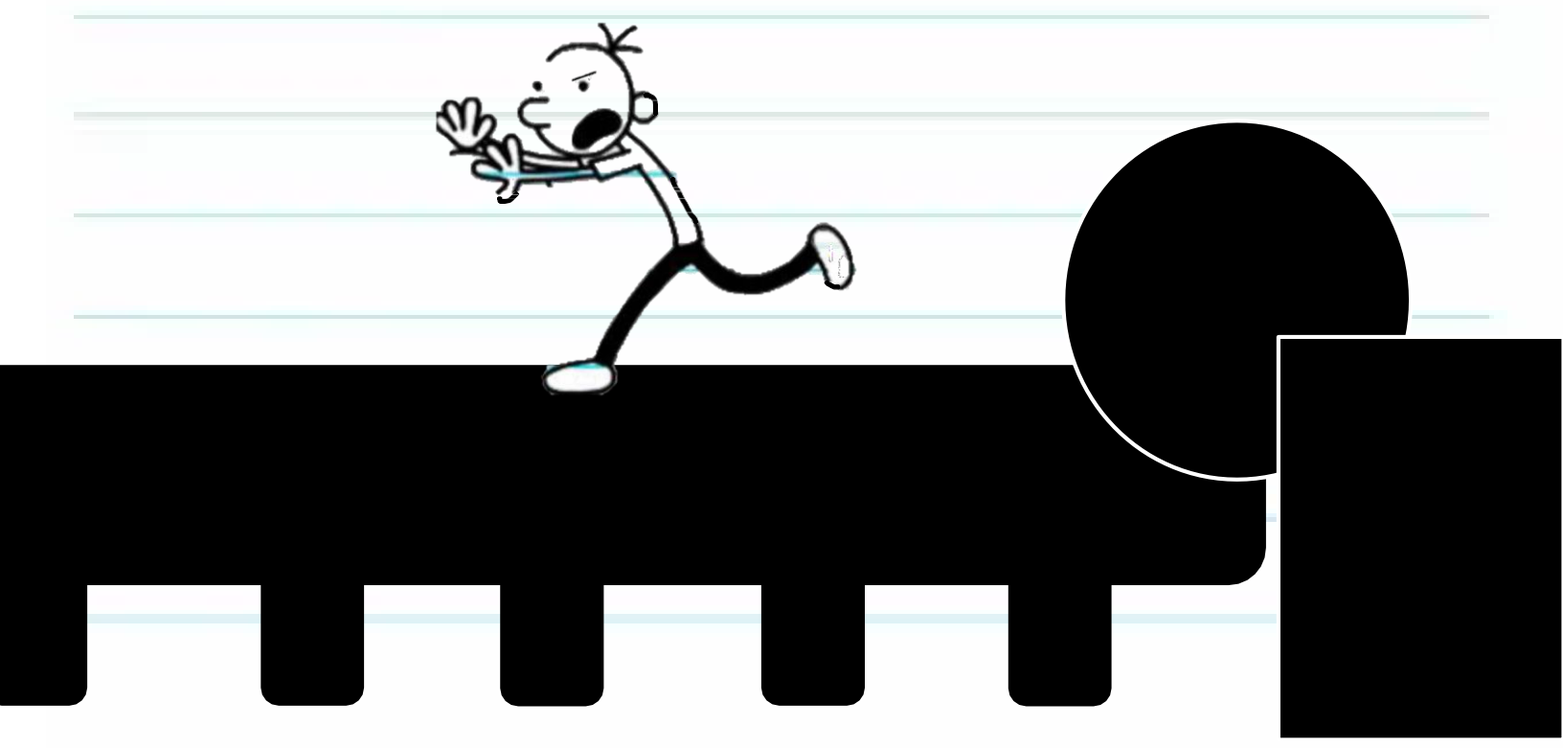
He then proceeded to pick both me and Puss and threw us both into a mine cart.



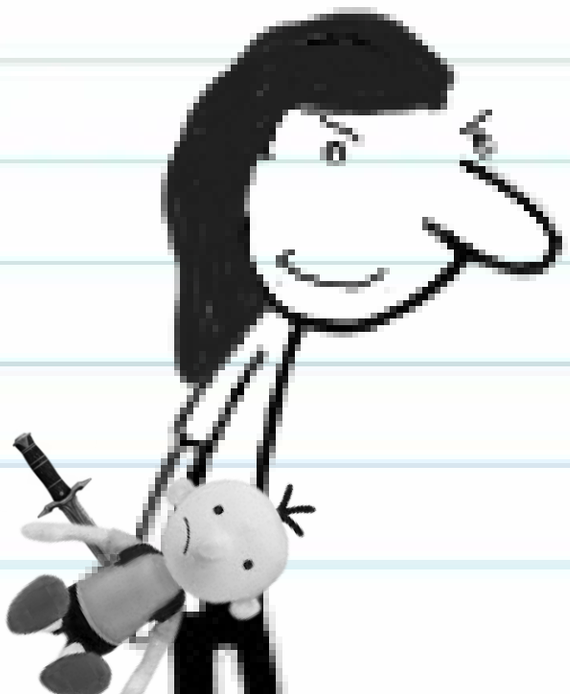
He then began to push it, I don't know WHERE, but he was bringing us somewhere. But after a little while, the rails began to shake, and we all fell onto some kind of CONVEYER BELT!

It took me a while to regain my balance, and then I saw what was leading for US, it was a big rock and metal CRUSHER and a FURNACE!!!! There were many rocks still present, and they were being CHIPPED off into very micro pieces. I panicked, but I decided to fight fighting this slave driver.



I beat up that driver well, I may have made him unconscious. Puss also did his job well; the driver had many cuts on his legs and then jumped off the roller. But as soon as I was about to give him one FINAL blow, I felt a sharp sting piercing my back!

The pain then went right to my BRAIN! Now I know how a lobotomy feels like! Anyways I found out that Chirag still had that plush of me and was using to sabotage my fight!



I yelled HELP, and that's when Pororo decided to step in.

Chapter 11

Pororo Helps

As Pororo heard my help, he saw Chirag from a high point and began running. Another sharp pierce went now through my COCK and damn, I felt like I just got CASTRATED. Then the driver punched me right in my balls and that just wanted me to PEE.

Pororo continued running and held on to a contraption that worked as an ELEVATOR for him. After a while, he jumped off the contraption and landed onto a platform. Two thuggees saw him and began running towards him. Pororo then ducked under one the thuggee's and passed through them.

Pororo then jumped onto another platform in which Chirag Gupta was located.

I do not know how long I had to endure this pain but BOY! I really need this PAIN TO END!!!!! I WAS GETTING NEAR THE ROLLER AND I COULD ALREADY SEE MY INTERNAL ORAGNS STUCK ONTO THAT ROLLER!!!! JESUS CHRIST, HELP ME!!! I AM LOOKING FOR AN ARTIFACT THAT WAS SUPPOSEDLY PART OF YOUR DAD'S BOOK, ATLEAST SAVE ME!!!!!!!

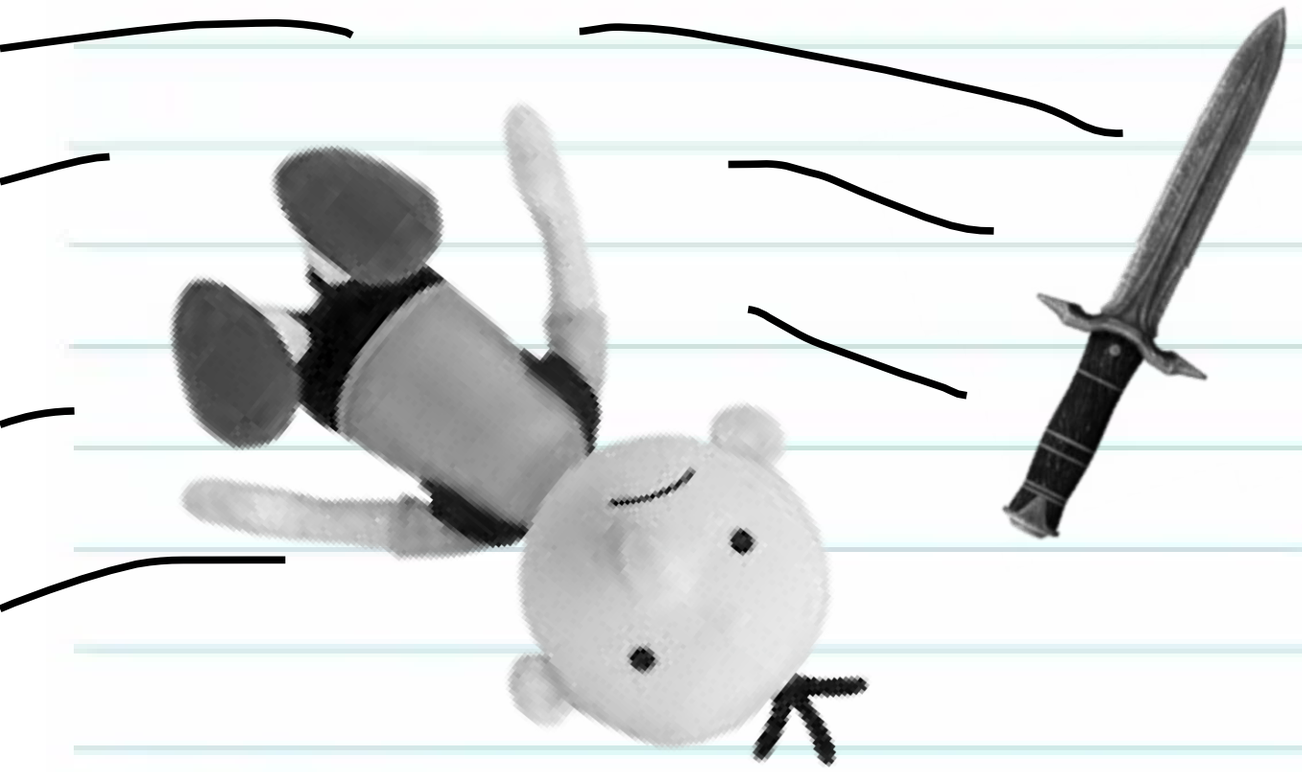
But before I was turned into ground meat. My prayers were heard! Pororo PUNCHED Chirag and the dagger went flying out of that cursed plush.



I rose from my poor state and gave the driver my final PUNCH!

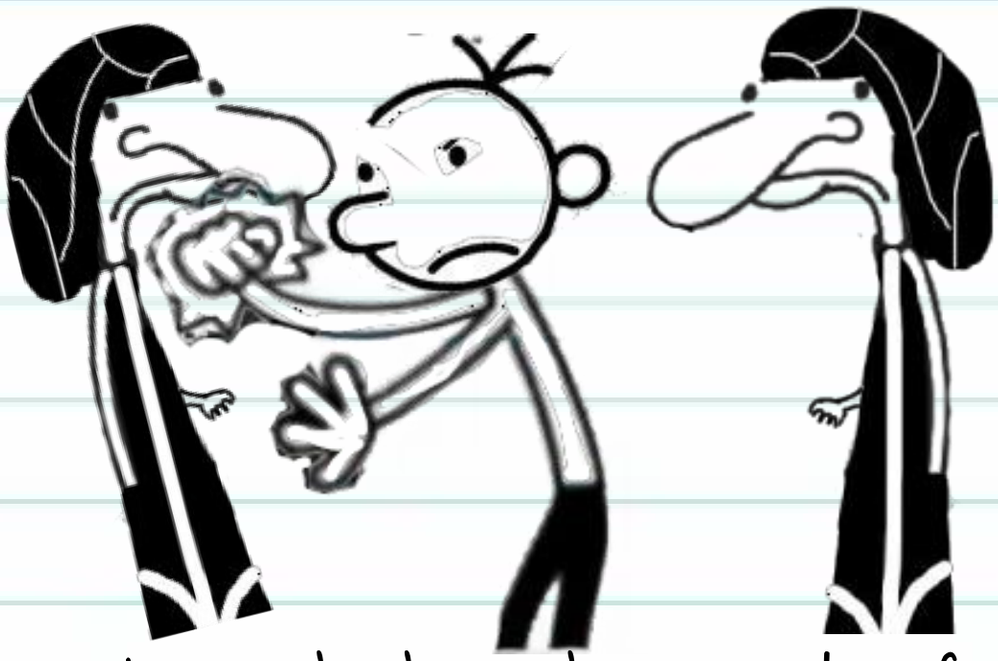
The Driver then fell to the ground and was very near the rock crusher roller. I got out my whip and hung it over a lamp and jumped onto a platform. And from there I saw what could've been my terrible fate.

I am just not gonna describe you because it's very disturbing. Anyways, the driver screamed as his robes got stuck to the roller and it began to drag him. The sounds of bones breaking was very loud and everyone on my team turned around to not look at it. After 5 seconds, I turned around to see that the roller was filled with blood, I could also hear plopping sounds of the remains of the driver. I do not want to see his body after THAT scene.

After everyone recovered from this scene. I saw the two thuggees that wanted to kill Pororo, and I grabbed onto the musket of the first thuggee, and he shot the contraption of the crusher. Immediately, everything stopped working on that thing and everything of that machine just EXPLODED.

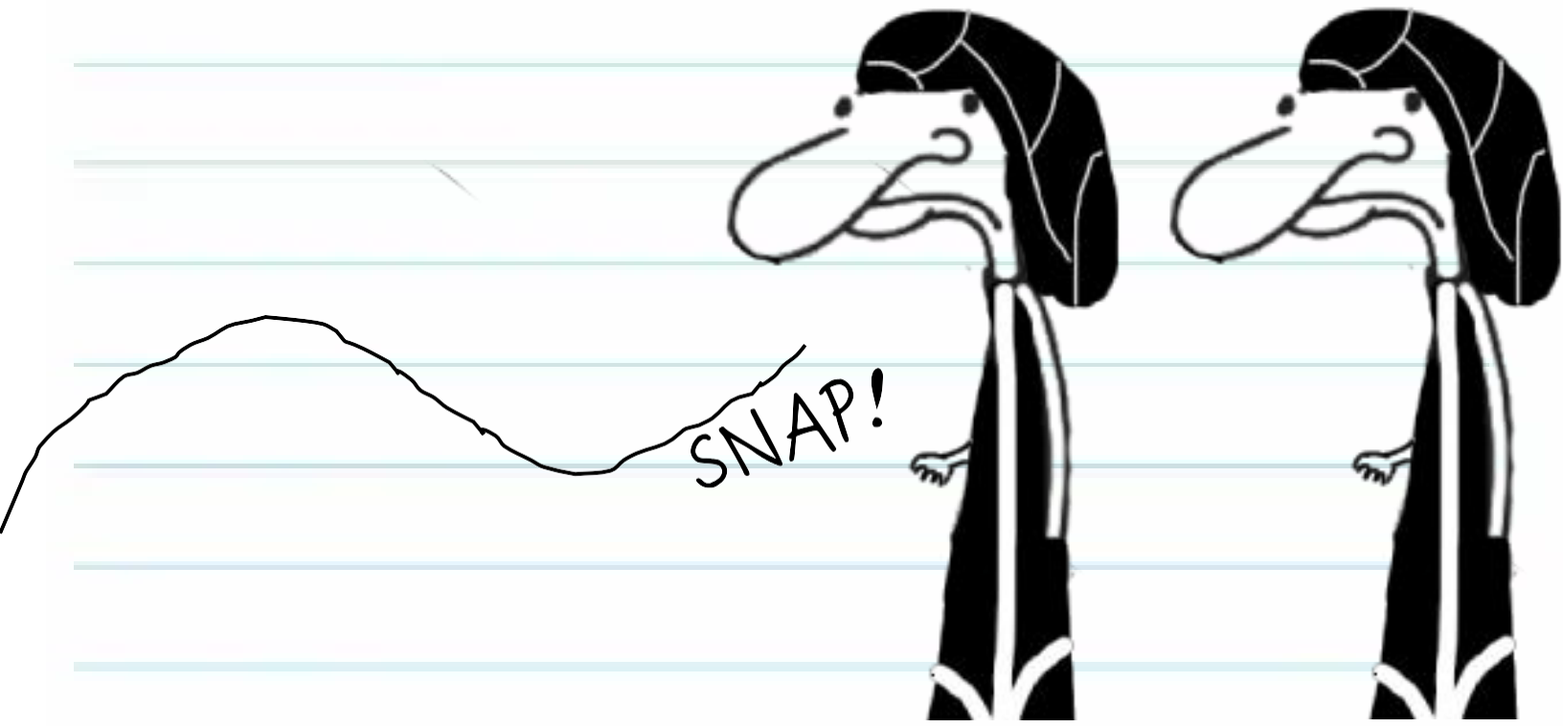
This wasn't the end story, well at least for Pororo. Chirag, pushed in into a side and grabbed the dagger that used to be in that plush and held it ready to STAB him. Chirag's eyes were bright yellow at this point. This then gave Pororo an IDEA. He grabbed a nearby torch and shoved it right at Chirag's face. The yellow eyes began to vanish as he twisted and turned. The dagger fell out of his hand and fell into the fire where the crusher used to be. And then Chirag fell, laying there lifeless. But then he began to wake up.

As Chirag woke up from his dark slumber, asking where he is. Pororo then hugged him final happy that the last salvageable victim of The Blood of the Damned was saved. Chirag then saw me there fighting those thuggees.

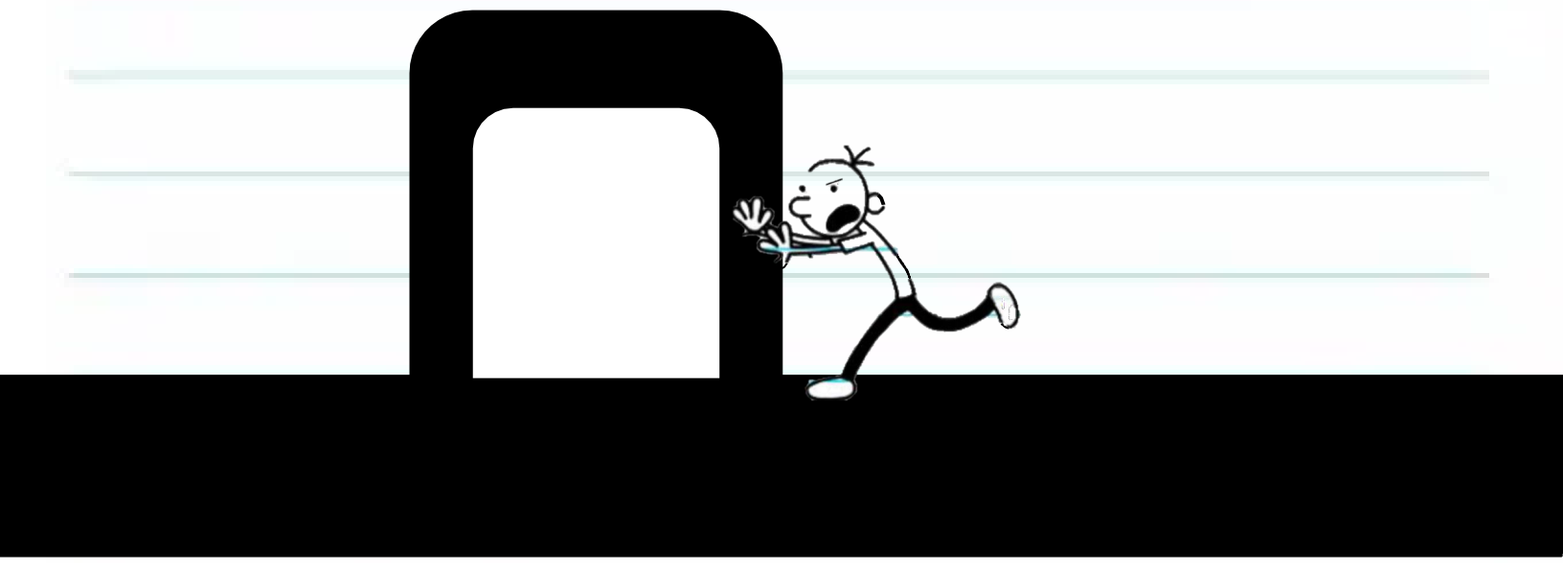


I was struggling with those thuggees, but from a distance, I saw our salvation. A small crack that probably could fit all of US!

I told all of my gang to RUN to that crack as fast as possible. I got out my whip and repelled the two thuggees and then made a run for it



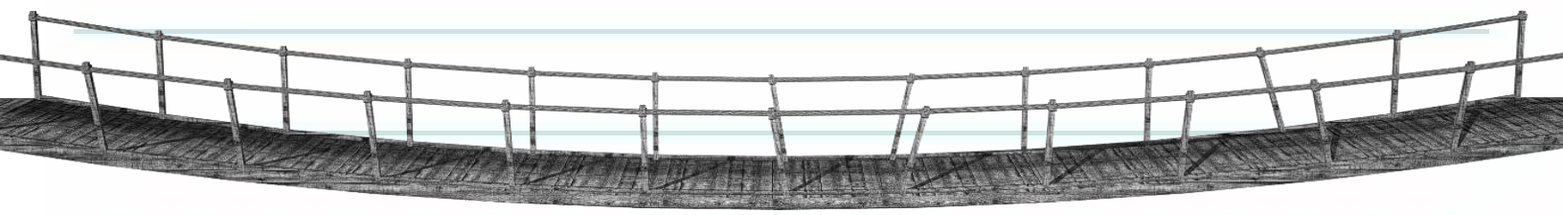
As I ran, I saw a lamp and I flung my whip and locked it in! I then swung. The thuggees were shooting with everything their everything they had but somehow I EVATED it all! I Then finished my swing and jumped on a rocky terrain. I ran as fast as possible and finally entered that hole and finally escaped THE SECRET TEMPLE!!!



What I didn't know was that the "Dark Wizard" finally came to the scene and saw ME escape. He then commanded to shoot me and lucky for me. I already escaped with my gang.

Chapter 12

The Rope Bridge



I finally got out of that cursed and CRAZY ASS temple and out into the wild. The thing was that I was parted from my fellowship. I was all ALONE. The trees were very high and almost the sun was completely blocked. I walked and walked but I felt like I went nowhere. The only thing that showed me I wasn't near the temple was that the crack was no where to be seen.

As I continued, I began to sweat. My legs began to wobble and my eyes were beginning to shut. This part of my adventure was only the beginning and I already felt weak and worn out.

I couldn't anymore so I just dropped freely... And entered a deep slumber... Everything was just black. Until I saw myself in a hallway, but not any hallway. It was the hallway of my HIGH SCHOOL... YES GUYS I AM NO MORE IN MIDDLE SCHOOL. Anyways, my surroundings were pretty dark in lighting. But it was like a memory. Then I saw myself, entering the gym section of the school, but it wasn't for PE class but it for the valentines dance party. Even in my dreams I could feel the shiver. My dream self walked up to Holly to ask her if she could dance with me. And that's when I was officially DUMPED. She just looked at me and then walked to this ultra SIGMA that looked so plastic in terms of his body (ultra Andrew Tate Style). I couldn't believe it.

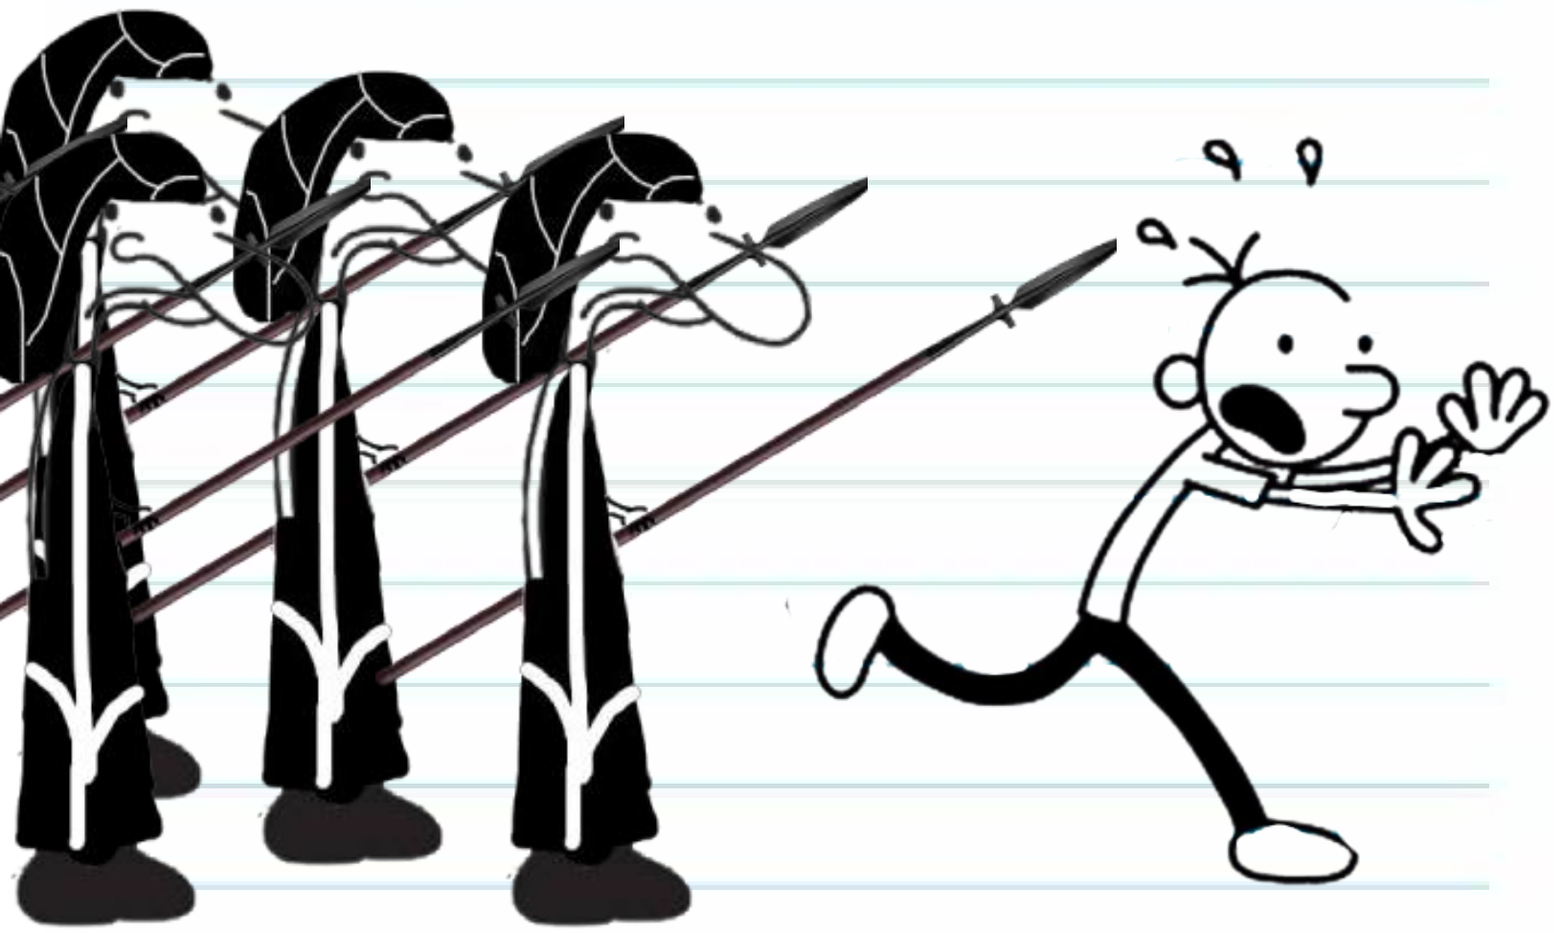
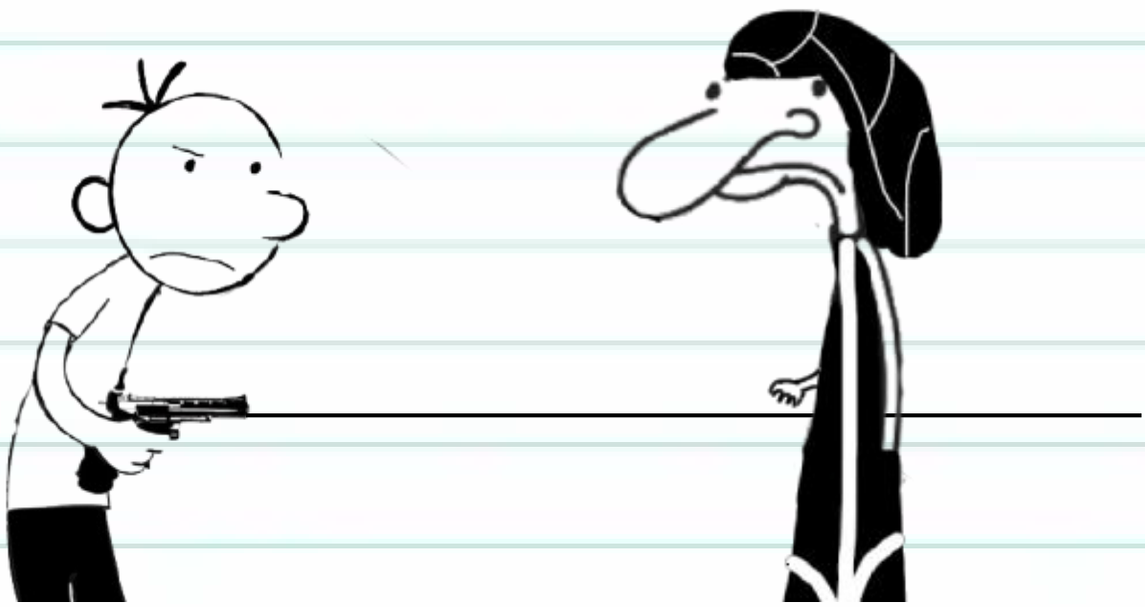
She went out with me for two months and just DUMPED me on the most romantic day of the year. Then things went fading until it was all black.

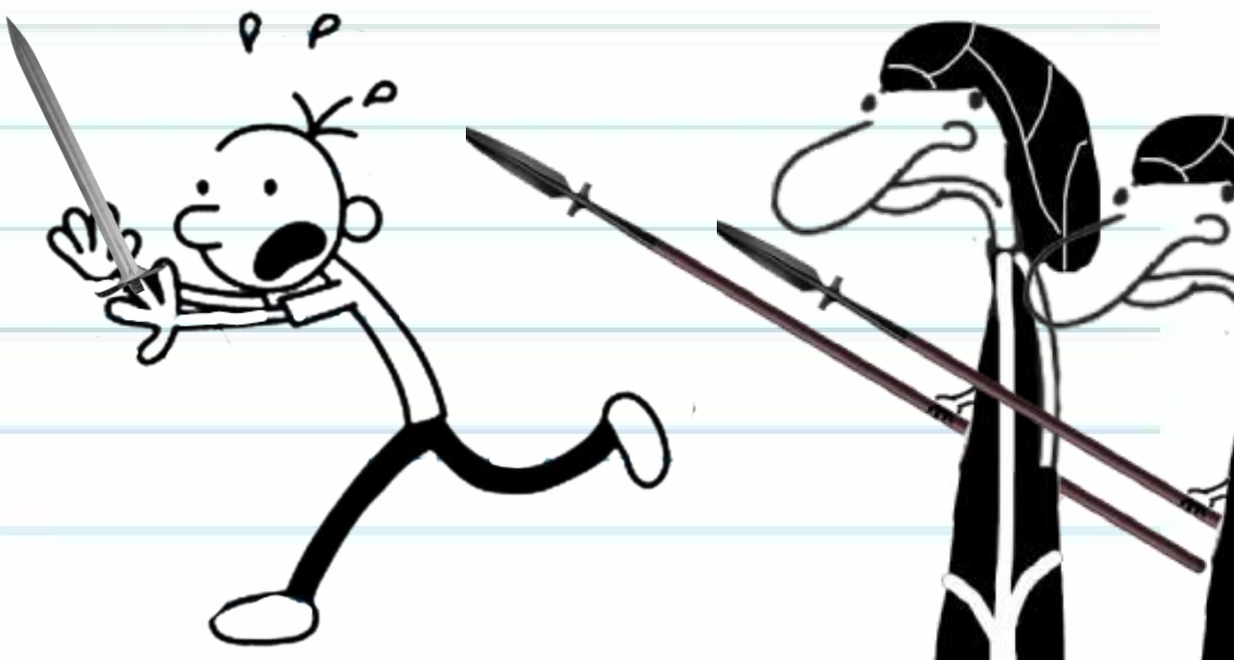
I then woke up to the sound of clamor. It was a gigantic group of THUGGEES running towards me. That's when I found out we were being LOOKED FOR! I was pretty worn out so I just RAN for it!!!!



I just ran and ran... Until there was one Thuggee that just JUMPED onto my face, completely out of nowhere. I retained myself and tried to salvage my clam. After a second passed. I drew my pistol and just shot the Thuggee in the chest.

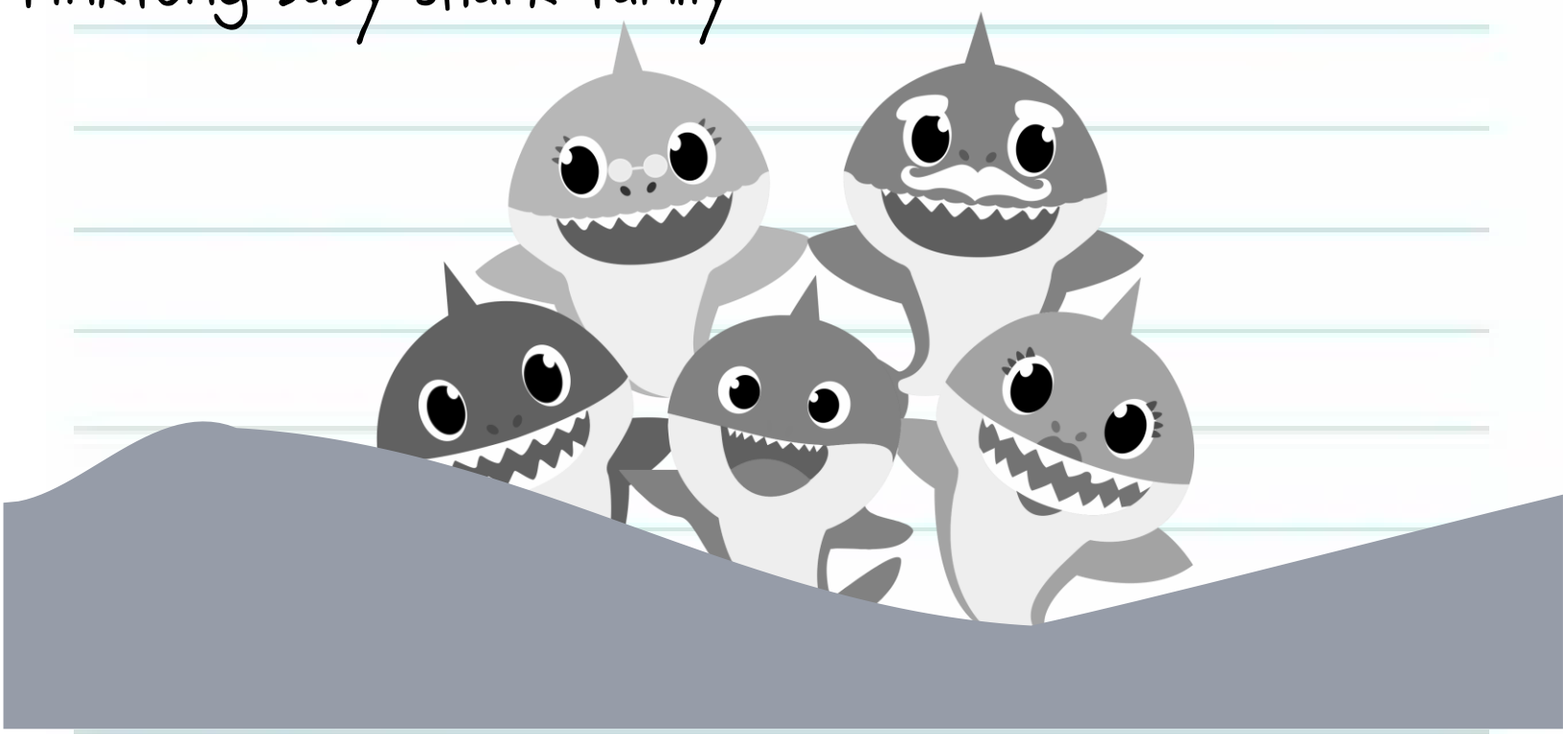


After I killed that one Thuggee, I grabbed his sword and began running towards the gigantic group. But then my WIMPYNESS returned.



I ran as FAST as possible and got to the rope bridge where the group was. I saw them but not them. They thought they were safe. But Heather was pretty skeptical about walking this bridge but Pororo was peeping that it was safe. For a while people believed him as he jumped on the bridge, but on the third jump, the wood broke. PORORO WAS FALLING!!!! Lucky for him, Fregely, along with Hello Kitty, dear Daniel, and My Melody held on to him. They dragged Pororo back into stable ground. Rodrick peeked on the mini "River" which was a part of the ocean that acted like a river, parting the island into a "two" in the water... It wasn't alligators like in the movie that I JUST LIVED. But it was worse.

It was sharks... not just any sharks... it was the Pinkfong baby shark family



Rodrick acted pretty surprised, which was weird. The spear did bring in crossovers, so there SHOULD be some in the sea! So, I also guess that he entire finding Nemo cast should also be there. IDK...

Anyways, for some reason, instead of then looking "cute" in their annoying fashion, they looked more unhinged. As if they were tired of eating their normal food and were craving for some HUMAN FLESH!!! I ran to the bridge as well as the group.

Heather Hills was the first to RUN as fast as possible, but she was stopped by The "Dark" Lord were she SCREAMED!!!!

The dark lord slowly said, welcome...

I was already at the mid point that I saw him. From that point on, things went CRAZY! First off, he began to escort my gang to area of the bridge where I was.

I was in a way furious so I decided to threaten him to throw out the Spear of Power. I should've known that he never really cared about it because The Dark Wizard said, "HA , that stupid spear can be found, YOU WON'T! OLDINGA!" And from those chilling words, eight thuggees began walking slowly towards me, four on the left, and four on the right. I placed the spear back on my back and got out the sword that I "stole" from a Thuggee, threatening them to cut the bridge. I then began to tie my hand to a loose rope. Rodrick saw me and told the others to do it in a whisper. Heather saw how I raised the sword... She began to say, "oh my gawd... oh my god, oh my god, IS HE NUTS?????????????"

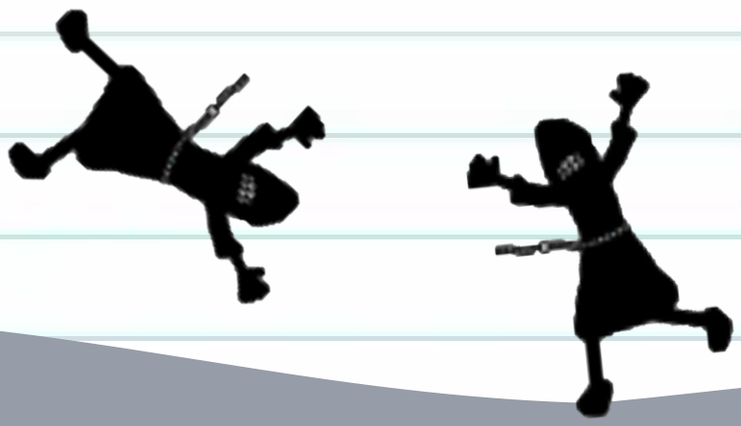
Pororo chimed and said, "He's not nuts, he's..." and then everyone said, "MENTALLY INSTABLE!!!"

I blocked off that insult and went on to say, "You with no name, Dark 'Wizard', prepare to meet bashimira, in HELL...

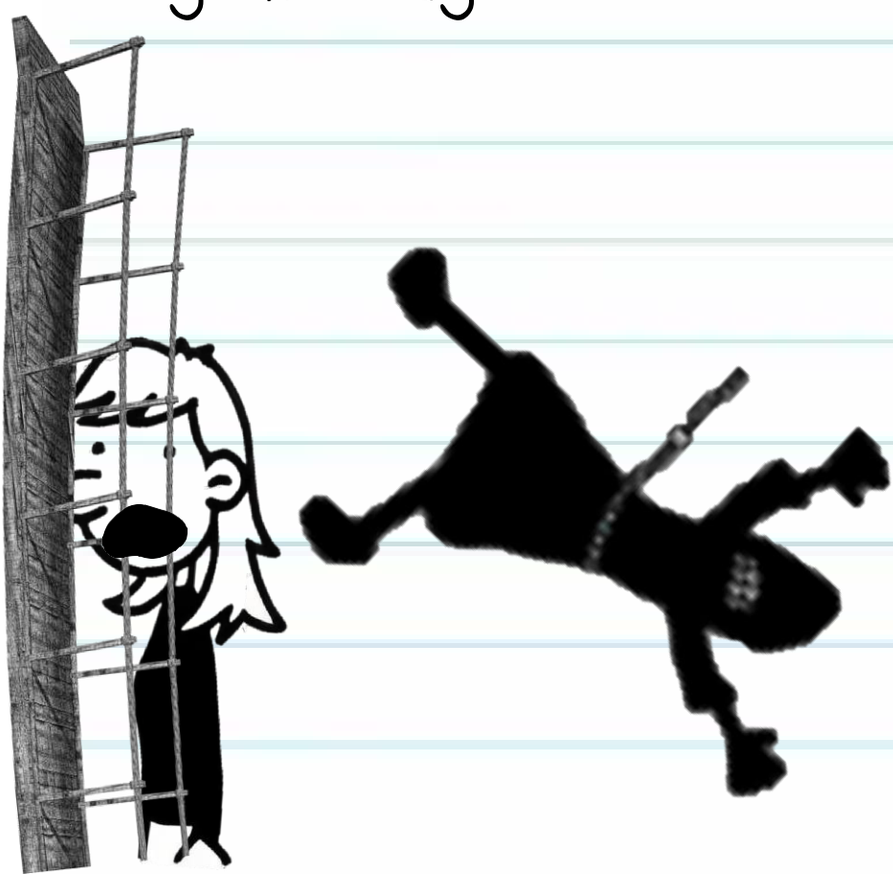
The sword I had in my hand fell onto the rope, and very hard, and then things went out of hand... the bridge was now in two...

Me, Rodrick, Pororo, and Heather, along with that Dark Wizard and two thuggees held on to the rope bridge.

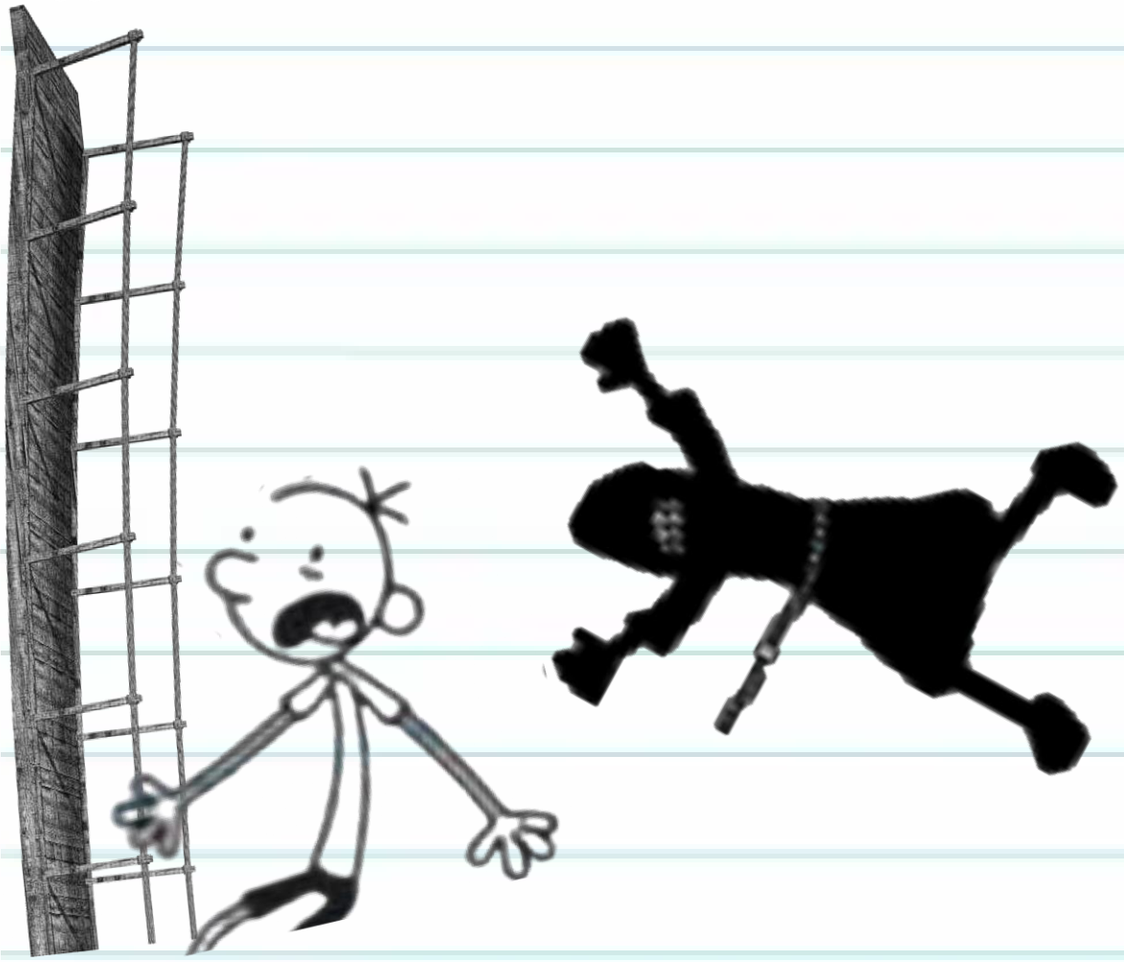
The only ones who weren't hanging on was Kitty, My Melo and Dear Daniel who lucky for them were on stable ground. Also Pikachu was on stable ground with Rowley, Fregely and Chirag. Same for Po and tigress. The thuggees who were on the bridge fell into the crystal clear water and were eaten immediately by the pink fong sharks.



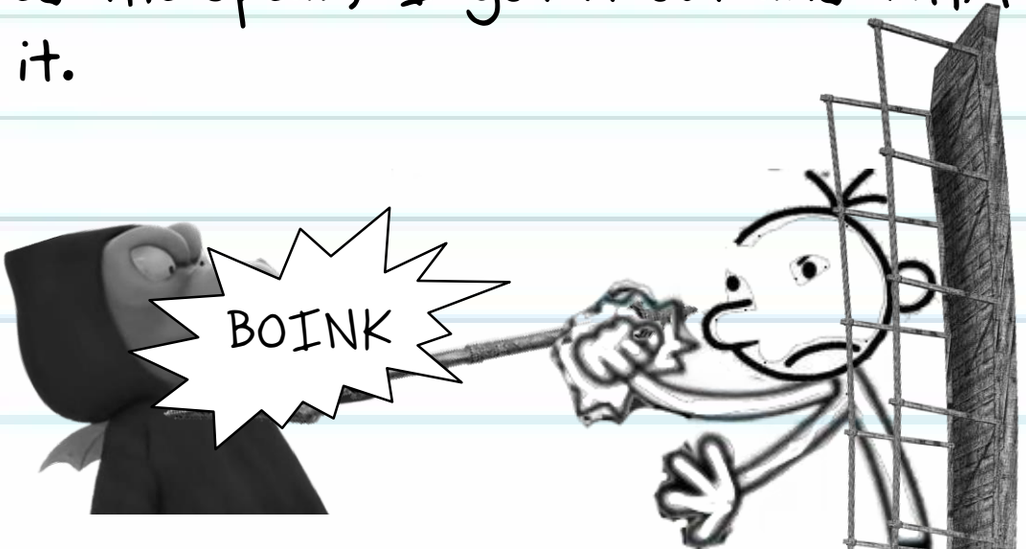
The blue water turned all red from the blood of the thuggees, Heather turned around in fear and disgust, climbing the bridge.



Me and the Dark Wizard began to have a slight fist fight. It looked bleak for the both of us. But then The Dark Wizard climbed a few steps, just to throw a Thuggee at me.



The Thuggee HIT me, putting me off balance but luckily for me I held on. The Dark WIZARD continued to climb but his head was HIT by Rodrick, Pororo and Heather. After a while, he fell and we were all entangled. He began to punch me, but then I remembered the spear, I got it out and WHACKED him with it.



the "Wizard", shocked by the hit, lost his grip and fell. I saw how he fell, he hit his head twice and then making his final hit on the WATER, I think he was already dead from the hit on the rock, but his body seems to be moving as the sharks began to tear his body apart, lucky for everyone. He was covered in robes so we only got to see the clothes ripped and not the body itself.

Some surviving thuggees began to use arrows, javelins and some had their muskets but they weren't as effective as the ancient styled ones. But lucky for all of us. Chirag led a batch of some Isla Paradiso guards, all with auto rifles and were led by, (feels weird but we are in a crossover Island) Doraemon. They were already there to regulate and calm the calamity the children who recently escaped. The guards were SHOOTING at all the thuggees one by one fell into the water, becoming food for the SHARKS. After a minute or two, it was all over. The Bashimira cult was finally over.

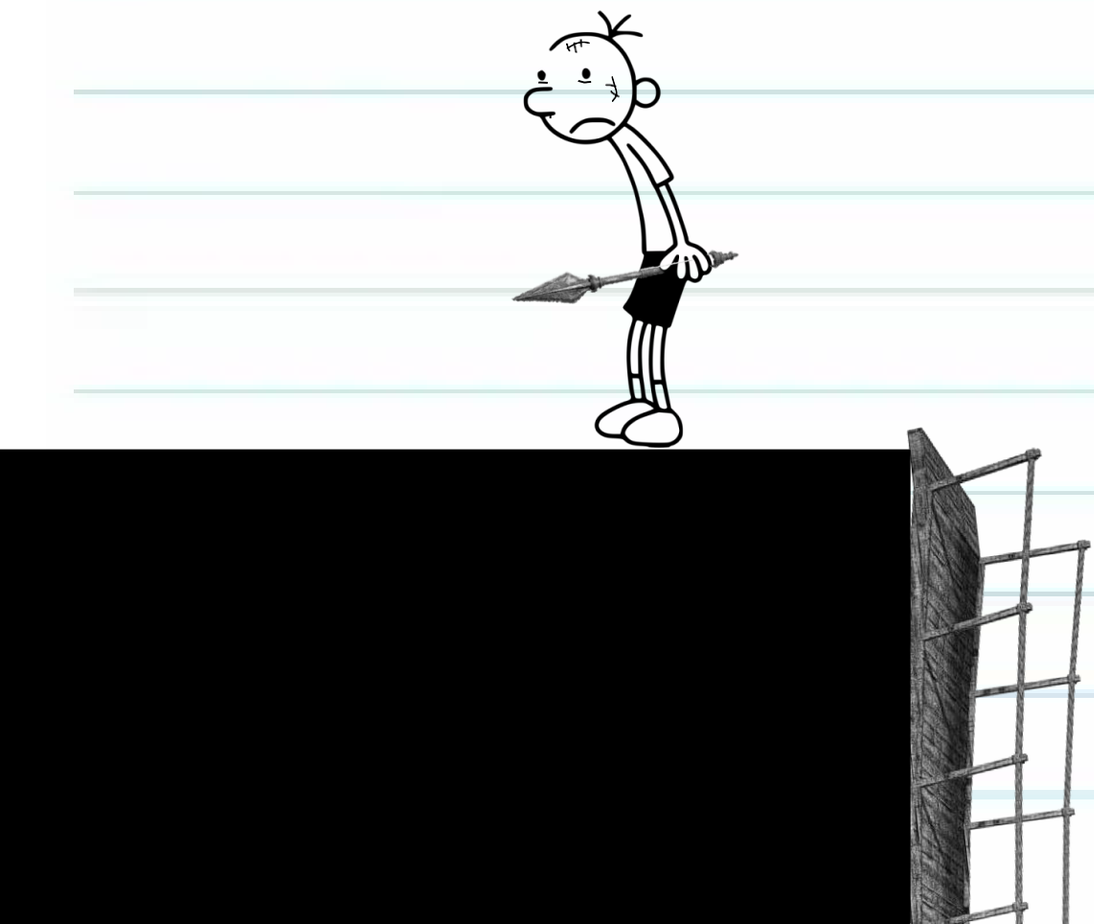
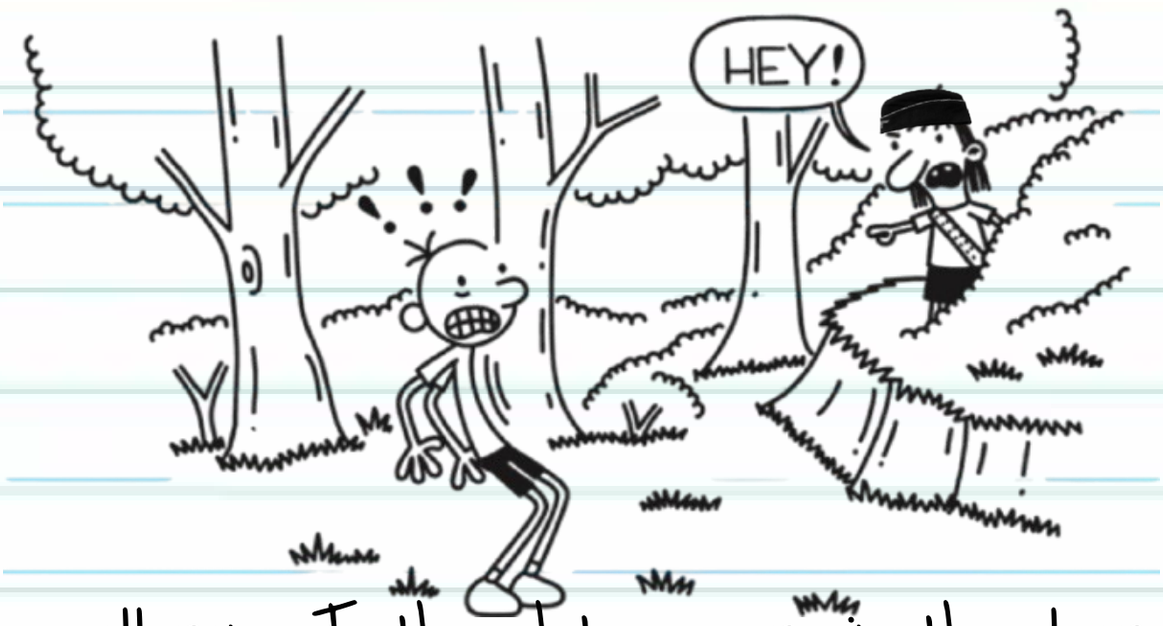
Everyone from my gang looked to see If I had the spear and GUESS WHAT! I did have it!



We all cheered that this part of the adventure was finally OVER. But then we heard another gunshot and decided it was better to leave.

Chapter 13

The other great escape



As we all ran, I thought we were in the clear. I was finally happy to outrun all of those crazy neo Nazis led by some kid who got angry because of some suitcase swap. And same for this weird cult who had some kind of fixation on child SLAVERY.

Anyways, I am happy that we are probably going to have at least a WHILE of peace and tranquility. Something that I was LONGING for ever since I came to this resort.

As we ran, I was stopped by the commander of the "battalion" that exterminated the remaining Thuggees... It was Doraemon, he stopped us and greeted me in his fashion. I actually found out his name because he told me. Doraemon is VERY uncommon in American audiences in the terms of anime, it is shown that he and his gang (in terms of his mangas, animes etc..) is more popular in INDIA. It is very weird but ok, returning back to story. He came and told me to be careful, he continued with, "The Kid is searching for you, he thinks you are either dead or in the state of place you are, ESCAPING. I have set up some water planes that would accommodate all of you. But be careful there are still those neo Nazis still looming around. So I leave you to your luck."

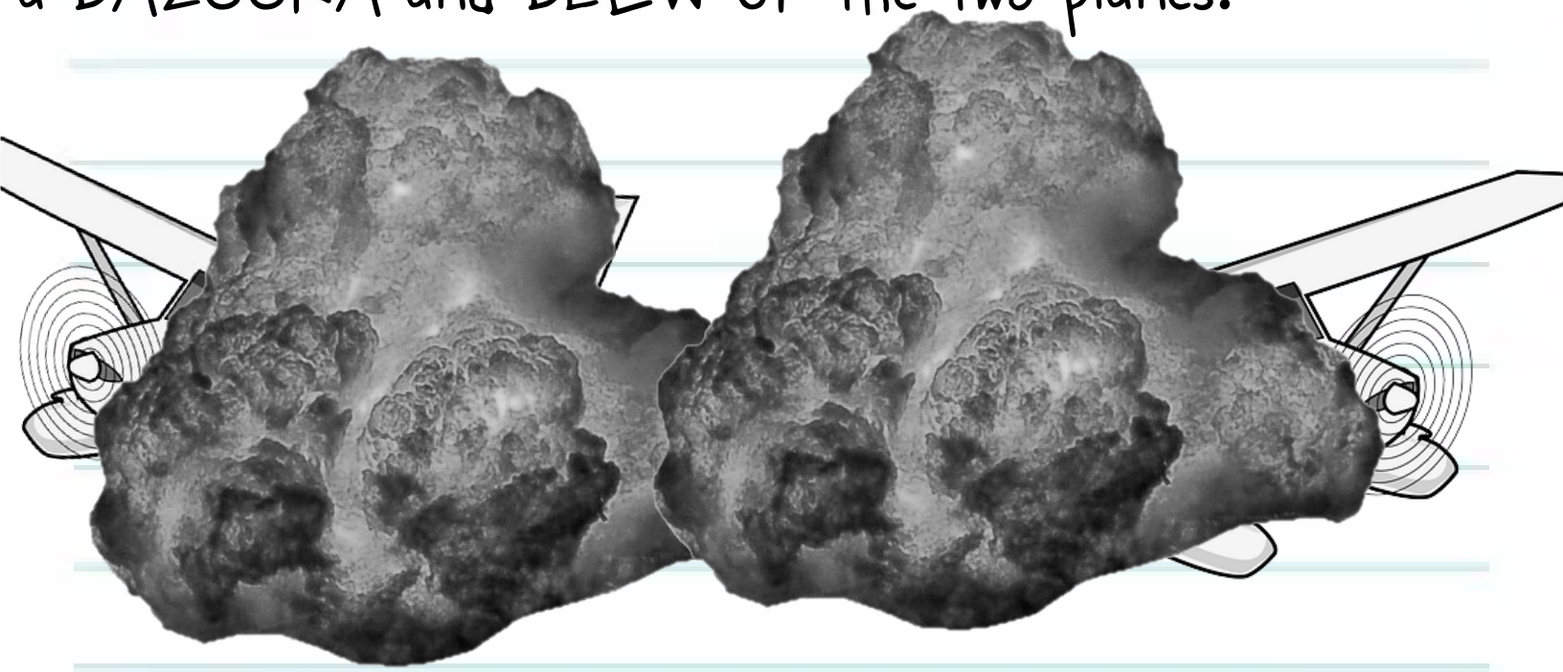
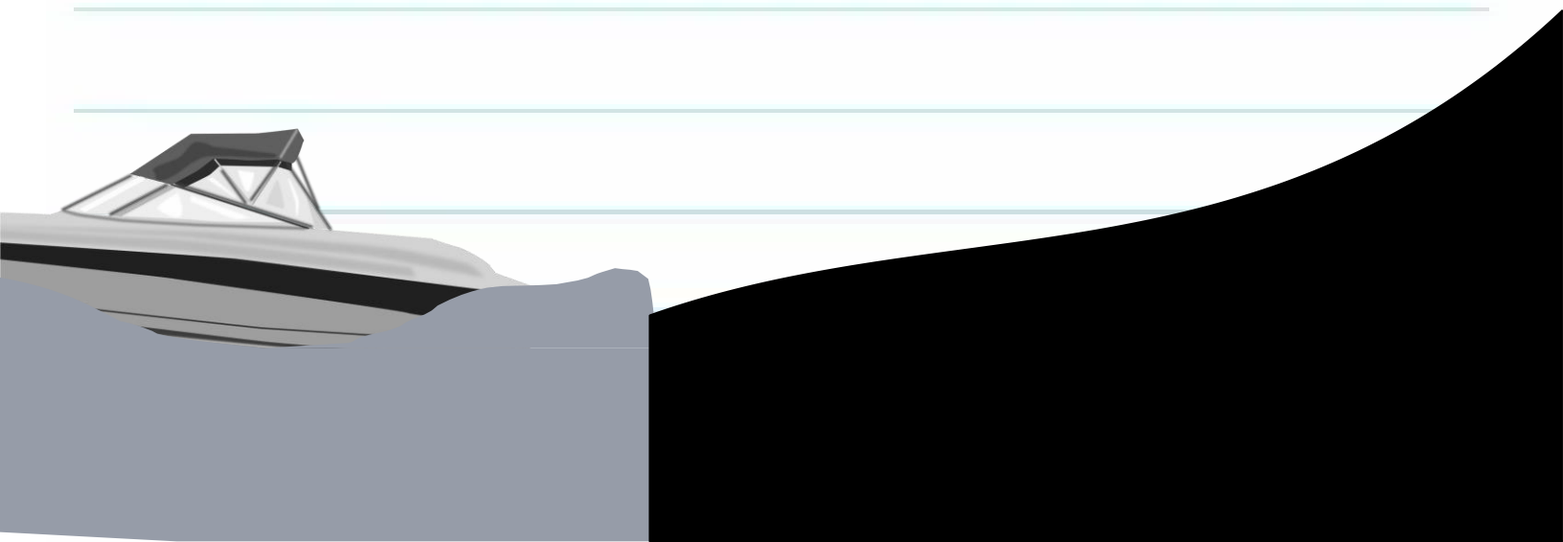
I was about to say that he was CRAZY but then he left without anyone knowing. Well he was also pretty swamped with investigation and all.

While I was thinking on a way on escaping, one of the younger soldiers caught US!

There was NO time to fight and EVERYONE agreed and made our flight. The young lady's yells were so loud, all the soldiers found out that we were here. And all of them began shooting. BULLETS were flying above our HEADS and I didn't know what we are going to do. Luckily for us, we were finally at our destination, that being the water planes. But some Nazi JERK had a BAZOOKA and BLEW UP the two planes.

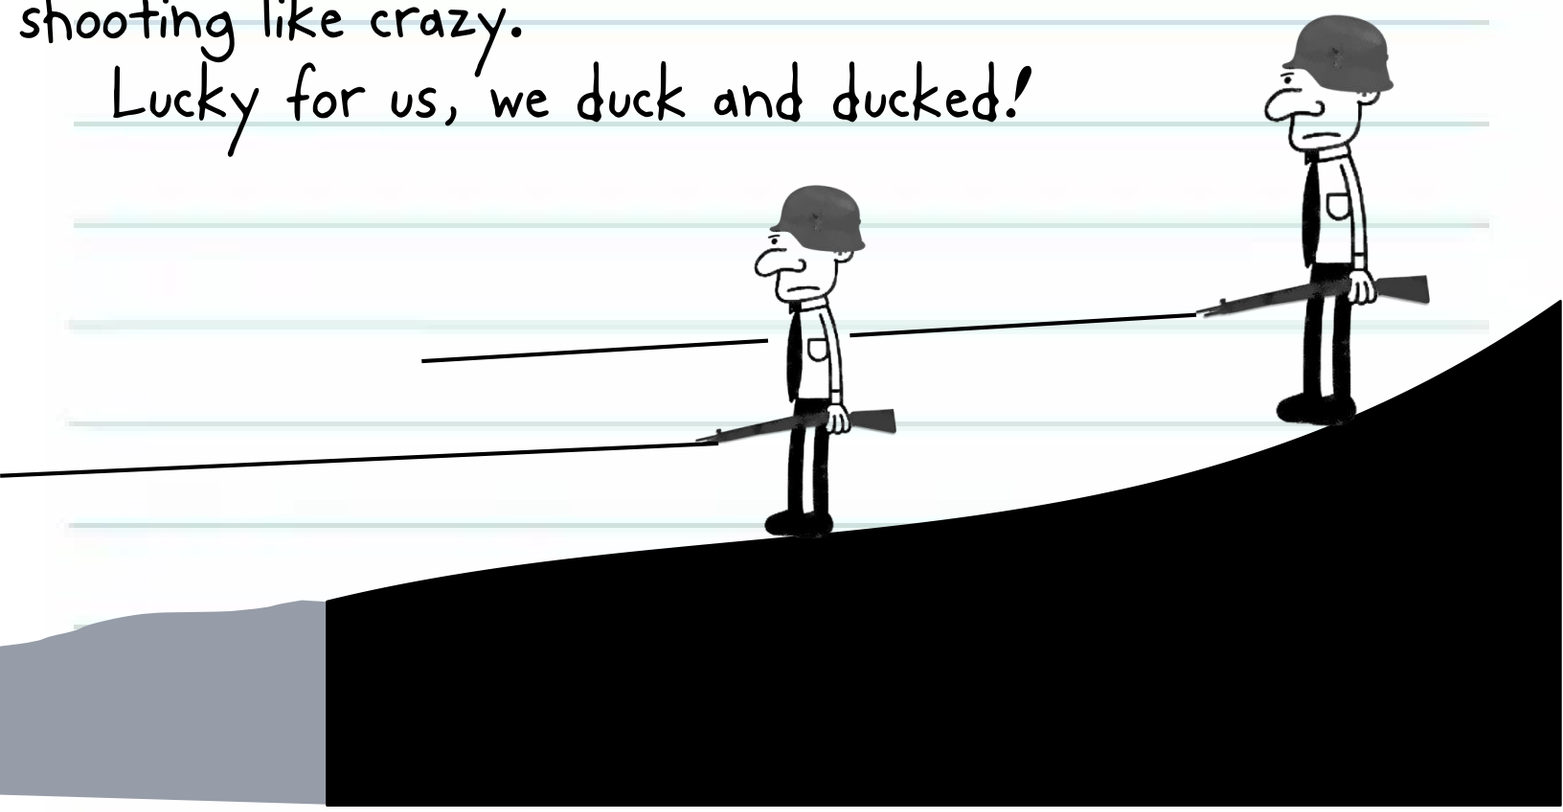


We all thought that our chances to escape was reduced to a full blown ZERO. But luckily, Doraemon was prepared for a situation like this. He left a few boats for us so that in case the planes are sabotaged. We had another way of escaping.



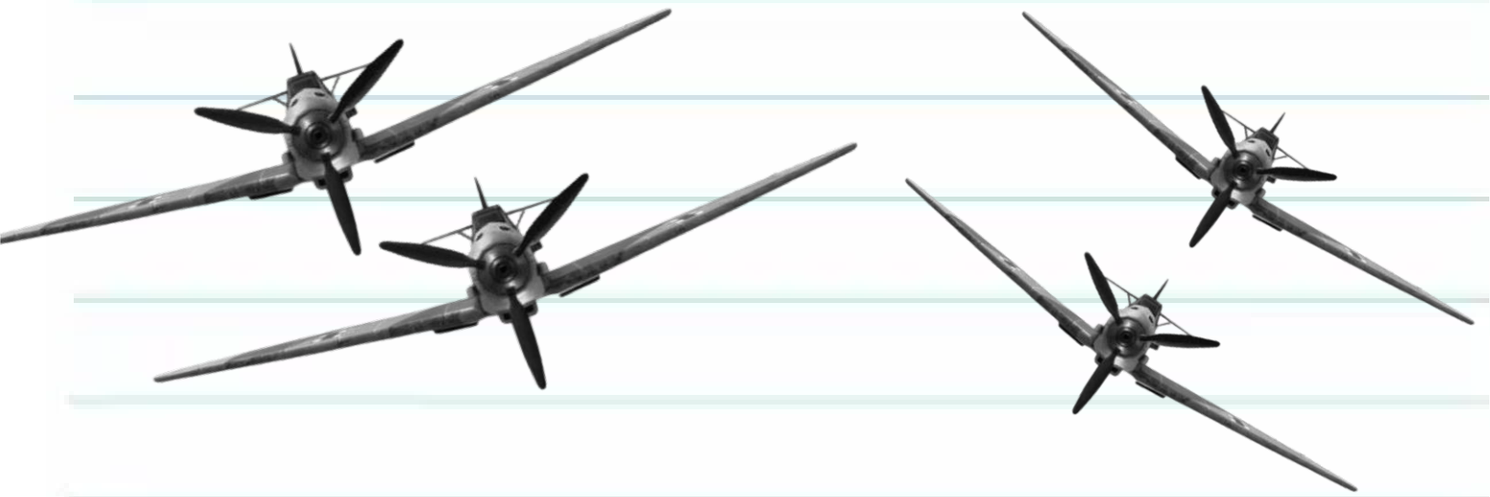
We ran as FAST as possible. Rodrick started the first boat and I turned on the second one. We all SCRAMBLED onto the two boats to get as fast out of there. More soldiers came in for back up and were shooting like crazy.

Lucky for us, we duck and ducked!



And with that, we had FINALLY escaped this CRAZY ISLAND.

Chapter 14
The Plane Attack



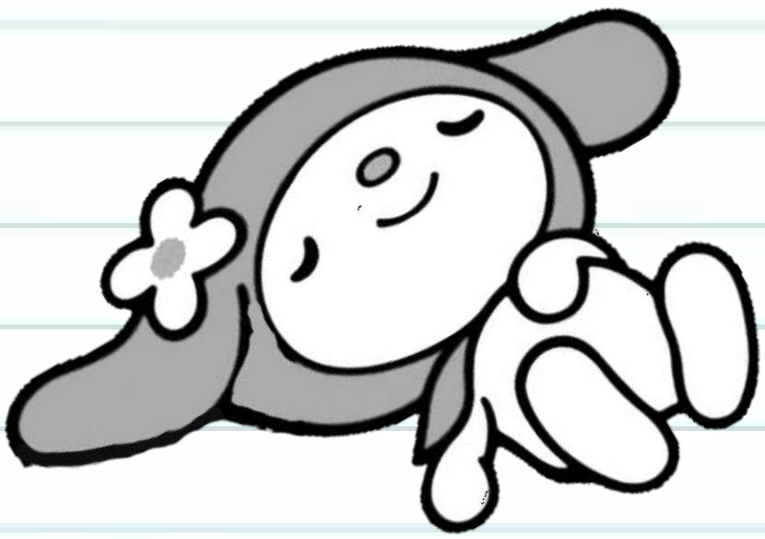
The waters were calm, yet the sounds of the waves were still present. I know for now we were in a safe time, but the presence of danger still looms around us.

After all this time, before my first book; the most "dangerous" adventure I went in was when me and Rowley accidentally entered the Mingos hideout during winter. But after all what I have witnessed, that was simply CHILD'S PLAY!

We were already and HOUR on water and even though the main island resort seemed near, we were still going pretty SLOW. We were also pretty tired and we [and by we I meant everyone except me] slept. I must say, except for the real life people I know like Rodrick, Rowley, Chirag and Fregely; the crossovers, actually looks ultra ADORABLE sleeping, just look at My Melody in that other boat; doesn't she, with that soft body and delicate and innocent face look so heart melting when she sleeps, the same goes for all the other cutie crossovers...

that aren't even from Sanrio, like take an example of Pikachu here, I always thought he was cool and boys only stuff when I was younger, but now I see it; now I understand why girls like the series so much, it's action plus cuteness.

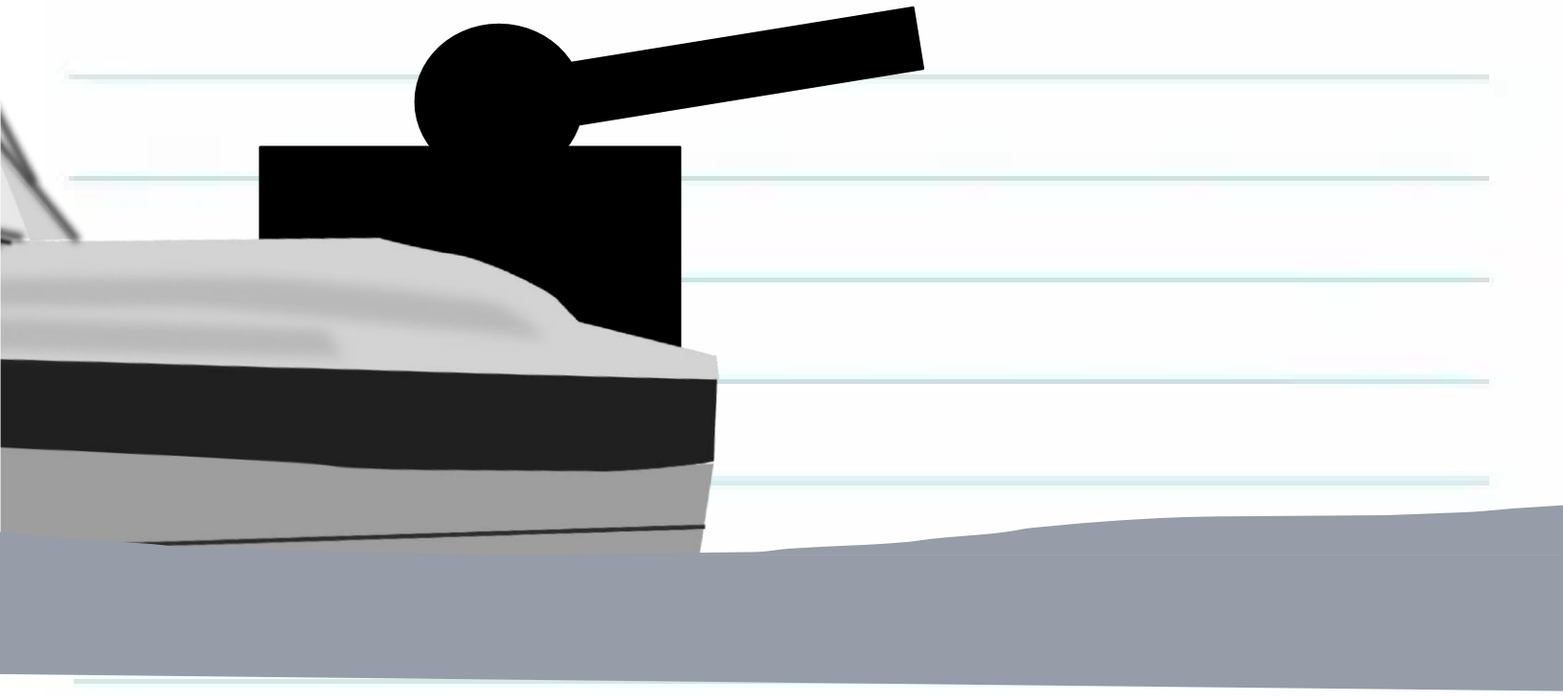
Anyways, I'm going to sleep; here's sleepy My Melody for the mean time.



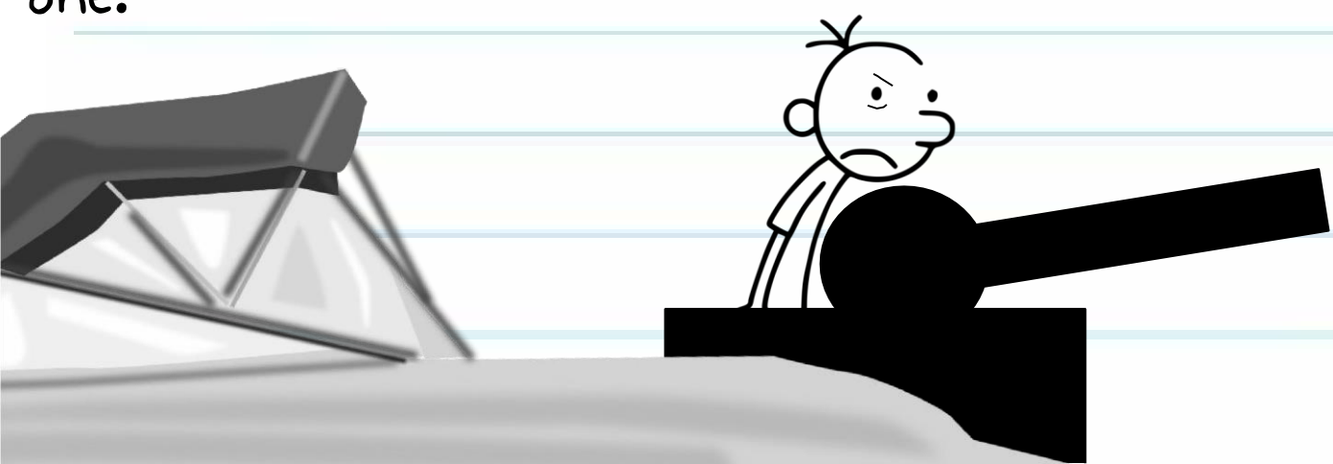
After 5 minutes of sleeping, I heard a sound, a sound of a plane engine. For a second; I thought the Isla Paradiso coast guards found us; after a few seconds however; there were more plane engines and they didn't sound friendly, I woke up and saw 4 ATTACKER PLANES NOSE DIVING IN AN ANGLE READY TO ATTACK US.

I stood up and began YELLING at everyone to wake up. Everyone seemed pretty mad at me for waking them up but not for long as they saw those planes coming closer to US.

I was sweating and filled with worry because my revolver had no ammo; lucky for us Rodrick pointed out that the boats we are on had built in MACHINE GUNS.

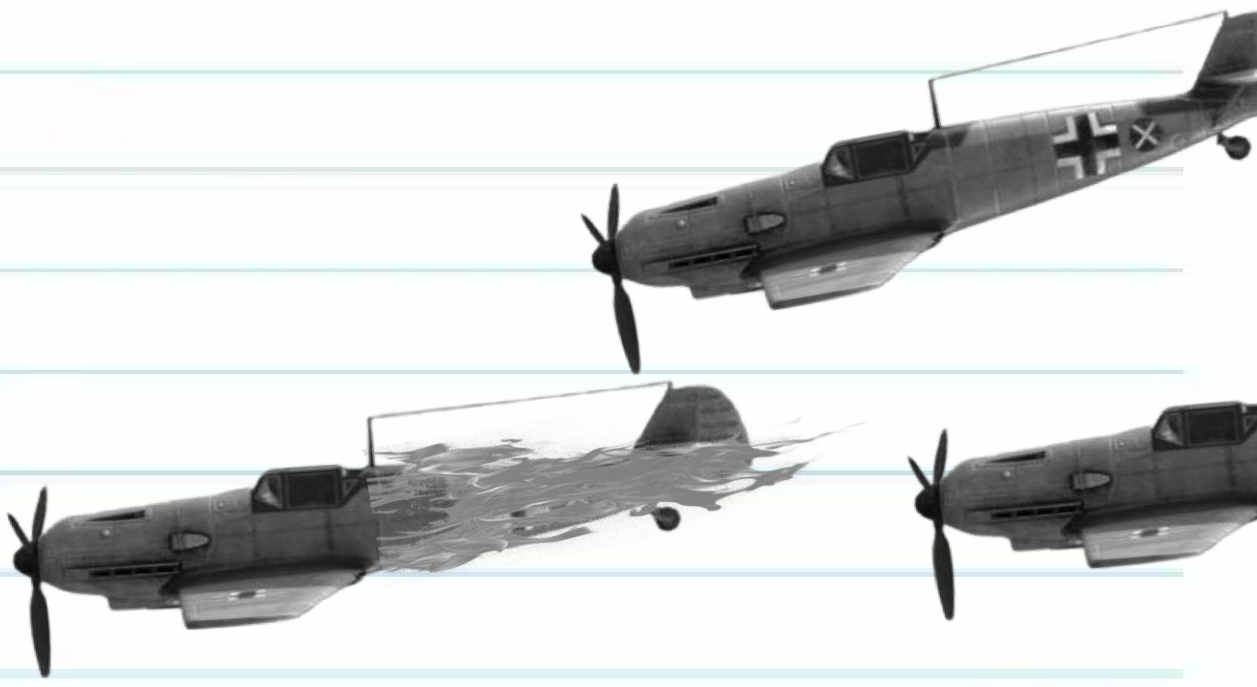


Now, I was deeply encouraged to fight to pilots off. Sadly there were only one gunner per boat so it was only a brother to brother game; still I would enjoy it due to the fact that both Rodrick and I don't have many good memories together so I hope this counts as one GOOD one.

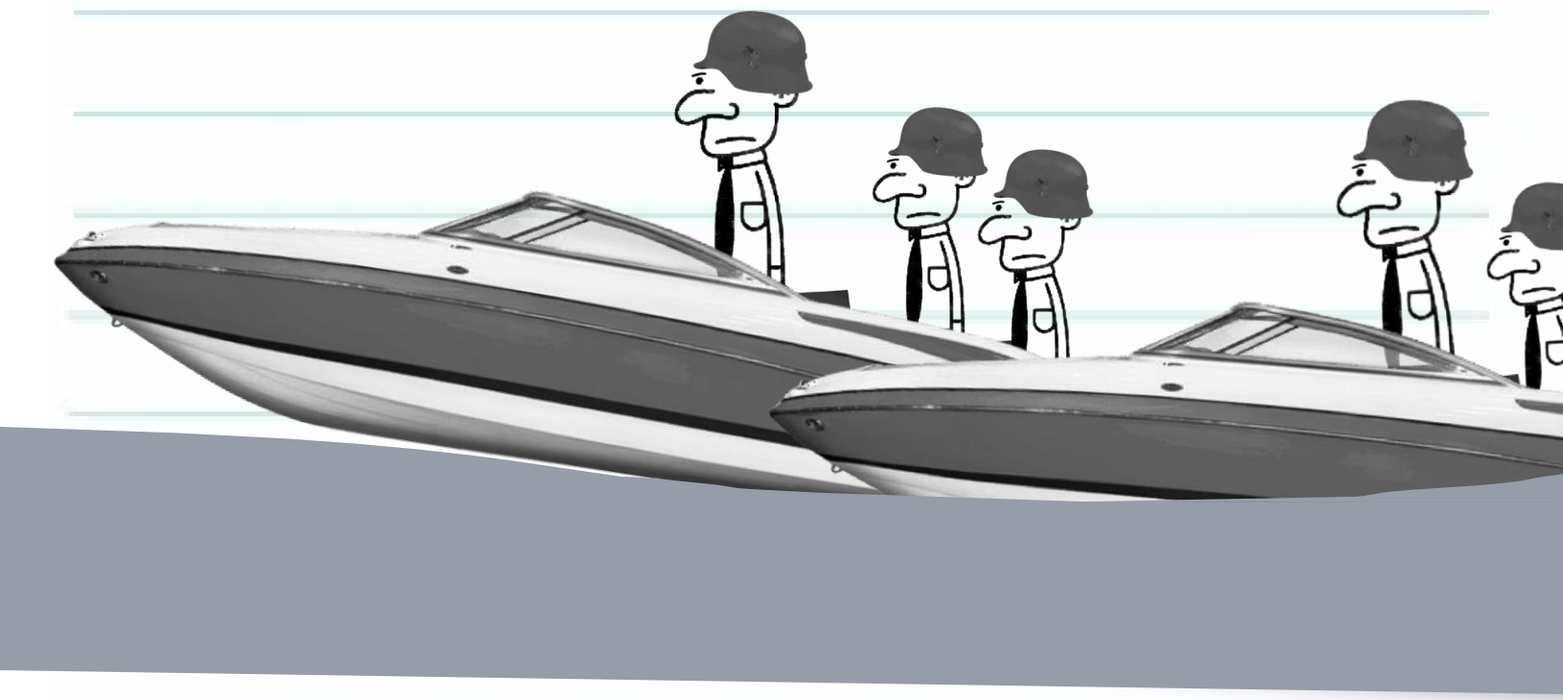


As the planes were about to do the final "splash", me and Rodrick began to shoot FRANTICALLY! The planes pulled up and they too began to shoot with all their might!

For a few minutes I thought our bullets were not hitting the planes and that WE were going to be killed by their bullets; then I actually HIT one of the planes and it incinerated into a ball of FIRE.



I cheered for a while but Rodrick reminded me we were still in the fight! As we were still shooting at the planes. Two boats came in and they were FILLED with those DAMN NAZIS!!!!



Anyone who wasn't me or Rodrick began SCRAMBLING onto the underpart of the boats for those guys were SHOOTING! Everyone took cover, that's when Rowley found out that there were machine guns there as well!

Just as a heads up, if you are wondering who's in which boats. Here's a little list:

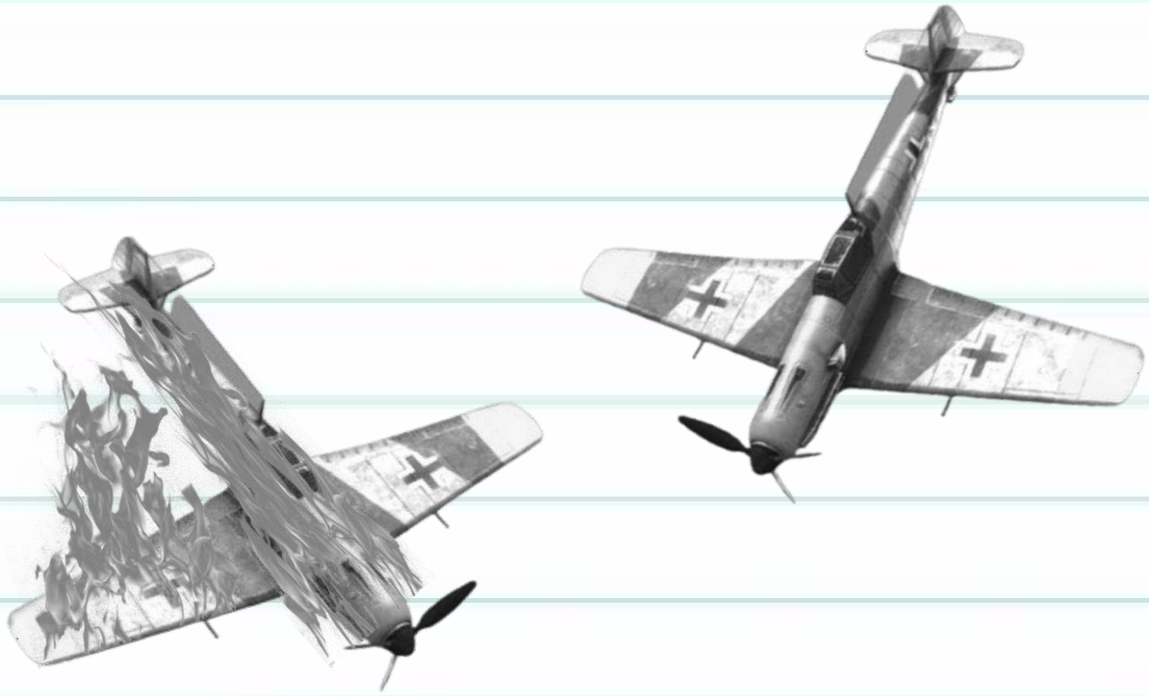
"My" boat:

- Me (Greg)
- Po
- Tigress
- Puss
- Fregely
- Chirag

"Rodrick's" boat:

Rodrick and Rowley
Pororo
Hello Kitty and Dear Daniel
My Melody
Pikachu
Heather

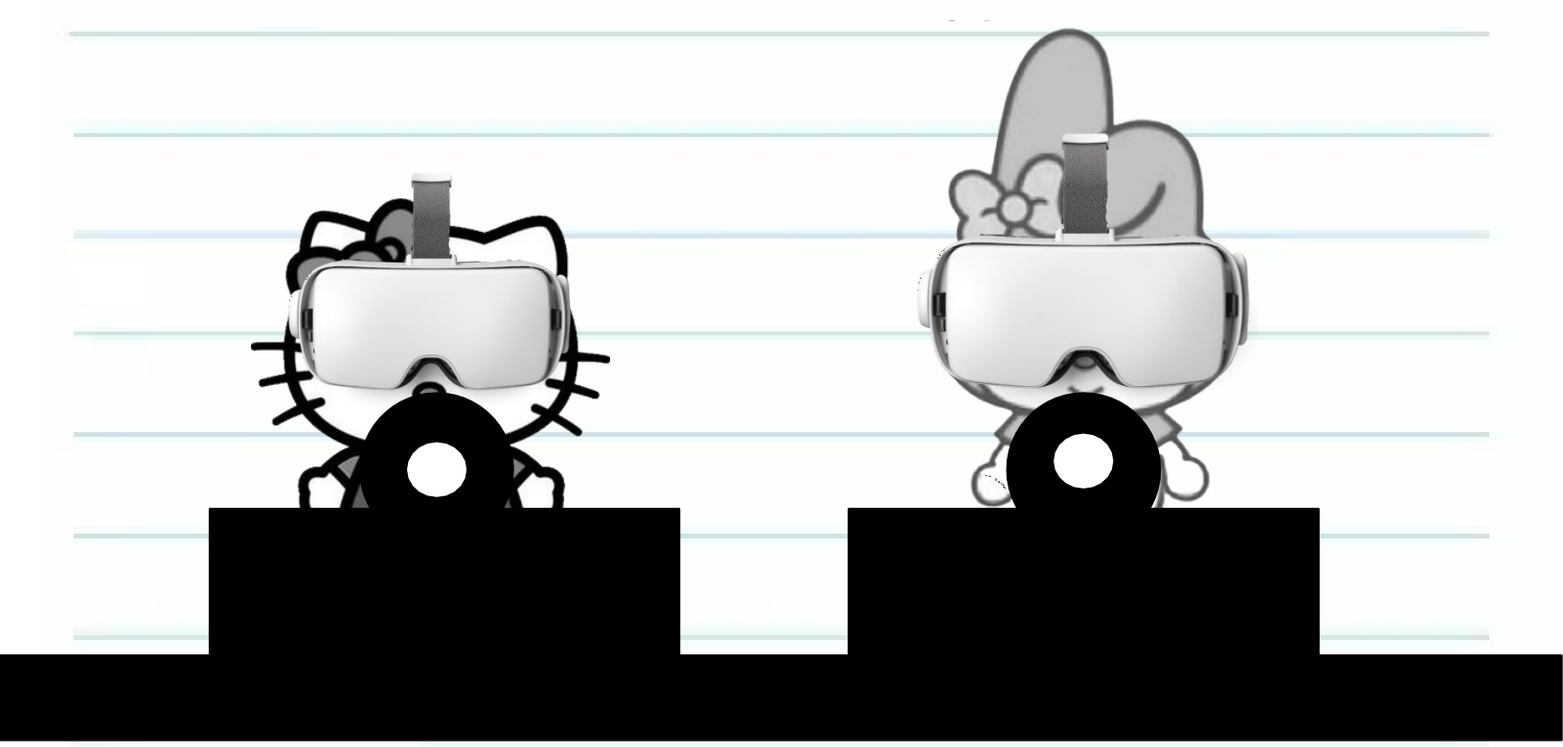
Man! That just felt very weird just saying all those CROSSOVERS, but it wasn't time to ponder on those things because Rodrick shot down another plane!



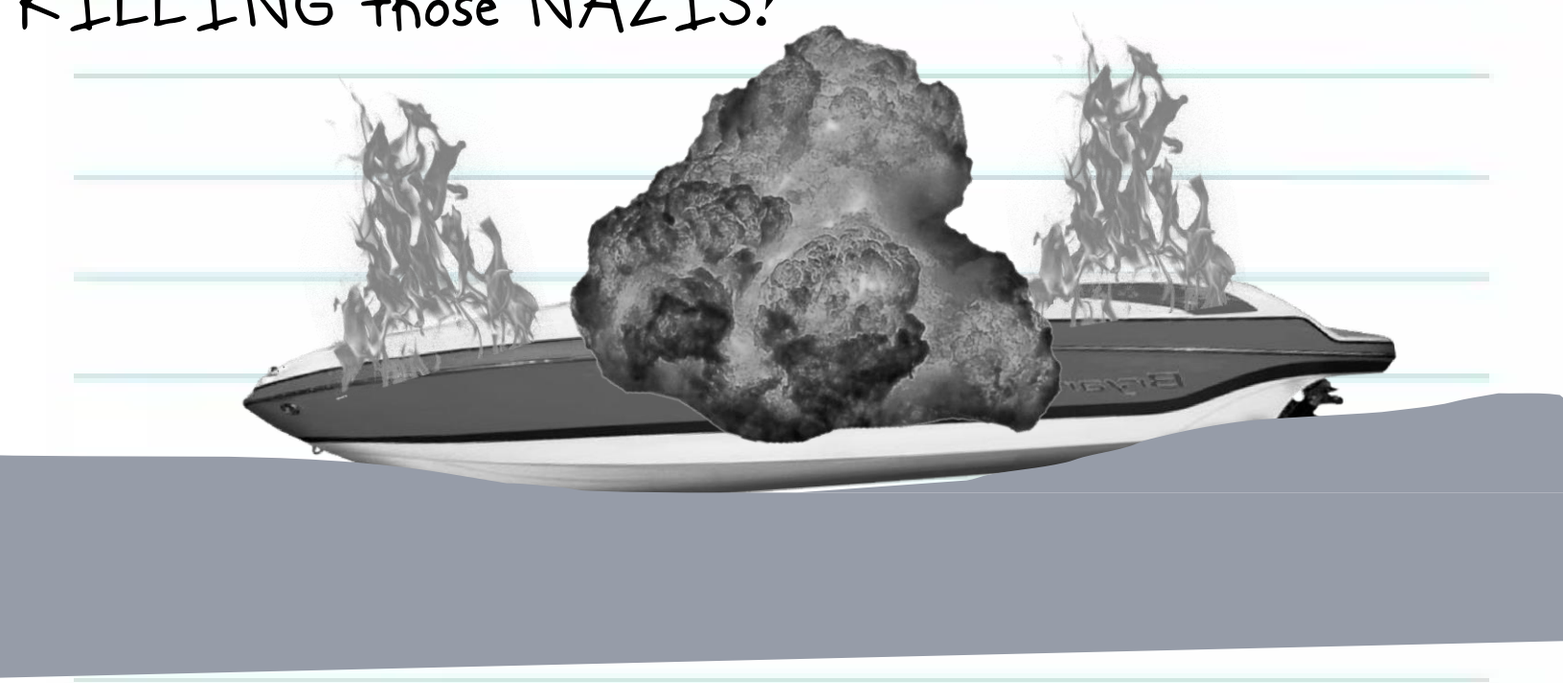
As Rowley pointed out that there was a turret in the ship; for some reason, Hello Kitty and My Melody decided to hop on them, but the they both got cold feet because they have always been for peace and now they were about to actually KILL people!

Rodrick reminded them that those guys follow a man and his goons who killed 6 million Jews back in 1939 - 1945. Dear Daniel then came up and told Rodrick that disturbing facts won't help, and gave the two some VR headsets that came with the turrets claiming that, "it'll change the presence of the planes to something more 'kawaii-y' and that the 'enemies' won't die but just explode into happy stuff."

Rodrick just gruffed and turned around, thinking that all of this was a STUPID idea and it won't work, but I'll take anything to get THOSE guys out.



As the duo thought they were shooting at cute things and confetti and stuff like that, they were KILLING those NAZIS!



So I guess that Dear Daniel's theory worked; back to my ship; something similar was happening, but in contrast, it was Po and Tigress. And they weren't with any VR headsets but actually looking closely to the other boat and shooting at them. I guess they used their minds instead of their fists. They then Cheered as they shot down the other ship. Meanwhile back to our positions. One of the planes HIT Rodrick's ship, luckily there was no major damage, just that the generator was damaged.

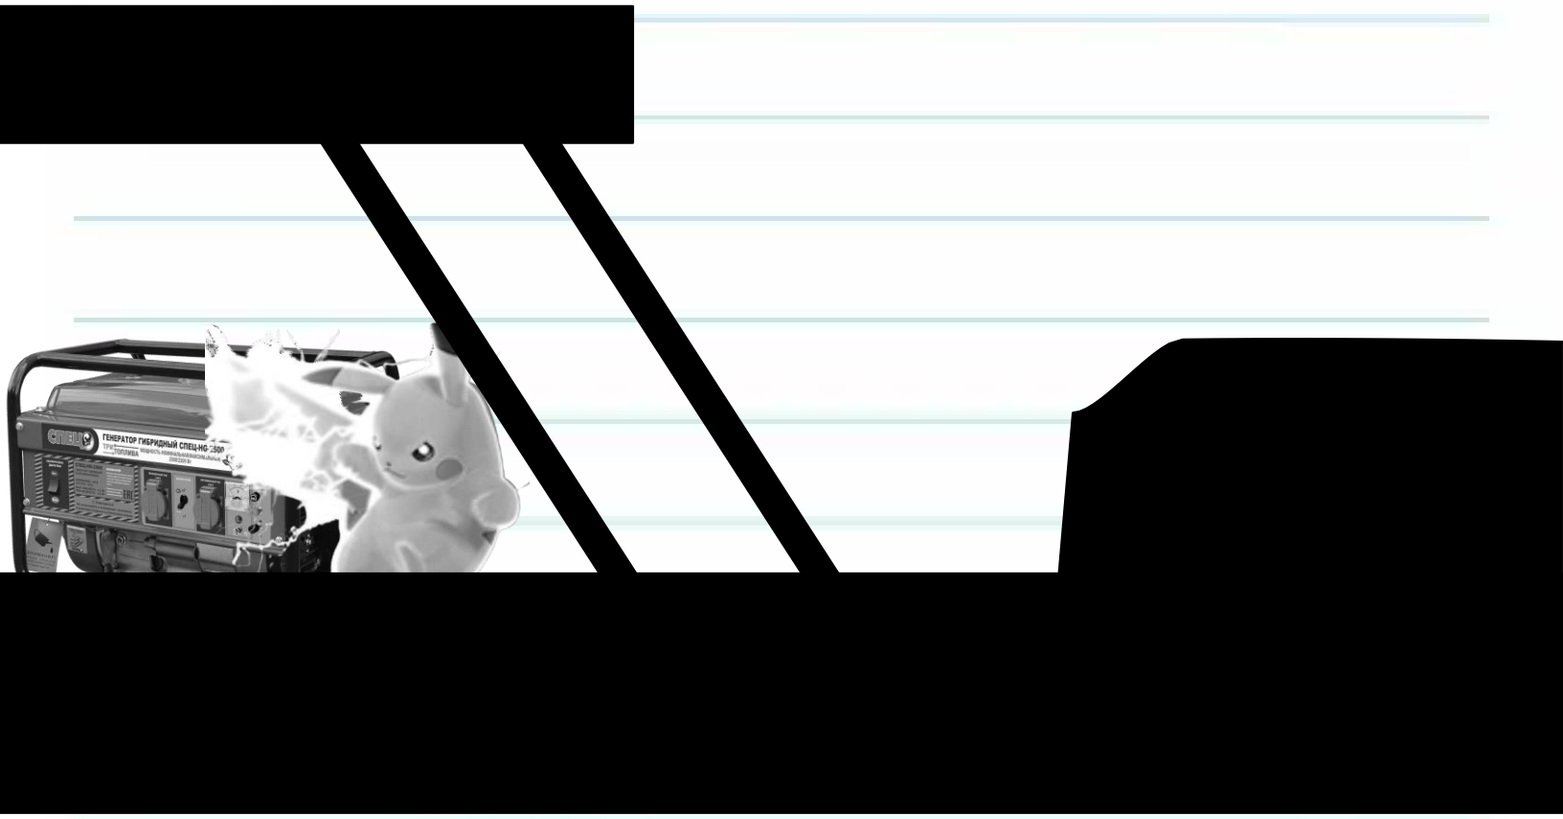
Everyone was SHOOKED from the attack; the one that was affected from the attack due to the fact his turret was connected to the generator so I had to fill up to him.

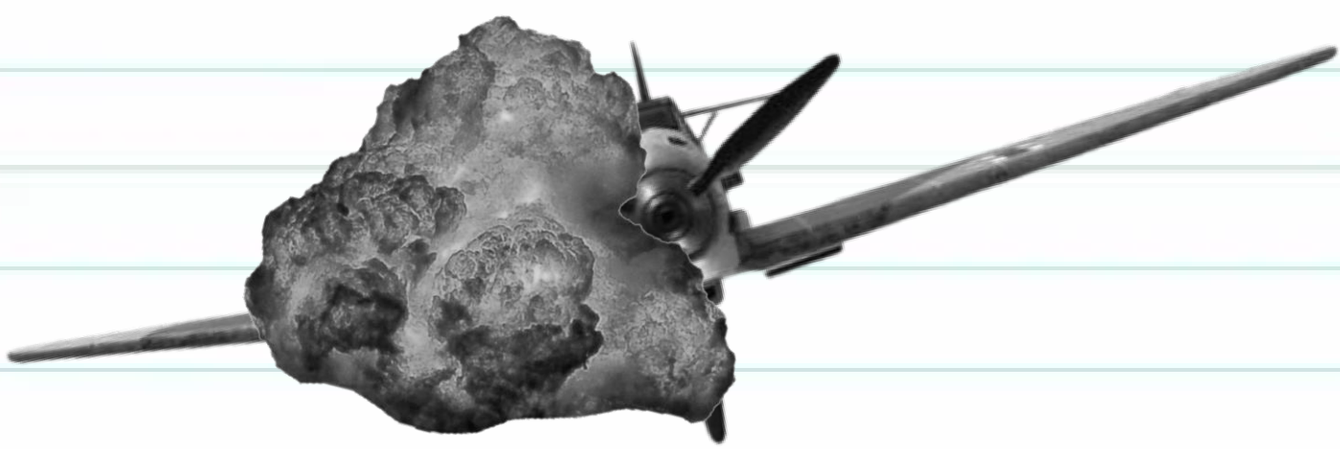
I then shot again the third plane...

Pikachu said some "pikas" which was roughly translated to, "Guys, I'm going in; I'm not going to die without seeing my trainer again." He then ran out of the under part of the boat and entered the main dock and searched for the generator.

He then found the main generator and then did his famous Thunder bolt attack.



For a second, everyone thought that the generator would explode but MIRACOUSLY, Rodrick then aimed at the final plane and then made the final shoot and the plane was finally engulfed in flames.



I took a DEEP breath while Rodrick cheered and woohoo-ed. I looked as the final plane made its crash landing onto the water and was no more.

I got out of the turret and went down, I saw that Po and Tigress were hugging and were pretty HAPPY! I asked them how they "reconciled", Tigress then said, "well Po said he won't be stuffing so much food and actually look on his weight! That's was also why I was in a bad position with him. Now that it's over; we are back to status of couple."

Well, I guess that's been covered.

Chapter 15

A New Beginning

The boats were coming closer to a small island; lucky for all of us, it wasn't big enough to hold an entire CULT!

The boats calmly came up to the shore and we all got off them; it was already the slight afternoon but everyone was tired. It made sense because we had probably a day or two passed fighting and escaping DEATH!

Chirag and Fregely walked up to me and gave me a hug; this was NEW to me because they never did that in my life. Then Fregely said, "Damn, your life changed drastically; back in our first day of middle school, you were disgusted by my 'secret freckle' and now you seemed disturbed with all what happened but actually had courage to overcome them." Then Chirag said, "Thank you for saving me; also to that blue penguin" He then asked what Pororo's name was.

But then, the two said that they cannot keep up with MY "lifestyle" and that they'll see me again back home. I knew this was too much for them so I didn't really bother to convince them to join me on this adventure.

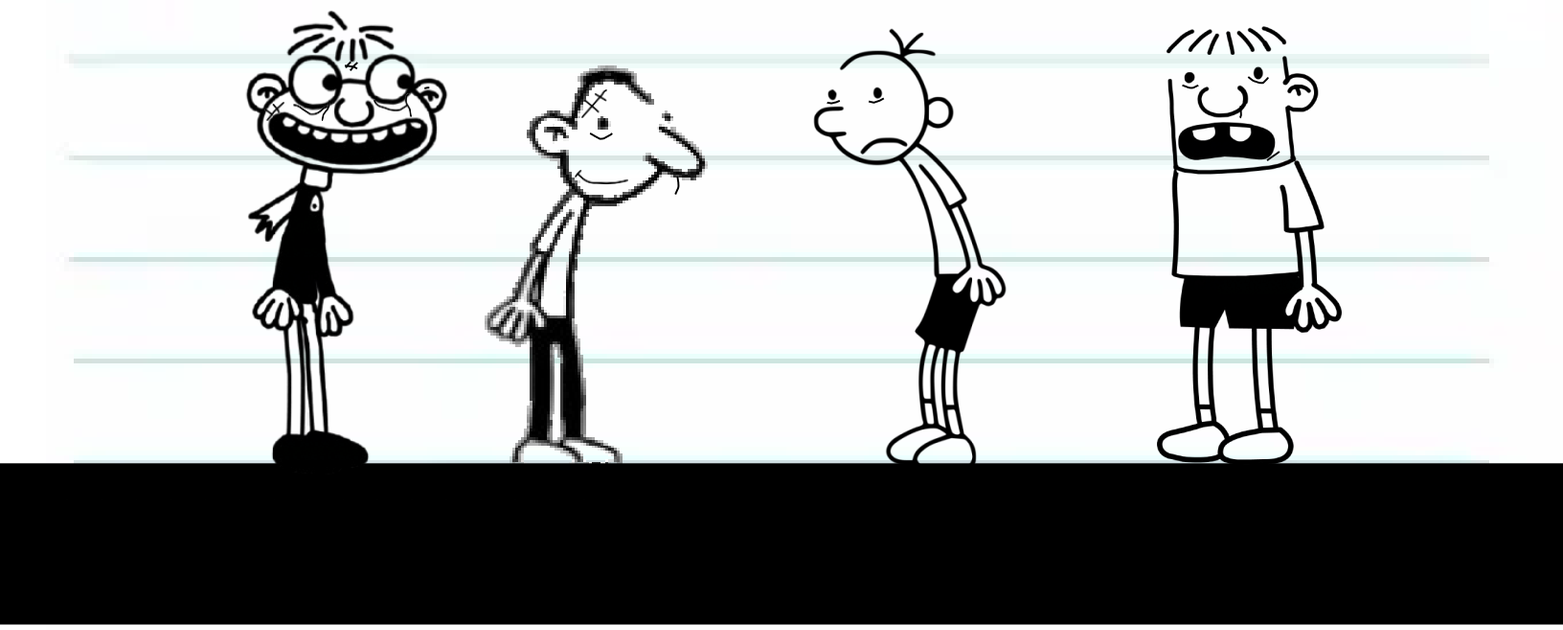
Heck, I don't even know why I even EMBARKED in this adventure. Chirag then said that even though he wouldn't continue with my quest, he and Fregely will still be friends.



The duo then walked away to another part of this small island then the Sanrio trio, I felt pretty bad for making them endure all of this madness; so before they could ask not to continue this quest, I simply said you can go, but not in a resented voice but a voice of calm and compassion! I was pretty afraid I might have guilted them but they seemed pretty chill with my answer. They then said that they'll always be my friend, then the trio then went to hug me as hard as possible! Their bodies were very soft, plush and cuddly! They too walked away.

I looked at Rowley and gave him a face of sorry and was about to say that he too could leave, but then he said the most comforting yet chilling phrase, "I'll be there for you every step of the way. I am your friend and friends are always with each other." I didn't know if Rowley was coming out of the closet but then he explained that he just recently read The Fellowship of the Ring and that he's trying to in a way, recreate the scene were Frodo and Sam decide to embark on their journey to Eymn Muil together for they are BEST friends. I felt so...

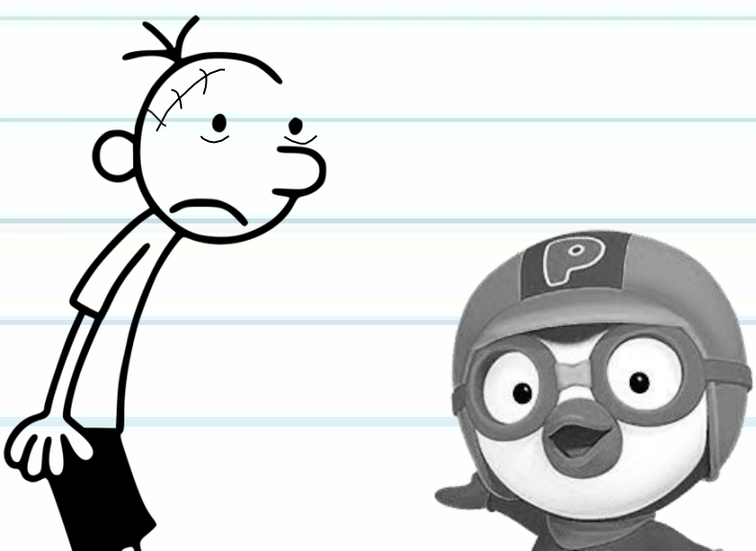
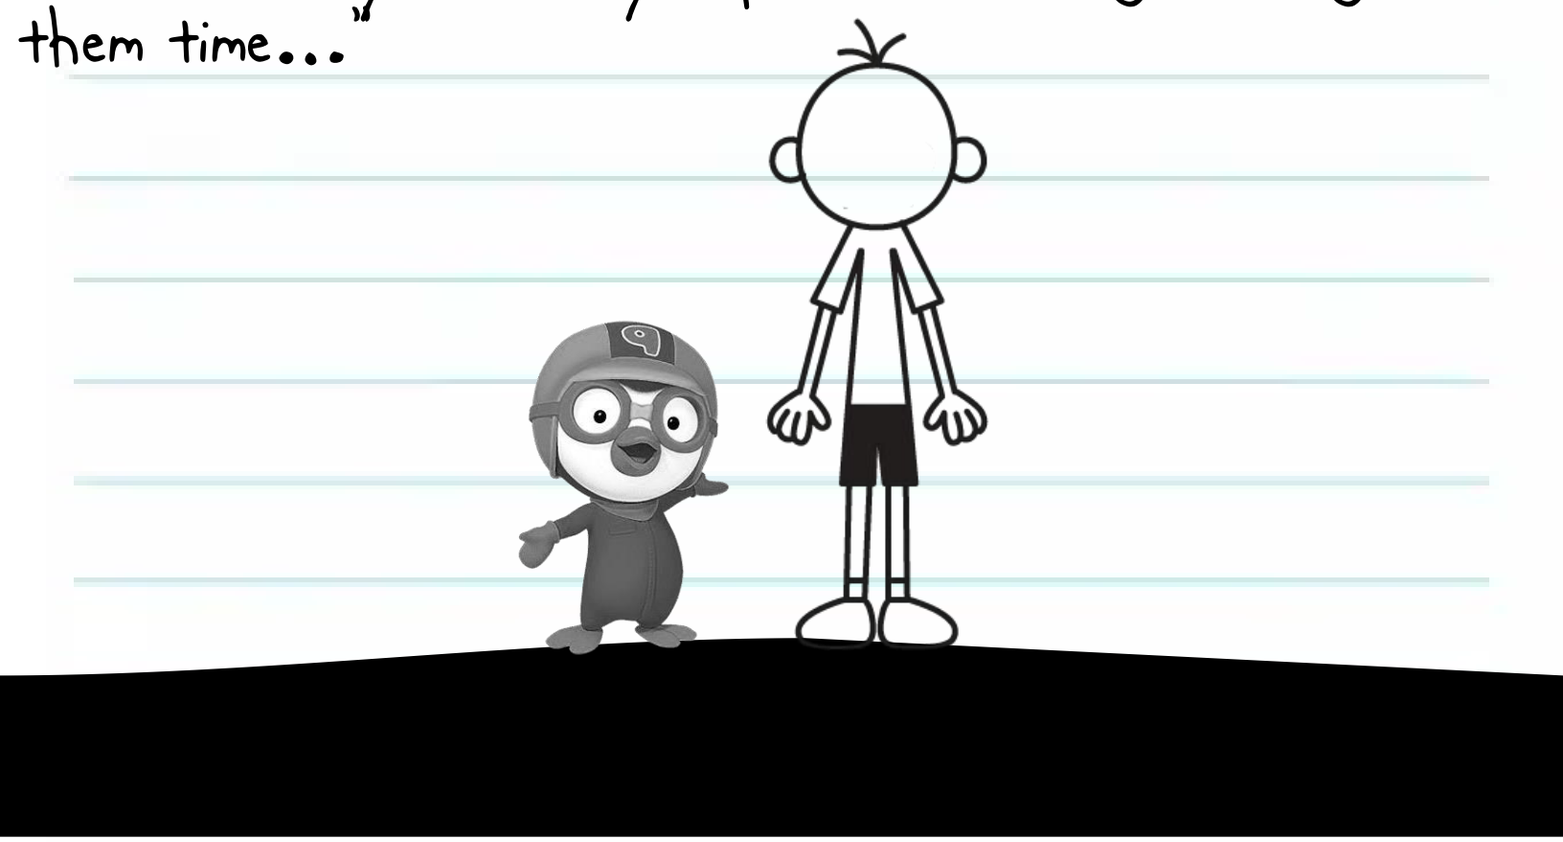
I don't even know, emotional? Well after that, we both then gave some hugs.

Then came in Pororo, our loyal South Korean getaway driver.



Before I could say anything to him, he said that he too would want to join on his adventure. He may be younger than anyone in my "fellowship" and that he is definitely sure that the rest will come back somehow and someway. He then said that they are your friends and friends never leave you, even if they walk away. He then said that most were pretty shocked for they never experienced adventure this way. "But knowing crossovers," he said, "they are always up for something. Just give them time..."



I hesitated for I didn't know if he was saying the truth, but HEY! I was just a tourist here, he is an actual RESIDENT of this island, so I couldn't really deny his words.

But damn, such inspiring and back chilling words spoke from a little penguin designed for preschoolers! For a while, I then inspected the penguin for I thought I saw him, somewhere; then I remembered watching the show when I was little. My mom was doing a "test" of good baby and preschooler shows that would make me good, and actually placed Pororo the Little Penguin in the actual South Korean language, probably it was supposed to make me BI-LINGUAL or something but that didn't work so yeah.

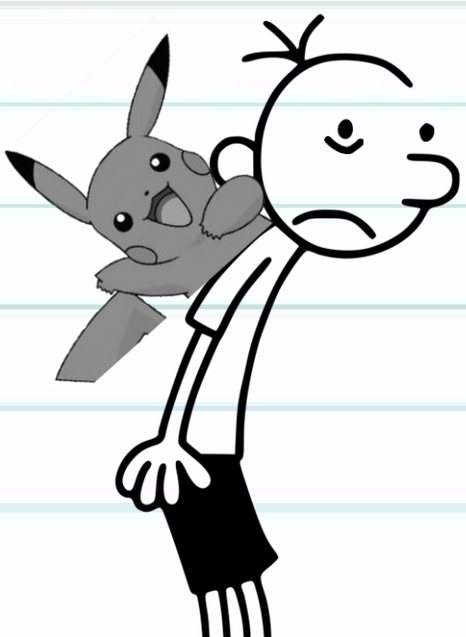
After that talk with Pororo, then came the next character to tick off my list. Pikachu, he then crawled on top of my shoulder. This is pretty strange for I never became a Pokémon trainer in my life, I'm not even good in Pokémon GO. He then pika'ed roughly translating to, "My trainer is hurt, he won't be around for now, I have faith you'll save the world and at the same time my beloved trainer." Pororo then finished his translation.



I asked Pororo how he could understand him, he then said, "I don't know, it's like a gift. This was the first time I ever used it. I should look it up, but after these baddies stop chasing us." "Sounds good" I said, Pororo then left to another part.

I looked at my fellowship, as they chatted happily, either free from the enslavement from the Thuggee Cult or just happy not to be in peril. I smiled, knowing that more dangers will come.

I then looked at the setting sun, all scarlet red and the sky orange pink, there was no cloud in the sky. I looked at it as a sign that even if perils were still looming, if all looked grim, there is always hope... hope of victory and redemption... But now it's time for a rest.

In Diary of a Wimpy Kid: The Secret Temple, Greg Heffley thought middle school was tough—but nothing could've prepared him for this.
